County Demolishes Home, Chunk by Chunk, As Hollywood Owner Stands Helplessly By

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fort Anthony has fallen. But Stephen Anthony vows to continue his crusade against the rights of eminent domain.

When his home was condemned to make way for the proposed $6.5-million Hollywood motion picture and television museum, Anthony contested — at times with loaded guns —the right of the county to evict him.

His eight-week battle to save the home while legal appeals continued ended when two officers, posing as friends, got into the home and grabbed him, opening the locked door for others to pour into the house and subdue the husky ex-Marine.

He was jailed on a six-year-

Rachel Carson, 'Silent Spring' Author Dies

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Death by cancer has silenced Rachel Carson whose book "Silent Spring" created international controversy with its charge that man was poisoning the earth and himself by his efforts to control nature with chemicals.

Miss Carson, 56, a biologist who became a best selling author in 1951 with "The Sea Around Us," died Tuesday afternoon at her home. She learned five years ago, apparently while working on "Silent Spring," that she had cancer.

Her book helped inspire a White House report last May calling for stronger federal laws on pesticides and new steps to regulate their control.

The book warned of the dangers of tampering with the balance of nature and argued for biological controls rather than massive and indiscriminate use of chemicals, such as pesticides and weed killers.

She wrote: "These sprays, dusts, and aerosols are now applied almost universally to farms, gardens, forests and homes — nonselective chemicals that have the power to kill every insect, the 'good' and the 'bad,' to still the song of birds and the leaping of fish in the streams, to coat the leaves with

BEFORE AND AFTER—The Top picture shows sheriff's deputies "guard" the pretty home of Stephen Anthony, who refused to give it up to make way for a Hollywood entertainment industry museum. Anthony, the owner, was ousted out of his own house by the county, which said it needed the site for the museum. The bottom shows the site, as crews began demolishing the home which the husky ex-Marine had defended, at times with loaded guns. Anthony says he will carry on his crusade against the rights of "eminent domain," by which he lost his home and garden to the county bulldozers. Anthony is shown in the bottom picture, standing in the center, explaining his stand to bystanders and reporters. (AP Wirephoto)

Goldwater Wins Preferential Illinois Primary

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona won the Illinois presidential preference primary, but Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and other rivals cut up a large slice of the votes.

Charles H. Percy, who zoomed to a president's post in industry at 29, earned the Republican nomination for governor at the age of 44.

Returns from Tuesday's primary provided these percentages of the preference vote: Goldwater 64, Mrs. Smith 26, Henry Cabot Lodge 5 and Richard M. Nixon 2.

Only the names of Sen. Goldwater and Sen. Smith were printed on the Republican ballots. Others scored by the write-in method on both party ballots, although the Lodge and Nixon boosters did not specifically seek write-ins.

Percy, now board chairman of the Bell & Howell Co., made a successful start in his first try for public office by defeating State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37.

The winner also took a first step toward control of the GOP in Illinois. The triumph, in addition, gave him a position of influence among delegates to the party's national convention in July.

"I'm going to cast my vote with the majority of the delegates, and I must concede right now it is a Goldwater delegation," Percy stated.

The result of the preference primary is not binding on delegates.

Goldwater commented in Washington that the outcome demonstrates that "1964 can be a year of victory for our party."

Goldwater, coming through ahead in his first test in the Midwest, called upon all members of the party "to unite to work for the election of Republican candidates everywhere, from the state house to the White House."

Returns from 7,672 of the state's 10,256 precincts gave Goldwater 314,544, Mrs. Smith

UNCLE SAYS — Your income tax must be filed (post marked) on or before midnight tonight, April 15. Late filers pay penalty and interest.

Vivien Kellems Attacks Tax on Single People

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Connecticut industrialist Miss Vivien Kellems Tuesday charged the government is taking unfair advantage of single people by making them "pay double income taxes for their single blessedness."

Miss Kellems, who refused to collect Social Security from her employes several years ago, said "When Italy placed a tax on bachelors we were amused. But no one smiled when we emulated the Italians and passed a double tax on widowers, old maids, bachelors and even the forlorn widow no matter how small her mite."

She said the reason "this fantastic discriminatory tax caused no merriment was because it was done by sleight of hand."

Miss Kellems contended that Congress didn't have the gall to pass a tax. "They did it by passing the 'community property law' which enables married people to pool their incomes and pay at half the rate the single person pays."

Miss Kellems spoke before the Western Reserve Republican Women's organization and the Republican Business Women's Association.

Carson Soldier Found Guilty of Attempt to Rape

William Elro Woods was found guilty late Tuesday afternoon of attempt to rape. The felony carries a possible sentence of one to 20 years in the state penitentiary.

Woods, 18, of Ft. Carson, assaulted a 19-year old girl Jan. 10 on East Kiowa Street.

The defendant waived his right to a jury trial and chose trial by court.

The victim of his attack, a pretty dark haired girl, took the stand Tuesday and told the court that Woods said "He would kill me if I screamed." Later the defendant testified he had never made such a threat.

The girl said she first saw the defendant coming around the corner of Tejon Street about 11:30 p.m. Dec. 10. She paid little attention but as his footsteps quickened she became afraid and broke into a run.

He ran after her, she continued, caught her, and placing his hand over her mouth said "Where are you going baby?" "That way, leave me alone," the girl told him. He then threw her to the ground, she testified, and she struggled and started to cry. At this point, he made Martha Chavez, 317 E. Vermijo Ave., was reported as "holding her own" at St. Francis Hospital where she was rushed by E and E Ambulance early this morning.

Police Officers J. Kyle and D. Bjornsrud said they were dispatched to Mrs. Chavez's home at 1 a.m. today on a disturbance call. They arrived to find the victim seated at a kitchen table, bleeding heavily from the chest.

200 Experts on Recreation Meet For Conference

Some 200 experts on recreation from eight states, Tuesday, attended the opening session of the Midwest District Recreation Conference at the Antlers Hotel.

Dr. Max Shirley, associate professor of health and physical education, Colorado State College, spoke to the group on "Central Purposes of Recreation."

The opening session preceded day-long discussion groups concluded by an open discussion from the floor. A student session of talks in the afternoon completed conference business activities for the day.

In his talk, Dr. Shirley charged leadership with the purpose of achievement and acting upon a clear conviction as to a chosen destination. "No leader can be decisive in his purpose, unless he knows where he is going."

He related purpose as the reason for achievement of a goal, and in turn, recreation as a means to satisfy basic physical need for exercise for personal fulfillment in fitness and mental health. He defined fulfillment as "becoming what one is capable of becoming."

"Every experience a child has, either adds to or takes

Booze Becomes Cocktail Orgy, Expert Claims

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— The cocktail hour has evolved from a gracious ritual into a guzzling orgy, an alcoholism researcher said Tuesday.

"Today if a guest can make his way to the table unassisted, there is a feeling that the host has been niggardly with his cocktails," said Dr. Marvin Block of New York, chairman of the American Medical Association's Alcoholism Study Committee.

Black said there was no treatment for alcoholism in itself but there was a treatment tailored to the needs of the individual alcoholic. Block addressed the annual conference of the Tennessee Medical Association.

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev angrily pledged today he would be "ruthless" against the Communist Chinese whom he charged had brought world communism to the "verge of a split."

Shaking his fists, Khrushchev told 6,000 people jamming a Kremlin Soviet-Polish friendship rally that he was now in "open conflict" with the Chinese leaders.

An hour later, Polish Communist Leader Wladyslaw Gomulka rose to declare—for the first time—his party's support for Khrushchev's proposed world Communist summit conference to take action against the Chinese.

Khrushchev accused Peking of "subversive activities" seeking to divide and conquer the world Communist movement and said the sino - Soviet conflict was now "much graver" than a theoretical dispute.

"It is not ourselves who initiated this dispute which has by now transgressed into an open conflict," Khrushchev declared.

"Lenin was ruthless against faction makers and splitters and we shall follow his behest," Khrushchev said.

Diplomatic observers said Khrushchev, who is now lining up support from his allies against Peking, had never previously gone as far in describing the extent of the historic conflict.

Ridiculing, lecturing and threatening the Chinese, Khrushchev also found time in a 90 - minute speech to call again for a German peace treaty which would turn Berlin into a "demilitarized free city" and to announce a 20-year extension of the Polish - Soviet friendship treaty.

He backed Poland's plan for a "freeze" of nuclear weapons in Central Europe, praised his guests, Gomulka and Polish Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, and attacked West German "revenge seeking militarism."

Ex-Gov. Stratton Indicted for Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois was indicted today for federal income tax evasion from 1958 through 1961.

A four-count indictment was returned by the grand jury before Judge William J. Campbell in U.S. District Court on Thursday but was ordered suppressed until this morning.

The amount of taxes allegedly evaded over four years was $46,676.11 on income that the government said was unreported and totaled $82,542.82.

Birdman Leaves $447.84, and His Life Story

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The late Robert Stroud, famed "Birdman of Alcatraz," left an estate consisting of $447.84 plus a half-million word manuscript and royalties of his biography to an 80-year-old sister, terms of his will showed today.

Superior Court Judge Clyde C. Triplett accepted the will for probate Tuesday. It named Mrs. Mami Stroud Shaffer of Metropolis, Ill., as sole beneficiary.

Biggest Building Year Predicted for Springs

The biggest construction year in the history of Colorado Springs is the prediction for 1964 if building permits issued thus far are any indication.

Through the first 13 days of April, the building permit total sailed past the $3 million mark.

Permits totaling $3,084,808 were issued during nine working days in the office of Perry C. Tyree, city superintendent of inspections.

This has brought the building permit total so far this year to $8,876,311. It was only $4,581,947 up to April 1, 1963.

If permits continue at their present pace, the all-time high of $24,455,795 established in 1962 will be smashed. The 1963 building permit total was $23,751,816.

Helping boost the April total was a 947,000 permit issued to Harold Bergren and D. C. Decker for the Ramada Inn at 4440 North Highway 25.

Another big contributor was a $666,783 permit K-Mart work at 2520 Airport Road, with the permit issued to the Northwest Land and Development Co.

Still another sizeable permit was one for $170,000 for the Travelers Uptown Motel, 232 E. Cimarron St.

Value of all city building permits issued since Jan. 1, 1952 has been $198,088,773.

Zip Code Value Negligible, But Numbers to March on

Until Uncle John learns to print clearly or type the ZIP Code number on his letter to Grandma and separates the number from the state by a space, and until the U.S. Post Office Department can develop an electric eye which will detect the hand-printed number, the value of using the ZIP Code on personal mail is negligible, according to Robert Wardwell, local postmaster.

Wardwell said this morning that the post office saves time and money only in the case of big companies such as Reader's Digest which have large mailing lists and which can pre-sort the mail by ZIP Code before it arrives at the distribution center.

But despite the shortcomings of the ZIP Code as it is used on personal mail, the postmaster general, John A. Gronouski, has announced that a second mass distribution of ZIP Code numbers for every postal address in the country is scheduled for next week.

The ZIP Code system is all but worthless to the individual letter carrier, Wardwell said. If he is unable to read a scribbled street name, the code may be useful to the postman in locating the code area and hence the address by a process of elimination.

A postman, for example, who carries in the Costilla-Cimarron area, may find that he can determine that the street name begins with the letter "C," and that's all. But, since the two streets lie in different ZIP Code zones, the postman has only to check the code number to know

5-Mile-Per-Hour Train Speed Limit Is Proposed

City Council will set up a special committee to study the possibility of placing a 5-mile-per-hour speed limit on all trains moving through Colorado Springs.

Mayor Harry Hoth received unanimous support of council today to set up the committee. Council met for an hour to wrap up the agenda from Tuesday's regular meeting which had to be recessed at 1 p.m.

Hoth said that the incidence of accidents at railroad crossings in the city is on the increase and "the railroads do not feel it is their obligation to put up safety factors."

The current speed limit for trains varies from 20 to 30 miles

U.S. Asked for $12 Million To Move Egyptian Statues

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—For 32 centuries the massive statues at Abu Simbel have gazed impassively at the rising sun across the Nile. Now the United States Congress is being asked for $12 million so they can gaze for some more centuries.

Work has already begun on the U.N. project to save the temple and its statues from being drowned under the rising waters of the Aswan Dam.

The total cost of the massive and complicated moving job is estimated at $36 million. The United Arab Republican and the United States have pledged the biggest chunks of it, but the U.S. $12 million share its subject to congressional appropriation procedure.

The bill containing the funds is in the House Appropriations Committee. Target date for committee action on the bill is May 1.

Is it controversial?

"That is the understatement of the week," said subcommittee chairman John J. Rooney, D-N.Y.

He said the committee staff has been getting half a dozen queries a day from people interested in the Abu Simbel project. Many of them are very much against contributing money in any form to a project in Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt.

Max McCullough, State Department official who knows most about Abu Simbel, said "some comment" has been received on the question of helping Nasser.

But McCullough said no Jewish or Zionist group has viewed it in this light, the Israel has avoided any criticism of it in

City Will Buy Airport Cafe For Office Space

The city will buy out the Airport Restaurant and Lounge lease and convert a portion of the space now occupied by the facilities into office space.

Included in the package deal are the restaurant and lounge equipment and a commitment from Frontier Airlines to remodel the facilities including the construction of office space.

City Council agreed today to pay $18,000 to Clarence S. Bromstead for the lease, which expires Jan. 14, 1969, and the equipment.

City Manager John Biery said that the contract with Frontier Airlines calls for the firm to lease office space and remodel the restaurant and lounge into a smaller facility.

He explained that space for office facilities at the Airport Terminal at Peterson Field is at a premium. Frontier has been using Continental Airlines facilities to conduct its business for the last year and a half.

The agreement to buy the remainder of the lease and the equipment has a 10-day option. Bromstead and city officials will make an inventory of the equipment which will be attached to the contract. Bromstead told council he will retain the liquor license for the lounge

2,000-MPH Plane Will Be Timed From Ground

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civilian aviation authorities who clock this country's 2,000-mile-an-hour A11 jet for record purposes need not get a closer view than was shown in official photographs already made public.

This is because the long-secret plane will be timed electronically on ground instruments probably far below.

Officials said there no longer is a requirement that an observer actually fly in a plane before certifying its speed and other marks.

President Johnson said Saturday that the 1,665-mile-an-hour aircraft speed record now held by the Russians "has been repeatedly broken in secrecy by the U.S. aircraft A11."

He told his news conference that he has ordered the Defense Department to "demonstrate this capability with the procedure which, according to international rules, will permit the result of the test to be entered as a new world record."

The Pentagon and the Air Force were silent on this. It was believed preparations were under way to hold the tests, probably at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Under the rules, speed and other aviation records are recognized worldwide only when certified by an international aeronautical federation which has headquarters in Paris. Acting for this federation in the United States is the National Aeronautic Association.

Until now, the only performance information disclosed about the A11 has been in Johnson's statement that the jet has been tested in sustained flight at speeds greater than 2,000 miles an hour at altitudes above 70,000 feet.

If the United States should decide to try for altitude and time-to-climb marks, that would disclose even more of the plane's abilities which were screened from the world for five years until Johnson announced existence of the A11 on Feb. 29.

These records, too, could be verified without observers going near the plane.

Ground radar would track the A11 on any altitude try and on-board-cameras could be used to photograph instrument readings aloft.

Floods Sweep Over Swamps in Georgia

NEWTON, Ga. (AP) — The rising Flint River is spilling floodwaters into swamplands surrounding the town of Newton and threatens to close the last remaining route out of this community of some 2,500.

Sheriff L. W. Johnson said all roads but one from the Baker County community are inundated. The river, however, is expected to recede rapidly after it reaches its crest at about 31 feet—7 feet over flood stage—today, and the isolation would be brief.

The floods were caused by several days of heavy rains in north Georgia.

"The boys coming out of the schools have very little practical knowledge."

Dr. Michaelson will be installed as president of the academy tonight, succeeding Dr. Albert E. Ripp of St. Paul, Minn.

Aerial Group Arrives for Arizona Training

The newly organized Aerial Surveillance and Target Acquisition (ASTA) platoon of 5th Aviation Battalion, 5th Infantry Division (Mech), Ft. Carson, arrived at Ft. Huachuca, Arizona April 10 to prepare for Exercise Desert Strike.

The new platoon and the Imagery Interpretation Section, 5th Military Intelligence Detachment, left April 8 for three weeks training in Arizona.

The six officers and 41 enlisted men of the ASTA platoon will provide intelligence information for the division on a 24-hour schedule and will be one of the major intelligence gathering agencies available to the command.

Major John B. Howse, platoon commander, received bright red MQM-57A drone aircraft along with specially equipped OV-1 Mohawks, twin-engine turbojet aircraft mounted with the AN-UAS-4 infra-red detector system or the AN-APS-94 side looking airborne radar, SLAR.

The drones are radio-controlled aircraft primarily designed to perform aerial photographic reconnaissance and surveillance in conjunction with two support units.

One unit is the AN-MPQ-29 radar set which is a mobile radar tracker used as a navigational aid in controlling the flight of the drone. The other support unit is a photographic darkroom used to process film upon completion of a drone mission.

Both types of Mohawks are equipped with the KS-61 camera system giving the ASTA platoon an all weather, day and night capability.

After three weeks of training at Fort Huachuca, the ASTA platoon and the Imagery Interpretation Section will rejoin the division for Exercise Desert Strike.

Two special aerial surveillance target acquisition platoons will be employed by the opposing forces during Desert Strike. They are the only two of their kind in the entire Army.

The Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, started as a luncheon group of 13 men in 1870, now has a membership of more than 830,000.

MAJ. GEN. VON SHORES

ADC Staff Chief To Open AF Cost Seminar

Maj. Gen. Von R. Shores, acting chief of staff, Air Defense Command, Friday will open the Air Force Cost Reduction Seminar being hosted here by the ADC deputy chief of staff materiel.

More than 100 Cost Reduction Monitors from the Air Force Academy, Air Force Accounting and Finance Center, Denver, Headquarters Air Defense Command and ADC Air Divisions will attend the one-day seminar conducted by Air Force expers.

Lt. Col. H. L. Boyd Jr., chief of the Air Force Cost Reduction Team which is visiting major Air Force Commands during April and May, will give a general briefing on the urgency of active support of the USAF Cost Reduction Program during the balance of the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Following the general briefing, round table seminars will be held by the members of the Air Force team. The seminars, broken into seven categories, will cover each aspect of the Air Force Cost Reduction Program.

The USAF Cost Reduction Program is deisgned to save money through good management techniques. Basically, the program was instituted to improve procurement and logistics management and reduce operating costs without degrading operational effectiveness.

Air Defense Command's cost reduction savings have amounted to $8.4 million during the six month period ending Dec. 30, 1963. These savings—accomplished in just four of the nine Cost Reduction Program categories — represent more than one half of the total savings programmed by the Command. Additional ADV cost reduction proposals with a potential savings of $5 million are at Air Force Headquarters for acceptance.

Air Force expects to reach a "rate of saving" of $2 billion annually. The Air Force goal of $1.75 billion for FY 1964 is well on its way toward achievement.

Lt. Col. Alfred V. Fidrocki, monitor, ADC Cost Reduction Program, is the headquarters project officer for the one-day seminar.

The 15-member Air Force Cost Reduction team, including Colonel Boyd, are: Col. W. T. Sullivan; Lt. Colonels J. J. Scherer, R. L. Reusche and M. K. Kegley; Maj. J. F. Whitehouse; Capt. D. G. Destner, and Messrs. S. M. Funk, J. B. McFadyen, R. M. Stedman, W. W. Hudson, P. H. Garland, J. F. Donohue, R. Rogers, and C. M. McDonough.

The AF team is due to arrive from Randolph AFB, Tex., late Thursday evening.

the United Nations, regarding it as a purely cultural project.

McCullough noted that the U.S. contribution would be in so-called counterpart funds.

This money in Egyptian pounds has piled up because of the Food for Peace program, under which American surplus commodities are sold to needy countries for their own local currencies.

The State Department expert said there is "no foreseeable use for the money" which cannot be exchanged readily for other currencies. It is simply piling up in a Cairo bank.

Rooney sharply disputed this. "Anybody who says it's wooden money — that's nonsense," he said in an interview. "We can get dollars for it. We can use the money to run our embassy and pay the rent."

The moving of the Abu Simbel temple with its four massive seated statues, including King Ramses II and Queen Nefertari, is a gigantic engineering project. A West German firm is directing it.

Nikita Announces 'Open Conflict' With Red China

the Chinese leaders are seeking to split the Communist movement and the socialist camp and for this purpose are employing methods borrowed from the Trotskyite arsenal," Khrushchev said.

"This has created serious difficulties for the world Communist movement and placed it on the verge of a split."

Gesticulating angrily, Khrushchev often strayed from his written text as he lashed the Chinese for "subversive activities" and mocked them for seeking to attain communism through revolution.

"I guarantee you that the Soviet Central Committee will do everything so that the Red flag will flutter over the whole world," he declared.

The premier also called again for a German peace treaty which would turn Berlin into a "demilitarized free city" and attacked "revanchist" West Germany as the "most dangerous hotbed" and a source of military threats to Europe's security.

Rachel Carson, 'Silent Spring' Author Dies

a deadly film, and to linger on in the soil—all this though the intended target may be only a few weeds or insects. Can anyone believe it is possible to lay down such a barrage of poisons on the surface of the earth without making it unfit for all life?"

Miss Carson's book, which ironically also warned of the hazards of man-made cancer-producing substances, was criticized by some, including pesticide industry chemists, as presenting an incomplete picture. Manufacturers and trade associations defended the safety of pesticides "when used as directed."

After learning of her death, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall heaped praise on Miss Carson in a statement. He said she "was the kind of woman who makes men proud, a scientist of rare courage and ability, and a world-renowned author whose eye was trained to the destiny of generations she would never see.

"In her life and in her writing she embodied the highest concept of reverence for the land. As an alumna of public service, she devoted the last years of her life to saving mankind from the subtle dangers of man's misuse of his own environment."

Miss Carson first became concerned with chemical weed-and insect killers while working as a biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Born in Springdale, Pa., she received a bachelor's degree at Pennsylvania College for Women and a master's degree at Johns Hopkins University.

When she made the best-seller list with "The Sea Around Us," winner of a national book award for nonfiction, she was editor in chief of all the Fish and Wildlife Service publications. She resigned about a year later and wrote "The Edge of the Sea." "Silent Spring," published in 1962, was her last book.

Miss Carson never married but adopted a grandnephew, Roger Christie, now 10. The only other survivor is her brother, Robert M. Carson of Silver Spring.

Hospital Escapee Stabs Estranged Wife in Springs

the house at the time of the stabbing, police pieced together this story:

Mrs. Chavez's estranged husband, Eliseo Antonio Chavez Jr., 29, came to the Court House Cafe where Mrs. Chavez is employed at about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and stayed until closing time, arguing with his wife and trying to convince her to take him back.

Chavez went home with the victim and continued to argue about the separation, saying if she would not take him back he would kill her. When Mrs. Chavez refused, he started to beat her. He picked up a butcher knife and stabbed the victim, breaking the knife. He then got a smaller knife and pushed his wife to the floor, stabbing her several times more.

The baby sitter, Gloria Martinez of 321 E. Vermijo Ave., told police she heard Mrs. Chavez screaming while she was in the bedroom with the couple's children. She went to the kitchen and told Chavez to put away the knife. Chavez started at her with the knife and she ran from the house to call police. Chavez also ran out of the house and headed east on Vermijo.

Hospital authorities said Mrs. Chavez suffered four stab wounds in the back of her head, one on the left side of her neck and two deep wounds in her right lung which caused the lung to collapse.

Chavez is described as 5 feet 9 inches tall, 160 pounds, with black hair, brown eyes and of medium build and complexion.

General Firing Breaks Out in Cyprus Conflict

aimed at cutting the Nicosia-Kyrenia road at a point in the northern suburbs outside the walled city. The Greek Cypriots retreated when the Canadians threatened to shoot.

There were no immediate reports of casualties.

U.N. officials feared the fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots in Nicosia and the Kyrenia Mountains would spread to other points on the island.

The United Nations said British U.N. troops fired back this morning when shots were directed deliberately at their positions in the tense northern Nicosia suburbs. Greek Cypriots were said to have fired on them.

Canadian troops opened fire for the first time since they joined the U.N. force two weeks ago. They used automatic weapons in the Katodhikomo area of northeastern Cyprus when Maj. Patrick Trembley, of the Royal 22nd Regiment, was fired on by Cypriots reported to be Turkish.

Geneva Hallenbeck Dies Monday in Texas

Miss Hallenbeck received her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan and her masters degree at the University of Texas.

She had lived in Port Arthur for more than 30 years where she was a school teacher. Miss Hallenbeck was a stockholder in the Newton Lumber Co. here and was a frequent visitor to Colorado Springs.

Besides her brother, she is survived by two nephews, Vernon McClung Hallenbeck of Colorado Springs and Ray Hallenbeck of Kingsford, Mich., and two nieces, Mrs. David Glaze of Boulder and Miss Margot Hallenbeck of Colorado Springs.

Council Okays $100,000 Program For Paving, Gutters and Curbs

By RAY HERST
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

Stomachs were rumbling in City Council Chambers Tuesday but not so loudly as taxpayers who were unhappy with the 64 Improvement District which gained approval from council.

Council devoted two hours to the Improvement District then worked straight through to 1 p.m. before recessing the session.

The end result is a program of paving streets and adding curbs and gutters to various sections of town at a cost of more than $100,000 to the persons living in these areas.

Some people went away from the meeting happy, like the woman who wanted a sewer main installed on Uintah Street from Reinhardt and Academy Boulevard.

Residents in the area had rejected the $12,059 project, which they will have to pay, with four per cent voting for the project, 37 per cent against it and 59 per cent not voting.

"But what do you people do with your sewage now?" Mrs. Betty Krouse asked.

"Some people just throw it out the back door, I guess," the woman answered.

"In the city?" Mayor Harry Hoth shouted. It was exlpained that some residents have cesspools but there are several outhouses in the area.

Council approved the project.

Some people went away unhappy, like the woman who fought for and gained street paving in two areas but then lost the whole thing after council members debated among themselves.

"We've got holes up there you can bury most any kind of a dog in," the woman said. Despite a majority vote against paving Beacon Street from Polk to Harrison at a cost of $9,295.12 to the residents of the area, and paving Tyler Street from Concord to Beacon at a cost of $7,368.10 to residents, and a recommendation that the projects be omitted, council voted to include them.

"Well, if you goinna do that part, then you better do 'em all," one man said. "Make everybody pay, not just us."

He was referring to two related projects on Concord and Wood Avenues.

Council reversed their earlier decision and excluded all four projects.

There were other moments in the session too, such as the time M. R. Pearce, director of public works, recommended that council exclude a project to pave and install curbs and gutters on Sunset Street between Uintah and San Miguel at a cost of $3,777.70 to residents and $2,468.92 to the city.

Sixteen per cent of the residents had voted for the improvement project, none voted against and 84 per cent didn't vote.

"Why, in view of the figures did you recommend we omit this project?" Mayor Hoth asked Pearce.

"Well," the city director of public works said, "the city owns the whole west side of the street."

After the laughter died down, council voted to include the project in the Improvement District.

Among other things, the council voted to pave half-streets—in areas where they could not assess property on one side of the street — play hopscotch with paving — in areas where they ran into property on both sides of the street that they could not assess and decided to leave blank spots there — and agreed to spend about $9,000 of city money for some of the projects.

To be included in the Improvement District are El Paso from Las Animas to Fountain, $3,904.48; Bott Avenue from 25th Street to 26th, $6,289.45; Cooper from Fontanero to Del Norte, $10,722.02 with the city adding $3,118.53; Sturgis Road from Marilyn to Chelton, $5,462.04; North Circle Drive, from Holiday Lane to Alexander Highway; $5,611.15 with the city adding $1,440.46; Winnipeg and Tahoe Streets, $5,366.74; Echo Lane from Fontanero to 31st Street, $19,889.23 with the city adding $672.09; Corona from Moreno to Fountain, $14,920.88; Center Lane from Marilyn to Chelton Road, $5,720.78; San Miguel from Sunset to Prairie, $3,305.32; and Sunset from Uintah to San Miguel, $3,777.70 with the city adding $2,468.92.

All of the above includes paving, curbs and gutters. An alley from Uintah to San Rafael between Franklin and Prospect will be paved only at a cost of $1,045.50 and an alley from Institute to Clintonway between Illinois and Hancock will be paved at a cost of $2,414.55.

County Demolishes Home Despite Owner's Protest

old traffic warrant—for making an illegal turn—and resisting arrest.

The U.S. Supreme Court had refused to hear a petition for a stay on the demolition order.

A virtual army of sheriff's deputies moved into the house to keep Anthony and his followers from re-occupying it and Tuesday wrecking crews destroyed it.

Anthony, out on bail, watched from 200 yards away as the demolition started. "There she goes," he said tensely, his eyes rimmed in red, his fists clenched.

Then he moved to the tall fence which once separated his home from a parking lot for the nearby Hollywood Bowl. He yelled, "You miserable bunch of —"

Sheriff's deputies moved up to the fence and Anthony backed away. "There's too many of them," he said.

The home, built 40 years ago in a style best described as Hansel-and-Gretel Tudor, had four bedrooms and three baths, exposed timbers on its stucco facade, and many-paned windows.

Neighbors, Hollywood cause-seekers and college students who cut class to picket on Anthony's behalf sang "God Bless America" as the home disappeared, chunk by chunk, into dump trucks.

"This isn't the end," said Anthony. "We'll keep fighting, as if the home was still there. We'll appeal the condemnation. We'll sue. We'll sue each of the Board of Supervisors involved in this thing."

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

Most of the nation is enjoying fair weather this morning.

The marked exception is a general rain area from Maine along the Atlantic coast to North Carolina.

Rainfall amounts this morning of near one inch extended along the coast from New Jersey through New England.

Eastport, Me., was on the top of the list reporting .90 of an inch.

Other activity is quite light, consisting of a few spits of rain in the Pacific northwest and northern Rockies, and also across sections of Minnesota and northern Florida.

Most of the snow in the nation was a very light fall in extreme northern lower Michigan. During the early morning hours Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., picked up one inch of new snow.

The low temperatures this morning ranged from the teens in northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan to the 70s in southern Florida.

Park Falls, Wis., reported 17 degrees for one of the lowest temperatures in the nation. Miami recorded a low of 75 degrees this morning.

City Will Buy Airport Cafe For Office Space

until the new lessee for the facilities is found.

The contract to lease the office space to Frontier will run for approximately five years, Biery said, with a provision that it becomes null and void when and if the terminal is moved to the west end of the field.

Frontier will pay the standard rate of $3.50 per square yard of space per year for the space, Biery said.

The money for the purchase will ome from the airport budget which is self-sustaining, officials said.

Construction on the remodeling is expected to begin shortly after the 10-day option period expires. Officials expect the work will take approximately 30 days to complete.

City to Enter Suit for Air Jet Service

The city will enter the recently reopened Southern Transcontinental Service Case as an interested party, council decided this morning.

The case, which involves air transportation routes, would give Colorado Springs non-stop jet service from Peterson Field to Miami, Fla. if approved.

Mayor Harry Hoth said that Braniff Airlines, which now serves Colorado Springs, is involved in the case.

"We are entering this case only because we are interested in expanding airlines service from here," the mayor said.

The flight would make stops at Pueblo, Dallas, Tex., and New Orleans on its way to Miami.

an indecent suggestion to her and ripped open her coat, she went on.

As he was attempting to pull her into a nearby alley "I was fighting," she told the court. Finally Wood let her get up and threatened that he would kill her if she screamed again.

Both of them walked along Cascade Avenue but he still had his hand over her mouth, the witness said. She then saw a police car and managed to get his hand away while she screamed. She testified how she fell to the ground again and made herself "a dead weight, but he must have seen the car for he started to run."

The girl ran across the street to the car "shaking and crying," and got into it. A few minutes later the vehicle stop by the YMCA where another cruiser was holding a man whom the witness immediately identified as Woods.

During cross examination conducted by counsel for the defense Paul Evans, the girl said she had been to the 119 Tap Room to pay back a friend some money she had borrowed, and at the time of the attack was going to the Kachina Lounge.

In reply to a question from Evans the witness replied firmly that she had not had anything to drink as she did not drink.

Under counsel's persistent and lengthy questioning the girl who had retained her composure and answered steadily throughout, betrayed emotion for the first time and wept although she did not falter in her answers.

At one point during the trial Judge Hardeman told Evans with some asperity "I think you're twisting words," after he raised one of his many objections.

Police Lt. Rudolph G. Cheetsos, the driver of the car, told the court how he stopped when he heard the girl scream and saw a man and woman scuffling on the sidewalk.

Police Officer Neal Stratton also appeared for the prosecution and said he apprehended Woods, took him to the police department and booked him in. During interrogation, said Stratton, Woods denied all knowledge of the incident.

Sgt. Horace Stokes Sr. also of the police department, took the stand and said that when he questioned the defendant the day after the incident Woods realized he had made a mistake, was sorry and made a signed statement.

"Do you remember you said to the defendant if he chose to co-operate things would be much better for him when he appeared in court," Evans asked Stokes during cross examination. "I never made such a statement," the witness replied.

The defendant testified late in the afternoon and admitted he accosted the girl but "I didn't want to hurt her." When asked what he had said to her he said with bowed head, "I'm ashamed to repeat it," but at the insistence of his attorney repeated the words in a low, barely audible voice.

Woods denied pushing her to the ground but admitted walking along the street by her side with his hand over her mouth as he was scared she would scream again.

When she did shriek at the appearance of the police car he started running. The witness also alleged that Officer Stokes had said regarding the signed statement that if he "played along things would go better with him." He testified he did not intend to force himself on the girl and did not force her to do anything.

Evans was assisted by Bill Goodbar and Deputy District Attorney Herman Ratner prosecuted. The defense were given 20 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

Edward E. Neis Dies In Local Hospital

Edward E. Neis, a rancher in Falcon, died Monday in a local hospital at the age of 77.

He was born August 29, 1886, in Sun Prairie, Wis.

Mr. Neis came to Colorado Springs in 1913; moved to Boone in 1915 and to the Black Forest in 1933. From there, he moved to the Falcon Community and was a resident there since 1942.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kathryn Neis of Falcon; a brother Lee Neis of Pueblo, and several nieces.

Zip Code Value Negligible, But Numbers to March on which street the writer intended. That is, assuming that the writer used the correct code number.

Wardwell said that the figures in the ZIP Code each have a separate meaning. In the number 80907, which is North Colorado Springs, the 8 indicates a geographical area, in this case the seven Western states; the first 0 stands for Colorado; the 9 for Colorado Springs, and the 07 indicates the section of Colorado Springs.

Thus, Wardwell explained, bulk mail shipped through from another part of the country, arrives already separated according to ZIP Code number, skips the primary sorting step and goes to the secondary. In the secondary step, mail is separated according to its zone number, which there are 14 in Colorado Springs. The final step before distribution is the placing of the proper pieces of mail in the bag of each postman.

Wardwell said that if two more numbers are added to the ZIP Code, and that is a possibility, both primary and secondary steps in the sorting of mail will be bypassed and bulk mail, at least, will go directly to the postman's case.

Beginning Monday, April 20, and for three days following following, about 125,000 letter carriers in the United States will personally deliver ZIP Code identifications to every home and business address on their appointed rounds.

Gronouski said the Post Office Department is "more than happy at the public acceptance of the ZIP Code after some nine months of operation," despite the fact that, according to him, the department has found "an average of 22 per cent acceptance in the larger cities and up to 50 per cent in the smaller communities."

The code system, Gronouski explained, is built around the concept of 566 sectional centers. Mail is shipped from the sectional center nearest the point of origin to the one nearest its destination, bypassing a number of stops along the way and eliminating much of the handling previously required.

Since bulk mail is pre-sorted, the postmaster general said, more time is available in the post office to handle individual mail. Workroom personnel are now being trained to sort mail manually according to ZIP Code, Gronouski said.

"As the volume of ZIP Coded mail rises," he said, "we expect to be ready for it with an optical scanner that will sort the mail electronically at the rate of 17,000 an hour."

Seventy-five million ZIP Code notices were printed this year. Half will be distributed next week, with another mass distribution scheduled for November.

This year's notices are printed on paper stock and are smaller than the cards issued last July. The front side shows the proper way to use the ZIP Code in addressing envelopes. It also has a space where the current ZIP Code number for the home or place of business can be inserted and kept as a reference.

The reverse side explains how the system works, and also why the Post Office Department needs the code to cope with its annual volume of mail — amounting to 70 billion pieces and climbing at the rate of more than 2 billion a year.

5-Mile-Per-Hour Train Speed Limit Is Proposed

an hour at various points in the city, official said.

Councilmen charged that, at present, railroads to do adhere to the current speed limits. The one problem here, officials said, is enforcement.

"What are you going to do," City Manager John Biery said, "supply policemen with handcars to clock the trains?"

In other action, council agreed to sign a contract with Mr. and Mrs. John Straus for the purchase of gravel to be used by the City Street Department. The contract calls for a purchase price of 10 cents per cubic yard, an increase of four cents over last year's rates.

City Manager Biery said that the city would guarantee a minimum payment to Mr. and Mrs. Straus of $1,000 a year. He said that at present the city is using some 85,000 cubic yards of gravel a year, which is far more than the minimum payment called for.

He said the city uses the gravel as a base for new streets and pavings, as covering for hundreds of miles of alleys in the city and utilizes the sand strained from the gravel during the winter.

Council denied a request from Melvin Gregory to erect a portable steel building at the Busy Corner.

Councilman William S. Roe announced his resignation from the City Planning Board after serving on the body for two years. The resignation of Walter R. Grissel from the Regional Library Board was accepted and Mayor Hoth said he would welcome suggestions for his replacement.

Summer Water Supply Outlook Grim for West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department said today the summer water supply situation was grim for most Western areas other than the Pacific Northwest.

The agency's forecast was made on the basis of data compiled from the season snow survey conducted in western mountain ranges by the Soil Conservation Service and other agencies.

The service said the winter snowfall was sufficient in the Northwest to provide adequate water supplies in all states of the Columbia Basin.

Goldwater Wins Preferential Il'inois Primary

129,669, Lodge 26,545, Nixon 14,373, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York 1,208, Gov. George Romney of Michigan 275, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania 992, and Harold E. Stassen 44.

Lodge won on write-ins—33,521 of them—in New Hampshire, where Mrs. Smith counted 2,812 on the ballot.

Returns from 8,126 precincts for the nomination for governor gave Percy 368,827 and Scott 223,124.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, running against two opponents in the 1956 primary, compiled 95 per cent of the preference vote. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, competing against two entrants on the ballot and three write-in opponents gathered 74 per cent in 1952.

Separate small groups sought write-ins for President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president.

Returns from 1,834 precincts gave Johnson 22,237 and Kennedy 363, and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama 116.

Another small group had worked for write-ins for Gov. Wallace on both party ballots as a demonstration against the civil rights bill now under debate in the U.S. Senate. Wallace tallied 260,000 votes in Wisconsin April 7.

The Democrats had no major contests—a factor in the relatively light turnout of voters.

Youth's Story Fools Officer; But Not for Long

A fast talking youth managed to delay his arrest on a car-theft charge for about an hour this morning when he told the police officer who had stopped him for a traffic violation that he was on his way to a Denver hospital to see his "dying mother."

Officer D. J. Krabbenhoft said he stopped Edward E. McDowell, 19, of the Cheyenne Hotel, for going the wrong way on a one-way street at 4:30 a.m. After being pulled over in the 200 block of E. Kiowa St., McDowell told Krabbenhoft he did not have his license or registration with him and that he just received word that his mother was in a hospital and not expected to live.

The officer let McDowell go after giving him a verbal warning. Krabbenhoft then started checking on the car and driver. He traced the car to its owner, Alva Nicholas, 417 E. Kiowa St., and told Nicholas to find out if the car was missing. Nicholas verfied that the car had been stolen.

Krabbenhoft traced McDowell to the Cheyenne Hotel and arrested him at 5:30 a.m. McDowell was booked for investigation and placed in jail. The car was found where he left it in the 100 block of W. Antlers Place, and returned to its owner.

Suit Against City May Go To Jury Today

A $30,000 damage suit against the City of Colorado Springs, which started in District Court Tuesday is expected to go to the jury sometime today.

Aaron and Virginia C. Kitchen are the plaintiffs. According to the complaint the Kitchens own property which abuts north of Platte Avenue and that an action by the city April 28, 1959 in vacating the street reduced the value of the land.

It is claimed that the only way the plaintiffs had ingress and egress to and from the south side and rear of their property and the most convenient way of ingress and egress was cut off.

It is further alleged the city vacated the street without paying the plaintiffs any damages and it is requested that the court declare the vacation null and void.

Cohn Conspiracy Case Dismissed; Others Pending

NEW YORK (AP) — The conspiracy charge in the indictment against Roy M. Cohn and Murray R. Gottesman has been dismissed.

U.S. Dist. Judge Archie O. Dawson refused to dismiss nine other counts charging perjury and obstruction of justice.

Dismissal of the conspiracy charge Tuesday left it up to the prosecutors to convince the jurors that the defendants actually lied—rather than conspired to lie—to a 1962 federal grand jury and that Cohn actually threatened—rather than conspired to threaten—other grand jury witnesses.

Today was given over to summations by defense and prosecution lawyers, and the judge said he would give the case to the jury of 10 men and 2 women Thursday.

Cohn, 37-year-old New York lawyer and onetime aide to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., faces three counts of perjury and four of obstruction of justice. Gottesman, 56, also a New York lawyer, faces two counts of perjury.

Dawson held the government had failed to prove the existence of an agreement between Cohn and Gottesman to commit perjury and obstruct justice.

The government charges that Cohn and Gottesman lied to cover up alleged efforts in 1959 to keep four swindlers from being indicted in a $3-million scandal involving United Dye & Chemical Corp. stock. The four men were not indicted in 1959. But they were indicted in 1960, and pleaded guilty in 1962. They have not been sentenced.

The four are Samuel S. Garfield, oil promoter of Clare, Mich.; his partner, Irving Pasternak of Denver; their lawyer, Allen K. Swann, of Denver and Evansville, Ind.; and Allard Roen, manager of the Desert Inn in Las Vegas, Nev.

The government presented testimony that there was a $50,000 payoff for fixing the 1959 case, and that $16,333 of the money went to Cohn and $33,667 to Morton S. Robson, former chief assistant U.S. attorney here.

Cohn, also a former assistant U.S. attorney, and Robson both denied the payoff from the witness stand. Robson's denial was supported by another witness, S. Hazard Gillespie, who was U.S. attorney in 1959. Gillespie said he alone made the decision to keep the four men out of the indictment.

Hussein Blasts Israeli Plans For Jordan Water

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) —King Hussein of Jordan presses Arab opposition to Israel's plan to divert Jordan River waters for irrigation purposes as he continues talks today with President Johnson and other top U.S. officials.

The 28-year-old monarch told a news conference Tuesday that the Israeli plan was a "violation of international law, an act which hits the stability in the area." He said he saw no prospect for a compromise.

Israel plans to use the Jordan waters to irrigate the Negev Desert.

A communique was to be issued late today after Johnson and Hussein wind up their talks with an afternoon conference. The monarch was also scheduled to visit the State Department and confer with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Hussein came here both as a representative of his own country and as a spokesman for the 13-nation Arab summit conference which met in Cairo in January.

The U.S. position is that Israel's irrigation plan falls within the guidelines set up in 1955 by the late Eric Johnston, who proposed that 60 per cent of the water from the Jordan go to the Arabs and 40 per cent to the Israelis.

Hussein told his news conference that it is "too late to think of the Johnston plan at this stage." He said if Israel goes ahead with its plan, Jordan "will divert some more waters in order to bring them back into the Jordan Valley."

After more than an hour with the President, Hussein attended a State Department luncheon presided over by acting Secretary of State George W. Ball.

Tuesday night, the monarch was the guest at a state dinner at the White House, followed by a jazz concert and a dance.

Set of Books Presented to Regional Library

A set of 21 books was presented to the Pikes Peak Regional District Library Monday by the Seventh-day Adventist Church in connection with National Library Week, April 12-19.

The books, on Bible teachings, were presented to Mrs. Margaret Reid, librarian, by Dwight S. Wallack, pastor, and Jerry Conley, literature evangelist.

Wallack and Conley made the formal presentation on behalf of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, which makes sets of the books available free to selected libraries in the United States and Canada.

Eight of the volumes were written by Ellen G. White, a founder of the church. They range from "The Desire of Ages" and "The Great Controversy" to "Ministry of Healing" and "Education."

Some of the other books by early-day leaders of the church or present-day spokesmen are "Evolution, Creation and Science," by Frank L. Marsh; "I Love Books," by J. D. Snider; "In Defense of the Faith," by W. H. Branson; "Prophetic Faith of Our Fathers" (four volumes); and "Thoughts on Daniel and the Revelation," by Uriah Smith.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Delores was unfamiliar with the "minor decision" strategy in sales psychology. So I have outlined it below. Be sure to become deft in its use, for it is almost surefire in winning a wedding ring. And send for booklet below to further polish up your sales technique.

* * *

By George W. Crane,
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE S-439: Delores B., aged 32, is the girl who had been engaged for over a year to a bachelor, aged 37.

"Dr. Crane," she continued, "tell me more about that 'minor decision' strategy.

"For I never had any experience in the sales field, so it is new to me."

MINOR DECISIONS

In selling, it is usually best to ease gracefully into the crucial "dotted line" stage.

After a smooth sales presentation, therefore, a star salesman doesn't rudely shatter the semi-hypnotic trance by baldly demanding:

"Well, take it or leave it! Do you want it or don't you?"

No, indeed, for that would arouse caution and subconscious warnings that are negative.

"Maybe I better sleep over this decision," would then be a typical reaction of the prospect.

So the professional salesman gently commits the prospect by casually asking him questions with two answers.

Thus, instead of asking "Do you want it or don't you?" the salesman inquiries:

"Would you rather have shipment by express or by freight?"

Note that his answer to that question doesn't actually commit the prospect at all. But it starts him into the habit of saying "Yes."

"Would you prefer to pay by the month or give us a check on delivery?" is another query that illustrates the "minor decision."

Before long, the prospect is so far along the "Yessing trail" that he can't back up.

Then the smart salesman will smile, offer his pen, and suggest:

"Now if you'll just O.K. this down here, we'll have delivery on the date you wished."

Please observe that the salesman even then uses the milder term "O.K.," instead of "Sign."

For that word "Sign" has vague nuances that suggest "Legal contract" and thus may start subconscious negative thoughts.

Well, you girls should all take a good course in salesmanship, for winning a wedding ring is a real sales job.

In fact, I used to steer scores of coeds at Northwestern and George Washington Universities into my big classes on the "Psychology of Sales and Advertising."

For the coeds then learned not only how to employ that they also were surrounded by an deft "minor decision," but they also were surrounded by an excess of men!

For the men outnumbered the coeds probably 2 to 1. Girls, it is smart strategy to enroll in courses primarily aimed toward men for in that way you enhance your chances of a wedding ring.

Indeed, you can lean upon an attractive male classmate for help in solving the homework problems, since you can profess to know little about such masculine topics.

"I feel so helpless in this course," q coed can sweetly smile as she disarms her male classmate, "but you are a brain so I wonder if I might ask you for some advice?"

Send for my booklet "Modern Sales and Advertising Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope plus 20 cents. Girls, it helps win wedding rings.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

14—TEST NIGHT: A REVIEW

If you follow one simple direction, this test will actually give you a good review of the columns to date. The direction: DO NOT SKIP ANY STATEMENTS in your circling them as true (T) or false (F).

1. When you encounter a section in your pre-reading which is difficult to understand, skip it and save it for your thorough reading. (T) (F)
2. When you meet a new word in your reading, don't risk guessing. (T) (F)
3. He knows the most about biochemistry since he has the most notes. (T) (F)
4. Pre-reading is helpful if you've prepared your questions first. (T) (F)
5. Your outline's order should follow the book you liked best. (T) (F)
6. If, besides pulse, I feel other movement in the throat while reading, then I am a word-by-word reader. (T) (F)
7. Skipping and skimming are good only when we read for information or opinion. (T) (F)
8. The Reading Laboratory Program devised its eight steps to save time for students with poor or failing grades. (T) (F)
9. Pre-reading gives you the questions which thorough reading will answer. (T) (F)
10. The one with the fewest notes from reading is doing most justice to memory. (T) (F)
11. If you keep consulting dictionaries, you'll never learn from the context. (T) (F)
12. When you encounter difficult sections while pre-reading, convert topic sentences into questions of HOW, WHEN, WHY, etc. (T) (F)
13. In preparing an outline, follow only chronological order. (T) (F)
14. When you read in phrases and with increased eye span, you are concentrating on techniques, not the book's contents. (T) (F)
15. Once your notes are placed in order and your outline complete, let the table of contents guide your summarizing. (T) (F)
16. He should take notes only of the essentials in his reading, omitting incidentals. (T) (F)
17. He reads slowly, but he gets the most understanding possible. (T) (F)
18. Guess a word's meaning from context, then check the dictionary. (T) (F)
19. With sufficient practice, speed-reading techniques become an unconscious part of our reading. (T) (F)
20. When reading for relaxation only, ignore The Reading Laboratory program. (T) (F)
21. Establishing the long-range and long-lasting personal benefits is my best help to concentration in today's school assignments. (T) (F)
22. Most students, unless they can see here-and-now personal good in assigned reading, will have difficulty in concentrating. (T) (F)
23. After I have mastered the eight steps, reading for relaxation will be faster than ever before, though slower than reading for opinions. (T) (F)
24. Because faster reading will occupy his mind with more ideas, the really bright student benefits from The Reading Laboratory Program at last as much as the slower student. (T) (F)
25. Summarizing what you have read is best done from your notes and your outline. (T) (F)

Check your answers below, giving yourself four points for each ocrrect answer.

ANSWERS: 1. (F) 2. (F) 3. (F) 4. (F) 5. (F) 6. (T) 7. (T) 8. (F) 9. (T) 10. (F) 11. (F) 12. (T) 13. (F) 14. (F) 15. (F) 16. (T) 17. (F) 18. (T) 19. (T) 20. (F) 21. (F) 22. (T) 23. (T) 24. (T) 25. (T)

Lodge Workers Hear Heady Oregon Reports

By GORDON G. MACNAB

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The team that won in New Hampshire is hearing heady reports in Oregon as it prepares to try and shape an image of Henry Cabot Lodge as the Republican who can capture the presidency.

"A little too heady," said David Goldberg, 34, Boston attorney and field director for the Draft Lodge campaign.

The team hasn't even started to work and already Lodge is in first place in some Oregon polls as well as in national samplings.

Pollster Louis Harris said his survey indicates Lodge is a big favorite among Oregon Republican voters and stands to gain a greater victory than he did in the New Hampshire presidential primary last month.

Harris' poll showed Lodge has 46 per cent of the Republican voters in Oregon, Richard M. Nixon 17, Sen. Barry Goldwater 14, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller 13, Gov. William Scranton 4 and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith 1. Harris listed 5 per cent of the voters as still undecided.

Lodge has won editorial endorsement of the Oregonian, the state's most widely circulated newspaper.

"We are pleased but not necessarily persuaded," Goldberg said. "If we had listened to the polls in New Hampshire we would have packed our bags and gone home. No one took us seriously."

Goldwater and Rockefeller noted the swift rise in Lodge's popularity and told Oregonians they should demand that Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, come home tell his stand on issues.

Lodge has said he has no intention of coming home for the May 15 Oregon primary.

"His great character and ability are more relevant than specific stands," Goldberg said. "Foreign policy is the overriding issue, the one Republicans can use to beat President Johnson. The people recognize Lodge as a man they can trust on foreign affairs."

Goldberg thinks Lodge will come home before the Republican National Convention in July if he wins in Oregon.

Goldberg sits at a littered desk in the basement of the Draft Lodge headquarters in downtown Portland and appears calm amid a swirl of paper work. He has his two top New Hampshire office aides, Sally Saltonstall and Caroline Williams of Boston.

They are putting together a precinct - by - precinct organization that hopefully will ring the doorbell of every one of the 400,000 Republicans in Oregon.

George Keady, Springfield, Mass., attorney, flew in to spend a two-week vacation installing a control system so headquarters will know what its workers do each day in each of the 3,300 precincts.

The campaign pattern will follow that of New Hampshire: statewide circulation of a letter aimed at selling Lodge to the people, a few television spots; some lapel buttons and bumper stickers, and the doorbell ringing. John Lodge, the ambassador's brother, may make some appearances. Marty Snyder, General Dwight D. Eisenhower's World War II mess sergeant who campaigned for Lodge in New Hampshire, says he will do the same here.

About two weeks from now is the goal for opening the campaign. All the action will be packed into the final three weeks.

Part of the action will be raising money. Goldberg said he hoped one-third to one-half would come from Oregon contributors. The rest will be sought in the East. The New Hampshire campaign cost $23,000, he said, and Oregon's will cost more "but we are not talking in terms of anything like $100,000."

A five-man committee is masterminding the show: Goldberg who is in Oregon full time; Paul Grindle, 43, Boston importer, and Robert R. Mullen, Washington, D.C., public relations man, who have been in and out; George H. Kidder, Boston attorney, and Maxwell Rabb, New York attorney.

Their candidate faces not only the campaigning Goldwater and Rockefeller, but non-campaigning former Vice President Nixon, Gov. Scranton of Pennsylvania, and Sen. Smith, all of whom will be on the ballot.

More People Being Drawn Into Big Eye

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Television keeps getting its lumps from the critics and intellectuals, but more people seem to be watching more television on more sets than ever.

That, at least, is the finding of Nielsen researchers. The company estimates that some 51,300,000 American homes in the United States, not counting Alaska and Hawaii, are television-equipped—92 per cent of all households, and a slight increase over 1962.

Set ownership is heaviest—95 per cent or more homes have them—in the northeastern United States. It is lightest—87 per cent—in the South.

The Nielsen company estimates that the average television set is in use six hours and a quarter daily during midwinter months, but skids to four and a quarter hours a day during the summer. These figures, incidentally, have changed very little during the past eight years.

Viewing starts early in the day, with fewer than a quarter of a million sets in use, and climbs sharply to a midday peak of 15 million homes. By midevening, sets are in use in at least 34 million homes with the peak period between 8 and 9 o'clock.

There are 540 commercial television stations within the continental United States sending massive loads of entertainment, news, public affairs shows and sports events into millions of homes.

Television, it is obvious, has grown up fast.

From now on, "The Beverly Hillbillies" can call itself "the award winning series." The country-style program, at once the nation's most popular and most maligned by critics, has been voted the "best comedy series" by the million-member American Legion Auxiliary which gave it a "Golden Mike." The annual membership poll also named "Perry Mason" the best adventure series.

New Spacecraft May Make Moon Trips Easier

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A spacecraft named Fire blazed back through the atmosphere faster than any previous space payload Tuesday night and radioed a wealth of information which could make manned trips to the moon safer.

The spacecraft, looking like a compact model of the Apollo moonship, rode an Atlas missile more than 500 miles into space. As it plummeted back toward earth, a 10-foot-long rocket fired and increased payload speed from about 15,000 to 25,166 miles an hour.

The speed was slightly higher than that the Apollo craft is to attain in returning astronauts from the moon. It also was more than 7,000 miles an hour faster than the velocity recorded by any previous space vehicle re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

As the 200-pound payload made the meteoric dive, it radioed information on the heat that seared its blunt shield.

A great shock wave built up in front of the payload and temperature of gases within the wave reached 200,000 degrees. An observer at the South Atlantic tracking station on Ascension Island described the spacecraft as a ball of fire.

An official of Republic Aviation, which built the spacecraft, reported the 20,000-degree heat could be converted to enough energy to lift the Empire State Building 25 feet.

Herbert A. Wilson, Project Fire manager for the space agency's Langley Research Center, told newsmen he was very pleased with initial data from the 32-minute flight. A tape recorder stored heat data during the peak period of re-entry when extreme temperatures cut off radio signals.

The recorder made a full report on stored data before the craft plunged into the ocean 5,200 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Wilson said the tapes will be flown to the Republic plant in Farmingdale, N.Y., for breakdown and should be ready for extensive analysis in about a month.

Eighty - five per cent of the nation's wood needs is harvested from tree farms, industrial timberlands and other privately-owned forestlands.

GROWTH HORMONES FOR DWARFS

Dysfunction of the pituitary gland leads to a certain type of dwarfism. Many of these little people benefited from the side effects of the research on the Salk polio vaccine. In 1950, 21,000 monkeys were used in this project. This provided a unique opportunity for scientists to obtain a large number of pituitary glands from which certain hormones could be extracted for work on human growth.

The timing was perfect. It has been known for more than five decades that a relationship exists between a type of small, perfectly formed child and a poorly functioning pituitary. The problem appeared to be solved in 1945 when a hormone was extracted from the glands of small laboratory animals. But nothing happened when the substance was injected into dwarfs. Animals grew but humans did not.

The next step was to repeat the experiments, using higher animals such as monkeys. This has a drawback in that the gland is tiny and contains only an infinitesimal amount of growth hormone. It was here that timing entered the picture when the 21,000 monkey pituitaries became available. The hormones were effective in humans but the research project ended when the supply was exhausted.

In 1956, a growth hormone was extracted from human pituitary glands which proved to be the exact substance lacking in this form of dwarfism. But, again, the demand is greater than the supply. The growing child requires the hormone from one pituitary gland per day and the need is even greater for dwarfs of another type.

The national pituitary agency was formed to help overcome this deficiency. It hopes to encourage thousands of persons to will their pituitary glands to science for research purposes.

The pituitary dwarf is of normal size at birth but development usually ceases between the first and third years. The diagnosis is made by checking height and bone development via X-rays. Treatment should be started before the bones lose the ability to grow.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

Ascorbic and Citric Acids

J. G. writes: What is the difference between ascorbic acid and citric acid and what is their relationship to vitamin C?

Reply

Ascorbic acid is the chemical name of vitamin C. They are one and the same and citrus fruits are rich in vitamin C. Citric acid is another chemical constituent of citrus fruits that is unrelated to this vitamin.

Narrowed Arteries

G. C. H. writes: I know that cholesterol clogs the arteries but would like to know if calcium does also.

Reply

Both may play a role in narrowing the arteries. The hardening process begins when cholesterol is deposited in the arterial walls. These deposits are replaced with calcium.

Diabetes In Oldster

J. B. writes: Could diabetes first occur at an advanced age? My mother is 86 and her doctor just made this diagnosis.

Reply

Yes, but at this age, the condition is likely to be mild and easily controlled.

Sinus and Bare Feet

F. A. writes: My wife claims I aggravate my sinus condition by going barefoot on cold floors. Is this likely?

Reply

No, but why not wear slippers and prove she is wrong?

A. Earl Bryson To Present Award at Aztec

A. Earl Bryson has been named by the National Municipal League to present the All-American City Award for 1963 to Aztec, N. M.

The presentation will be made Sunday at a city-wide celebration. Aztec is one of 11 cities designated for the awards from the League headquartered in New York City.

Others are Alexandria, Va.; Gastonia, N. C.; Louisville, Ky.; Minneapolis; Oil City, Pa.; Roseville, Cal.; Seward, Alaska; Sidney, Ohio; Woodbridge, N. J., and Woodsrock, Ill.

Aztec was cited chiefly for having built through volunteer labor and without recourse to tax moneys a 19-mile stretch of two-way highway. The highway connects the community with the neighboring reservoir and recreation area, thus opening the San Juan Basin to tourist trade and increased growth potential. The road was presented to the State of New Mexico which valued it at $250,000. It was estimated that three out of every four persons in the community took part in the project.

Bryson, 14 E. Fontanero St., has long been active in the National Municipal League. He served on the national council and was chairman of the national conference held in 1958 in Colorado Springs.

George H. Gallup of Gallup Polls is chairman of the council and chairmanned the jury which picked the 1963 winners.

TARIFFLESS TEA

BERNE, Switzerland (AP) — Berne authorities in agreement with the General Agreement on Tarriffs and Trade and the European Trade Association recently announced the abolition of all duties on tea, so that Switzerland may soon be the country serving the cheapest "cuppa" ever.

The Indian Embassy immediately launched a campaign promoting Indian tea, with young Indians in national costumes distributing leaflets and free samples. Lovers of China tea were expected to get the same service.

PEAK ROAD OPENING STARTS — The annual battle to open the Pikes Peak Highway has started, but so far the plows and dozers and trucks are all working in the area between Glen Cove and Milepost 16. The department's two Sno-Gos (the rotary) won't go into action until later this week. Much more snow has been encountered along the 14,110-foot road to the summit this spring than last year. Some of the drifts in the switchbacks above Glen Cove are eight to 10 feet deep. Road Superintendent Jack Sullivan doesn't know when he will be able to reach the top, with weather and wind being two of the determining factors. He would like however, to get the road open for the last weekend in April. Sullivan is shown in the station wagon here.

City Council Delayed by Public Hearing

Council, delayed by a two-hour public hearing on the 64 Improvement District, worked at a feverish pace Tuesday to get to all of the items on the agenda.

They didn't quite make it by the time they recessed at 1 p.m. Items approved are as follows:

A request by Gordon Price for a zoning change on a seven-acre plat from single family residential to multi-family residential.

A zoning change on a 13.5 acre tract near Academy Boulevard from single family residential to multi-family residential.

A zoning change on an 18.2 acre tract near Airport Road from single family residential to planned business center.

The final plat of Rustic Hills Subdivisions 1, 2 and 3 were approved and revocable permits granted to install cesspools and ceptic tanks in the area rather than attaching the sewage lines from the homes to the city sewer system.

The preliminary plat of Greencrest Subdivision, which will be annexed to the city and lies southwest of the intersection of Maizeland Road with Templeton Gap Extended, was approved.

Final replat of a 3.64 acre tract in Oakview Heights.

Final plat of Rustic Hills Subdivision No. 6; final plat of Pikes Peak Subdivision No. 6; petition for annexation of 110 acres lying southwest of the N. The dedication of the roads to the city in the area of the Ampex site was approved; council authorized city officials to re-negotiate the maintainance contract with the State Highway Department which calls for additional monies to come to the city; officials were also authorized to re-negotiate the lease between the city and Airlines Cab Service for space in the Airport Terminal Building.

Council also agreed to permit the sub-leasing of a portion of land at Peterson Field to the Mountain States Telephone Co. for use as a temporary exchange site. Council was told the telephone company plans to build a new exchange building in the area in the future.

Council accepted a grant of right of way from the State Colorado Game and Fish Commission to construct an alley between Jefferson and Madison Streets.

Spring Increases Museum Goers At Ft. Carson

Although the weather seems undecided, spring has arrived at Ft. Carson judging from attendance at the U.S. Army Museum.

Harold Hendrix, the curator, reports that 80 persons signed the register at Carson's museum Sunday, a record number for 1964. He estimates that at least twice that number were actual visitors since only half are willing to register, on the average.

Many soldiers were visitors with their families and one family consisted of 13 members which may be a record too, Hendrix remarked.

The museum is open each week from Wednesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Displays range from souvenirs of many wars to representative equipment of Ft. Carson's famous mules, mutts and mountaineers. Much of the material is on loan or was a gift from visitors who were impressed with the attractive displays.

Parsonage Site Burglarized of Building Parts

Sheetrock, plywood doors and a window were stolen from the construction site of a parsonage at 1319 Potter Rd. in one of four thefts reported by police this morning.

Victim of the theft is the Palmer Park Community Church. Police said the total loss in the theft was over $500. The building equipment was taken sometime between Saturday night and Tuesday morning, according to the Rev. William Francis Williams who reported the theft to police.

A camera and other photographic equipment worth a total of $356 was stolen from the car of Frank Colley, 1313 N. Bennett Ave., according to a police report issued this morning. The theft occurred on April 8. The car was parked at Colley's home with one of the doors unlocked at the time of the theft.

Thieves stole two doors and door jams worth $90 from an open garage at 3609 Hayman Court Monday night or Tuesday morning. Victim of the theft is Howard Hurlburt of Pueblo.

A suitcase containing clothing worth $75 and other items was stolen from Robert E. Toms Tuesday night. Toms, 529 N. Weber St., told officers he left the apartment for an hour Tuesday night and whn he returned the suitcase was gone. A man Toms had been sharing the apartment with is being searched for as a suspect in the theft.

Malicious Mischief Cases Being Checked

Two cases of malicious mischief were reported to the sheriff's department Tuesday.

The first happened at the home of Arthur Sapp, 919 S. Weber St. A BB gun was fired through the front window causing $40 damage.

The second incident was reported by L. C. Runyon, an employee at the Ivywild School, 1604 S. Cascade Ave. Someone threw a softball through a window and damage was estimated at $10.

Car Swerves, Smacks Tree; Four Injured

Four persons were injured when the car in which they were riding struck a tree Tuesday night in the 600 block of W. Bijou Street, police reported.

Victor LeRoy Moss, 19, of Ft. Carson, suffered a possible broken nose, a lip cut and abrasions. Moss was the driver of the car.

Injured passengers were Joyce Ann O'Dell, 21, 3006 De-Cortez Blvd., cuts, scrapes and a broken ankle; Laurence Melvin Cox, 22, 2570 E. Uintah St., cuts; Julie Karen Shaw, 20, 507 Cheyenne Blvd., cuts and abrasions.

All the injured were taken to Memorial Hospital by E and E Ambulance. Moss was later transferred to the Ft. Carson Hospital. Joyce Ann O'Dell was admitted to the hospital and Cox and Miss Shaw were treated and released.

Police said the car was going south on 7th Street when it started to make a left turn into Bijou Street and skidded off the right side of the street, hitting the tree head-on. The driver was ticketed for careless driving and injury to city property. He told police he had swerved to avoid another car before hitting the tree.

Police estimated damage to the car at $750.

State Services May Suffer, Speakers Tell Young Demos

Education, mental health services and recreational services in the state are likely to suffer because of the financial program of the current state government, the El Paso County Young Democrats were told Tuesday night.

The speakers were Don King, director of the Colorado Springs University of Colorado Extension Center and chairman of the local chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union; Mrs. Fred Letsch, a vice president of the State Mental Health Board, and Ernest P. Romans, director of parks and recreation for Englewood. He also is past president of the Colorado Recreation Society.

King, speaking on state colleges and universities, suggested that the state's universities will have a difficult time surviving in the future unless sufficient money is budgeted to meet the anticipated influx of students.

King pointed out that the amount of money appropriated for the 1964-65 school year by the state legislature was less than the total spent in the 1963-64 school year for Colorado University at Boulder and its extension services.

For that part of the CU operation, King listed these figures: Expenditures in 1963-64 were $1,737,000; requested for 1964-65 was $13,470,000, and appropriated for 1964-65, $10,208,000, which was $528,565 less than spent in the previous year.

The legislature was more generous with the Medical Center at Denver, with the exception of the School of Nursing, then it was with the CU operation on the Boulder campus where all divisions were cut, so that the final total for the university shows an increase.

Those figures are: $17,000,000 spent in 1963-64, asked for 1964-65 was $21,800,000, and appropriated was $17,690,000, which was an overall increase of $686,887.

For all of the state institutions of higher learning, he reported these figures: $33,516,000 spent in 1963-64, asked for 1964-65 was $45,835,000, and appropriated was $34,360,000. The total increase was $843,000, of which $686,887 was for the Medical Center.

He pointed out that Colorado can expect more students in its public universities in the coming years.

He listed these national trends as reported by the Fund for the Advancement of Education:

Number of college students in 1950 was 2.3 million, with 12.8 million expected in 1985.

Number of students in private colleges in 1950 was about 50 per cent, with only about 20 per cent expected to be in private schools in 1985.

Population in the age group 18-24 and attending college in 1950 16 million and 15 per cent, and in 1985 there will be an estimated 32 million and 40 per cent will be attending college.

Projects for Colorado indicate that in 1965 the state will have 133,000 in the 18-21 age population with 60,200 enrolled in college, and in 1970 will have 168,000 in the 18-21 age group with 77,000 enrolled in college.

He said that most states have a system to guide their growth, and suggested that Colorado should do the same to meet the problem rushing at it in the field of higher education in the public school system.

Mrs. Letsch said the state mental health program is suffering because of reduced budgets.

She pointed out that the Fort Logan Children's Treatment Center previously was scheduled to begin operation at the end of this year, but it is not known now how much of the center that soon will have its buildings completed can be put into operation.

The request made to the 44th General Assembly for funds for the center was $260,000, she said. Gov. John A. Love cut the request to $21,000 and the legislature appropriated $100,000.

She said that a number of things planned for the center certainly cannot take place because of the shortage of money.

A similar situation prevails in other parts of the state mental health program, she pointed out.

For instance, she said, budget requests for the Mount View School for Girls and the State Children's Home were both cut and now both have lower budgets and higher populations than last year.

Mrs. Letsch said that cut department requests for all six operations for the 1964-65 year:

Colorado State Hospital at Pueblo — asked $17,723,399, got $15,566,968.

Fort Logan Mental Health Center — asked $4,787,249, got $3,640,027.

Fort Logan Children's Treatment Center — asked $260,700, got $100,000.

Community Health Mental Clinics — asked $551,057, got $519,612.

State Home and Training School at Grand Junction — $2,454,669 asked and got $2,116,432.

State Home and Training School at Wheat Ridge — asked $3,967,200 and got $3,234,836.

Youth Services Division (included in this total are requests, recommendations and appropriations for Juvenile Probation and Parole, and Lookout Mountain School for Boys, Mount View School for Girls and State Children's Home).

Youth Services asked total of $2,710,000 and got $2,489,546.

Lookout Mountain School for Boys asked for $1,074,078 of that and got $1,037,845 of the total.

Mount View School for Girls asked for $633,582, and got $579,962.

State Children's Home asked $590,828 and got $541,300.

Romans pointed out that the shortened workweek the nation has and which is shortening even more means more time for recreation.

"This shift to more recreation is going that direction in the traditional American way, and not being guided," he said.

"The social change is developing from the people and not being directed by government," Romans added.

He said that the merger of the State Parks and Recreation Department with the State Fish and Game Department meant that many plans for park development that could lead to recreation has been slowed greatly.

The merger also means that the Game and Fish Department lands now are state park, but there is not money to develop them as such, Romans said.

He pointed out that Colorado has great potential to more than double its tourist business, but that to do so it must offer more than it does now.

"People want things to keep their children busy while they are also having a good time," he said.

He said he had been told by tourist experts that Colorado could increase its tourist trade from 2.5 million a year to 6 million if it had facilities.

He pointed out that camping space in the mountains is difficult to find. He also predicted that it will not be much easier to find in the near future as there is no money for additional work in parks.

When the park department went into an area to make it into a park it put in fireplaces, wells and other improvements to make life more comfortable for the tourist, he said. These things will not be done to any extent in the future, Romans predicted.

He also predicted that the change will lead to a fee system for use of the parks. "You have heard of the sticker system, and you probably will see it," said Romans, "but we (the Colorado Recreation Society) are not in favor of it."

Bang! bang! bang! bang! and David Weiman, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Weiman, of Cascade, Friday bagged the largest bobcat ever known to have been shot in the Pikes Peak Region. It weighed 47 pounds.

Weiman shot the wildcat north of Cascade, near the Rampart Range road. It was running when he fired the first shot at it with a .22 rifle. After the second shot it turned on him, coming straight at him with growling fierceness. But two more shots brought it down. The animal is being mounted.

Carson Features State Exhibits This Week

An art exhibit and book displays portraying historic Colorado are being featured by the three Special Services libraries for National Library Week, this week at Ft. Carson, Colorado.

The week will be climaxed by an open house at the post library in the Cheyenne Shadows at 10 a.m. Friday.

An exhibit of paintings by Mrs. Evelyn Adams and Mrs. Mercedee MacDonald will be featured throughout the week at the post library. Oil paintings to be displayed by Mrs. Adams and charcoal sketches by Mrs. MacDonald feature historic houses and building in Colorado.

Mrs. Adams has studied in Europe and the Far East and is the founder of the Security YWCA Y-wives Club.

Mrs. MacDonald was reared in this area and has done many sketches and charcoal drawings of buildings and ghost towns of Colorado.

Both artists will be present at Fridays open house.

The post, peak and Hospital libraries have book displays which focus on Colorado history and travel.

Librarian Catherine Tice says the three libraries offer a well rounded collection of books, pamphlets and reference material totaling more than 36,000 volumes.

Phonograph records are available for loan with the collection ranging from jazz to classical music and including dramatic readings and foreign languages.

Listening tables with stereo earphones are installed in each library.

At the post Library, subscriptions to magazines total over 125, while approximately 20 national newspapers are carried. Also on display are newspapers from Army posts all over the country.

Special collections include military warfare, special warfare, contemporary military reading and Colorado history and travel. Children's books are available at both the post and hospital libraries.

A service recently initiated is the "For Commanders" fact sheet, providing resumes of current international problems. The weekly publication is issued by the Department of Defense for military commanders.

"Reading is the Key," this year's theme for National Library Week, reflects the priceless privilege of a free people to read what they choose and thus provide themselves with the key to knowledge, understanding and opportunity.

Miss Tice declared. "The week provides a unique opportunity to highlight the services made available by Ft. Carson libraries to post military and their dependents."

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of ♠ South, the declarer in today's four heart contract, was the victim of a mental state which, for the absence of a better term, might be labeled "finesse happy." This condition induced a certain looseness in his plan of campaign which led to his downfall.

West opened the four of spades and South chose to let the lead ride around to his nine in the hope that West had underled both the king and jack. East, however, played the jack of spades which held the trick. A trump was returned and declarer put up the ace. He crossed over to the king of clubs in order to take a second round finesse in hearts for the queen. When West turned up with this card, he led another spade. East ruffed with his last trump and then cashed the ace of diamonds to defeat the contract.

Although declarer could have averted his ill-fate by refusing to take the finesse in hearts, we have no quarrel with him on that score. His handling of the spade suit, however, left something to be desired. Since he is presumably off at most one trick each in diamonds and hearts, he can afford to lose a spade trick as well. In order to maintain a fuller control over the proceedings, declarer should forego the luxury of taking the double finesse in spades, for the success of his contract is virtually assured provided that West has either one of the missing spade honors.

It is suggested that South play the queen of spades from dummy at trick one. If this should lose to the king, declarer is still in position to finesse West for the jack of spades subsequently.

When East's jack drops under the queen, South can actually make a slam if he refuses to take the trump finesse, for subsequent finesses against West's king of spades will provide a parking place for declarer's small diamond on the fourth spade. If South chooses to take a second round finesse for the queen of hearts, West can give his partner a spade ruff, however, the ace of diamonds becomes the third and last trick for the defense.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Cut Them Off!

DEAR ABBY: We have a telephone and our next-door neighbors have none. When they first moved in, they asked if they could use our phone. Thinking it would be only a short while before they had theirs connected, I said certainly. It has been a year and they are still using ours. There are five of them who use it, including a teen-ager who makes one call after another, some of them lasting 30 or 40 minutes. These people can afford their own phone, Abby, as three in the family work. I've thought of taking the receiver off the hook and saying it is out of order, but I hate to lie. Can you suggest something? —B. S. M.

DEAR B. S. M.: Some people have so much gall they should be divided into three parts. Tell these clods that you have a ONE-PARTY line — and you are the party!

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when your steady boy friend tells you that he thinks it would be best if you dated other boys, and he thinks he should date other girls? We didn't have a fight or anything like that, and I thought we were perfect for each other. We have gone steady for five months, one week and four days. Should I break up with him for good? He is 17 and so am I. —CRYING MY EYES OUT

DEAR CRYING: Dry your tears and date others, honey. I think he has already "broken up" with you.

DEAR ABBY: Regrettably, the public doesn't know the difference between wild pigeons which fly around uncontrolled, making a mess, and the domesticated variety, which is kept under sanitary conditions and is not a nuisance to neighbors. Domestic pigeons do not carry diseases! During World War One and Two, carrier (or racing) pigeons saved thousands of lives, as they have in other disasters. Abby, if there is reincarnation, I am returning as a pigeon, and all those uniformed pigeon haters who condemn all pigeons had better watch out. You may print this, together with my signature. —BILL (WILD) FRAME, MARION, INDIANA

DEAR ABBY: You would be doing a tremendous service if you would print in your column the answer to a question that has been the source of many harsh words in this household. What does "PERSONAL" mean on the envelope of a letter? —"D" IN TOPEKA

DEAR "D": It is a reminder that the letter is just that—"personal"—and not community property, as mail is regarded in some households.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MONUMENT TO VEGETABLE

HIRSCHORN, Germany (AP) — One of the only vegetables honored with a monument is the potato, which is commemorated here with a plaque that reads: "To God and Francis Drake, who brought to Europe for the everlasting benefit of the poor, the Potato."

The potato, acknowledged as a native of the Americas, was known as a staple in the Indian diet long before white setters set foot there.

Make Delicious Brownies With Wheat Germ, No Flour

Did you ever make chocolate brownies without flour? Well, if you haven't, here's your chance. And are they good!

These are wheat germ brownies and they are the best possible for more reasons than their rich chocolate flavor, moist chewy texture and generous amount of walnuts. The plus is the nutrition provided by wheat germ with its wealth of good quality protein, B vitamins, iron, vitamin E and other nutrients.

These brownies are great for the youngsters, who'll gobble them up, and they'll be ideal additions to lunch boxes. But those are "Leftovers." Serve them first as a dinner dessert with a dollop of whipped cream.

WHEAT GERM BROWNIES

3 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate
4 tablespoons (½ stick) butter
2 large eggs
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup wheat germ
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Start heating oven to 350 degrees F. Grease an 8-inch square pan. Melt chocolate and butter over low heat or hot water. Cool. Beat eggs until light, adding sugar gradually. Add chocolate mixture and stir until blended. Add wheat germ and walnuts. Mix well. Stir in vanilla. Pour batter into prepared pan and spread evenly. Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares. Makes 16 brownies.

WHEAT GERM BROWNIES — These Brownies are made entirely without flour—with wheat germ used as a substitute.

NYLON MYSTERY SOLVED

NEW YORK (AP) — An atmospheric fluke caused a rash of runs in women's nylons in the city recently, according to the Department of Air Pollution Control. The guilty agent was nitrogen dioxide gas released during blasting operations by a construction company working in the downtown area. Because of the damp, heavy air on that day, the gas hovered near the surface instead of being dissipated. When a sufficient pocket of it touched a stocking, it dissolved some of the chemical elements and "laddered" the stocking.

Rainy Day Fun: Make Prune Peanut Clusters. Simply melt semi-sweet chocolate and stir in chopped prune and chopped peanuts. Drop by spoonfuls onto foil or waxed paper. Let cool. Eat with delight.

Rebel Gunfire Breaks Out in Syrian City

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Gunfire broke out in the central Syrian city of Hamah today and the government ordered troops to bombard houses harboring rebels.

Syria's Socialist regime sealed off the city, 125 miles north of Damascus, by ordering a state of emergency and a 24-hour curfew until further notice.

Pancake Syrup: Thicken prune juice with a little cornstarch and pour as a hot syrup over pancakes or waffles. One teaspoon cornstarch blended into 1 cup juice does the trick.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

When I make instant powdered milk I double the strength and store it in my refrigerator. It takes up much less room! It also tastes better when it's a day old.

I then dilute this to the desired strength with some cold ice water when ready to serve.
—Mae Beckham

Dear Mae:

I never thought of doing this! We all know that when powdered milk is made up, it should be kept cold since it tastes better when it's cold. But I never thought of making it double strength and then diluting it with ice water. Bless you, honey child. Look at the space you saved us in our refrigerator. —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here's a fine way for making attractive and inexpensive curtains for kitchen or bath with little care required.

I use two large striped or printed bath towels to match the decor. Fold over about a 2 inch portion at the top of each towel and stitch a hem for the rod to go through. Then trim this fold and the bottom of towel with ball fringe, ribbon, etc., and you've got a cute individual curtain.

This can be popped into the washer and dryer with no ironing needed!

The small towels or washcloths make excellent bibs for tots.

Cut out a circle for the neck and trim with what-have-you and add a snap or gripper. They're attractive, inexpensive, need little care, and they make great gifts for showers for expectant mothers because they don't have to be ironed . . .
—Mrs. T. V. Valvoda

Letter of Laughter

How does one remove scratches from a mirror?

My little 9-year-old helper rubbed sandpaper across the face of the mirror!

Perhaps it's better that way. After all, when one is over 39 it's best "not" to see ourselves too clearly! —Helen Hiza

Dear Heloise:

I remove rust stains from my linoleum, (caused by metal cabinets and the dust and dirt that collects around the base) by just using a soft steel wool pad (fine steel wool) and household scouring powder.

Presto, the rust marks disappeared like magic. Unbelievably simple and no damage to the surface. This method was recommended by my local floor covering company. —Hazel

Dear Heloise:

My girlfriend recently had a baby shower and instead of throwing away all the pretty paper wrappings, she lined the baby's chest of drawers with the larger pieces of the gift wrappings.

It looks colorful and cute to see the drawers with this instead of the usual plain shelf paper. This idea also saves a few pennies and we're all for that— Dorolyn Shulse

Dear Heloise:

When ironing pillowcases, lay them "lengthwise" on ironing board. This allows you a greater space before having to move them; just fold after ironing both sides. Then fold pairs together, it's much simpler than to pick up mates. —Mrs. Ira Haines

Dear Heloise:

I am sure that almost everyone who has used masking tape finds that after it has been on hand for a long time it becomes very difficult to unroll.

I place my roll of "stuck" tape in a low oven, no higher than 300 degrees, until the tape becomes normal again. The tape becomes easy to unroll yet the heat did no damage whatsoever to the tape. —Stanley C. Petniunas

Population of Cuba Said at Record High

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba's population was reported at a record high today despite a steady exodus of refugees.

The Cuban Economists Association in Exile said the birth rate has climbed so much that Cuba will have 7,700,000 inhabitants by late 1964.

Cuba's last census, in 1953, was 5,829,029. The figure was estimated at 7 million when Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over in 1959. More than 300,000 Cubans have gone into exile since then.

Changes Made In Armed Forces Day Agenda

The Armed Forces Day committee of the Colorado Springs announced two major changes in the Armed Forces Day agenda.

The first change concerns the starting time of the parade on May 16. The parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. instead of the previously announced kickoff hour of 11 a.m.

In an effort to facilitate movement of the large troop formations and long flatbed trailers, a drastic alteration in the original parade route has been made. The marchers and floats will now converge in the vicinity of Colorado College and move south on Tejon Street to the terminus at Vermijo Street.

This straight route is designed to help the parade participants maintain proper interval and continuity. As a fringe benefit, the route will tie up fewer main traffic arteries and thus provide viewers with easy access to the line of march.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP)—Cigarette stocks were strong and airlines were weak in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Motors had a thinly higher edge. Rails, utilities, steels and chemicals were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 305.0 with industrials up .7, rails unchanged and utilities up .1.

Control Data gained 3. Xerox more than a point. Polaroid and U. S. Smelting added a point each. IBM lost a point.

President Gets Report on Last Ditch Rail Talks

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gets a report today on the last-ditch railroad bargaining talks he arranged in an effort to avert a nationwide strike.

Johnson will hear from federal mediators what was originally scheduled as a report on "the progress and the effectiveness" of the first five days of the emergency talks following a 15-day strike postponement.

A highly cautious White House spokesman Tuesday refrained from even referring to it as a "progress" report.

"There is nothing thus far that in any way could be characterized as either progress or a set-back," he said.

The White House went to considerable pains to deny published reports that the talks could be described as optimistic.

"To characterize what is happening either in terms of optimism or pessimism is a disservice not only to the negotiations themselves but to accurate reporting," the spokesman said.

No specific time was set for the mediators' report to Johnson but most of the President's official morning schedule was routine and there was a big gap between 12:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m.

This led to speculation that the mediators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, might make their report sometime in the early afternoon.

"I want to make it clear that I do not know whether . . . the mediators will be able to say that progress has been made in the sense of 'we have moved within 10 feet of a solution' or 'we have moved within 13 feet of a solution,'" the spokesman said.

"I have no idea in the world, and I don't think the mediators would at this point, and I do not think the participants on either side would."

The negotiators and mediators were to meet in joint session at 9 a.m., the White House said.

The emergency talks are aimed at achieving in 15 days a settlement that the government, railroads and unions have failed to obtain in nearly five years of the dispute over wage structure and working conditions.

All other procedures under the law have been exhausted, and Johnson does not now have the power to order a halt or a postponement of a strike.

The President won the 15-day postponement just before some 200,000 engineers, firemen, switchmen, conductors and brakemen were to strike on nearly 200 railroads at 12:01 a.m. last Friday.

Deadline for U.S. Tax Returns Is Midnight Tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Midnight tonight is the witching hour for an estimated 9 million Americans filing last - minute 1963 federal income tax returns.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) was braced for a flood of late returns today. It was estimated that nearly one-seventh of all the returns the IRS is expecting—9 million —would pour into tax offices before the midnight deadline.

Returns must be postmarked by midnight tonight if the taxpayer is to avoid interest and penalty charges. Those prevented from filing on time for some reason may get an extension from their local tax office.

Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., believes that the least the government can do for the taxpayers is to allow him to mail in his return postage-free. He estimated it would cost the government between $3 million and $4 million.

"Most private creditors show their customers the courtesy of a self-return, pre-paid envelope, and it occurs to me that such a concession might mitigate the agony of this annual experience," Rhodes said, adding that he planned to introduce legislation to that effect.

DENVER (UPI)—Tests were being conducted on Dist. Atty. Bert Keating today to determine the cause of chest pains which he complained of Sunday. Keating's wife, Elva, said a heart condition was not involved, but that he was suffering from a severe chest cold. Keating entered General Rose Hospital.

City Approves New Art Gallery At Meet Tuesday

Colorado Springs willl have a new art gallery but it's not certain that it will have a new taxicab company.

Council Tuesday granted Leroy Hibbitts permission to use a present residence at 720 N. Nevada Ave. for a home occupation use.

Hibbitts said he planned to turn the first floor of the three story building into an art gallery which will house original works of art including sculptures. He said that he plans to bring in special exhibitions of European painters as well as American.

The principal block in the otherwise routine action was whether the business was commercial enough to have to remodel the structure to meet fire code requirements for commercial businesses.

After a long debate, council decided it was not and agreed to let the gallery be installed without the remodeling work.

Melvin J. Denton asked the city for permission to operate a new taxi-cab service in the city.

He was told that they would have to get permission from the Public Utilities Commission before coming to the city for a license. Mayor Harry Hoth said that if Denton got a PUC license for his Checker Cabs, he would not have to come before council for city licenses.

Two Personal Injury Suits Filed Tuesday

Two personal injury suits were filed in District Court Tuesday.

The first for $35,000 has been brought by Robert Jerry Prijatel, Ely, Minn. against Glen Edward Gile, 3015 N. Prospect St.

According to the complaint, the plaintiff received permanent facial disfigurement when Gile drove a car into another in which the plaintiff was a passenger at the intersection of Tejon and Dale Streets, Nov. 3 of last year.

The second suit has been brought by Marilyn Jones against Sears Roebuck and is for $21,251.

It is alleged the plaintiff fractured a leg and arms at the store in Southgate Shopping Center July 1, 1963 when she tripped over the projecting base of a defectively constructed platform which was being used as a stand for a mannequin.

HELD FOR OWN SAFETY

BOULDER (UPI)—Police said Tuesday they were holding Ralph Weller, 29, of Eldorado Springs to insure his safety as a witness in pending marijuana cases. Weller made the request that he be jailed after he was shot in the side Monday— although he said he was cleaning a gun which went off accidentally. Officials said Weller told them he had been threatened twice and beaten once since the arrest of 12 persons in narcotics raids last February. Nine are University of Colorado students.

Early Dip Seen Likely in Steel Demand This Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Busy steel mills have played a big part in boosting today's economy to record levels. But some are now warning that the industry might be in for an early summer.

Output normally dips from June to September for a number of reasons, such as vacations that close more customers' plants each year. But this time there are some added ones that might advance the timetable.

There are rumors that the auto makers are planning an earlier changeover to new models. That would mean closing down auto plants for a while and changing the schedule for delivery of steel. Demand for steel would then slacken a bit earlier than usual since less would be needed for this year's models.

Still more uncertain a prospect is how upcoming labor negotiations with the autoworkers union might affect dealers' buying of this year's models. There is some talk of a possible buildup in stocks as a hedge against the chance of a strike.

An auto strike in itself would affect the steel industry quickly and drastically, since Detroit is a major customer.

Steel salesmen also are increasingly up against new thinking by customers on inventories. Most users now are playing cautious and keeping stocks to a minimum. They know that steel shortages are most unlikely. They can wait to see how their own prospects look in the fall without putting in orders in late spring or early summer.

Thus it is assumed that most orders the mills are now getting, and that are keeping them going at a highly prosperous pace, are for use by the customers in the spring months.

And inventory thinking also is based on knowledge that if steel somehow should get hard to come by quickly, various substitutes are available for a large number of end uses.

First National Board Approves 2-1 Stock Split

H. Chase Stone, president, announced today that the First National Bank's board of directors has voted approval of a 2-for-1 split of the bank's capital stock. The action, requiring shareholders' approval, will be voted upon at a special meeting of shareholders at 5 p.m. Tuesday, May 5.

The contemplated dividend increase, not requiring Shareholders approval, will result in a 25 per cent increase over the June dividend paid a year ago. It is anticipated that the new schedule will call for a quarterly dividend payment of 25 cents per share on the new shares.

If approved by the shareholders the stock split action will authorize the issuance of 150,000 additional shares, and increase the total number of outstanding shares to 300,000. At the same time the par value will be reduced from $10 per share to $5 per share. This change in capital structure of the First National Bank will leave the capital stock at its present figure of $1 million. The bank surplus is $2 million.

Stone, in commenting on the proposed split and dividend increase, noted "through this move we hope to further broaden our base of stock ownership and pay the realistic quarterly dividend, which will be consistent with the increased earnings and growth of the First National Bank."

Steer Hunt Staged At Albany, Georgia

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — County Commissioner Gil Barrett knew there was danger when a voice on his car radio said "Shoot to kill."

"I'll try to hit him in the front legs," the radio blared Tuesday.

Barrett said he realized then it wasn't a man the police were chasing. A berserk Brahma steer had escaped a compound at a packing plant.

Barrett joined in the chase and shot the steer once with a carbine. The steer rushed him and from nearby a policeman fired another carbine three times. The steer fell dead.

"I'm glad he didn't miss," said Barrett. "That steer weighed every bit of 1,300 pounds."

Chimpanzees use a large variety of calls, among them a low-pitched "hoo" of greeting, according to National Geographic.

Brazil Promised More U.S. Aid if It Cooperates

By ARY MOLEON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported ready today to provide substantial economic aid to Brazil if President Humberto Castello Branco adopts effective belt-tightening measures.

Castello Branco takes his presidential oath today. He has been given the most sweeping powers ever granted a Brazilian chief executive.

The United States and other sources of financial aid are holding up almost $500 million dollars in assistance to Brazil due to runaway inflation there.

Fiscal reform is regarded in Washington as one of Brazil's most urgent needs.

The United States and other sources held up economic aid last year when now ousted President Joao Goulart failed to fulfill a pledged economic stabilization program.

Washington withheld $224.5 million for balance of payments support. European countries and Japan were expected to produce an additional $100 million in aid but a Brazilian mission to Europe failed to get it shortly before Gouart's downfall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said at his last news conference the United States is ready to work very closely with the new government of Brazil in tackling Brazil's difficult problems of economic and social development.

A first move is expected with the appointment of a new Brazilian ambassador to Washington.

Nixon Proposes Stronger U.S. Power Attitude

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, arriving home today from a 3½-week business trip to a number of Asian and European countries, said the United States should adopt a "harder and stronger" attitude toward Communist aggression in Asia.

The former vice president, speaking to newsmen at John F. Kennedy International Airport, criticized Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Nixon, a Republican, said Fulbright recently called for a more "flexible, softer line" toward communism.

"We should strengthen our policy toward Communist activities in Asia rather than move along the lines suggested by Sen. Fulbright," Nixon said.

Nixon, who is frequently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination this year although he says he is not a candidate, told newsmen he "will give some major recommendations with regard to United States foreign policy" in speeches to the New York Chamber of Commerce Thursday and the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, D. C., Saturday.

Teamwork Spells Success For 'Operation Crossover'

Bridges are made of wood and metal—but they are built by men. For the men of Ft. Carson's 5th Infantry Division (Mech) 7th Engineer Battalion, the month of April meant "Operation Crossover."

A few days before April began, elements of the 7th, led by Lt. Col. Cecil C. Baldwin, battalion commander, moved in convoy through mountain passes bound for the Grand Junction-Fruita, Colorado area.

Their mission was to construct bridges across the Colorado River. "Operation Crossover" was a massive training exercise for the soldier-engineers preparing for Exercise Desert Strike in the Mohave Desert later this spring.

The 5th Division, the 7th's parent unit, will cross the Colorado River enroute to exercise area in California.

During "Crossover" each engineer company in the battalion constructed an M4T6 bridge—pontoon bridge using inflatable rubber floats with metal roadways.

They also trained with assult boats and assembled tactical rafts, used in transporting heavy equipment across the water during combat situations.

The key word during the operation was "teamwork". Engineer units depend on all soldiers working together as a team to perform a task. With tons of specialized heavy equipment and hundreds of components the 7th Engineers organized themselves into teams and began their work.

Yards of thick rubber pontoons were smoothed out on the ground and soon they began to take shape as nearby compressors pumped them full of air. Drivers maneuvered their trucks laden with road ways and crossmembers into position.

As the metal pieces for a section were laid in place, men with sledge hammers were everywhere, fitting heavy metal pins and pounding them home.

As each section was completed, a waiting crance hoisted it into the water where bridge erection boats pushed them gently to the opposite shore where the bridge was gradually taking shape, building gradually to the assembly shore.

The boats, piloted by other engineers, are powered by 102 horsepower Grey Marine Express engines. They act as small tug boats, holding sections in place while men on the structure secure them.

Throughout the operation, weather presented intermittent adverse conditions, pouring occasional rain mixed with snow on the area.

The Grand Junction-Fruita area was selected beacuse the terrain presents problems similar to those the engineers will encounter on Exercise Desert Strike. The Colorado River at Fruita is fast-flowing and wide.

Local spectators (which every contruction unit, military and civilian seems to attract) watched from both banks as life jacket-clad soldiers manhandled the heavy metal pieces into position. An M4T6 bridge takes roughly nine hours to construct, depending on weather conditions and the experience of the workers.

According to Col. Baldwin, the exercise could not have been possible without the cooperation of private landowners whose land they used.

But in the last analysis it was the team effort of the 7th Engineer Battalion that spelled success for "Operatin Crossover."

Bridge-Tunnel Completed at Chesapeake Bay

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) —A roadway that spans Chesapeake Bay 30 feet above the waves—and twice dips to the bay bottom—opens today.

The bridge-tunnel erases the last major water barrier on one of the East Coast's main north south arteries.

The $200-million, 17.6-mile long bridge-tunnel is the first direct link between Virginia's Eastern Shore and the rest of the state. The bridge-tunnel will eliminate a ferry service that can trace its predecessors to 1607.

Motorists using the Ocean Highway, main route from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., will find the new crossing clips 90 minutes off their travel time.

The project, which required 3½ years to build, was financed by $200 million in revenue toll bonds. It will be operated by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel Commission, a state agency.

The American Society of Civil Engineers has designated the new crossing one of the "seven engineering wonders of the world," selected among 107 projects in 26 countries.

The crossing consists of 12 miles of concrete trestle; two tunnels, each a mile long; two steel bridges; four man-made islands that anchor the tunnels, and 1½ miles of earthfill causeway.

The northern terminal is at Wise Beach on the southwestern tip of the Eastern Shore. The southern terminal is at Chesapeake Beach.

One tunnel dips below Thimble Shoak Channel, the other beneath Chesapeake Channel.

300 Miners to End Tennessee Coal Mine Strike

By HAMILTON GREGORY

WHITEWELL, Tenn. (AP) — Some 300 coal miners will return to work soon, ending southeast Tennessee's longest and bloodiest coalfield strike, a union official says.

It will be an economic stimulant for this Appalachian Mountain area's struggle against poverty.

Albert Pass, secretary - treasurer of District 19 of the United Mine Workers Union, announced Tuesday that five locals had signed contracts with operators who are subleasing land.

Stamper Collins of Oak Ridge, head of Whitwell Mining Co., said he had signed a contract and planned to hire 50 men initially. He said the dozen men who sublease land from him may have signed contracts also.

The strike began Dec. 26, 1962, when 600 miners walked out to back up demands for new agreements.

Violence has stemmed chiefly from operations of Grundy Mining Co., a small firm which has continued to operate with the help of court orders forbidding UMW picketing. The 150 Grundy employes are members of the rival Southern Labor Union.

Bombings, snipings and similar incidents were regular nightly occurrences during the past year. Violence reached a peak last summer when three men were slain.

Pass said the new coal mines had signed the 1964 UMS national contract. In negotiations prior to the strike, operators contended they could not pay the UMW's scale and compete with mechanized western Kentucky mines.

The strike was called to win approval of the UMW's scale of $23.44 to $26.40 per day, plus 40 cents per ton royalty to the UM welfare fund. The operators countered with $20.12 per day, the government minimum wage, plus 8-12 cents royalty and company-paid insurance.

Even if all striking miners return to work, the coal produced will be only a trickle compared to what poured from the mountains in the days after World War II when 4,000 miners toiled in southeast Tennessee.

Hundreds of men, aside from the strikers, are jobless because mountain mines were closed in the face of mechanized competition from the central Plains states.

Though Kuwait, sandwiched between Iraq and Saudi Arabia, covers only 6,000 square miles, it is the world's fourth largest oil producer.

EARLY WARNING SYSTEM

AYAMONTE, Spain (UPI) — A barber here was badly frightened by an earth tremor in this southern Spanish town last month so he rigged up his own earthquake early warning system.

The barber heard that hens somehow felt that an earthquake was about to occur moments before it actually struck, so he bought a fat fowl and tied one of her legs to his bed.

When he came home last night all he found was a brown paper bag containing the hen's feathers.

JAKARTA (AP) — Foreign correspondent Robert K. McCabe of Newsweek, who was jailed for 28 hours on charges of subversion this week, left Jakarta today for his base in Hong Kong.

McCabe was arrested by Indonesian military police after writing an advisory to his editors saying there might be widespread violence in Jakarta on the day President Sukarno spoke at a rally for anti-Malaysia volunteers last Monday.

Indian Scout Carries On Ancient Tradition

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — The Kiowa Indians' gift to the U.S. Army is a chief named Watching-a-Star who carries on the tradition of his grandfather, an Indian scout.

Watching-a-Star won his sergeant's stripes at nearby Ft. Benning Tuesday. His grandfather, Chief I-See-O, held the permanent rank of sergeant and served for more than 40 years after joining the Army in 1874.

Watching-a-Star's past is spoken of in hushed tones at Ft. Benning. He was in the U.S. Navy for 10 years before he joined the Army nearly 2 years ago.

Feasibility Of Fighter Rotation Proven

Project "White Shoes," a joint exercise of the Air Defense Command and the Alaskan Air Command has proved the operational feasibility of rotating fighter interceptors to provide a vital area with an advanced defensive capability.

This concept was tested and proven when Air Defense Command deployed — on a rotational basis — Convair F-106 Delta Dart interceptors to the 49th state in July, 1963.

The delta wing configured interceptors — capable of speeds of more than 1500 mph — gave the Alaskan Air Command added punch to its air defense force which includes the F-102 Delta Dagger supersonic interceptors and long range radar systems.

In July, 1963, a fighter interceptor detachment, made up of units from the 498th and 318th Fighter Interceptor Squadrons, located at McChord AFB, Wash., was deployed to Elmendorf AFB with support personnel and equipment. Lt. Col. Eugene L. Surowiec, 43, of San Diego, Calif., led this detachment of F-106 Delta Darts from Washington to Alaska. He is a veteran of more than 20 years Air Force service.

During the first six month period the unit made approximately 150 intercept missions. The detachment also attained a record of no air or ground accidents during this same period.

In February, 1964, Air Defense Command established a permanent support detachment in Alaska. This detachment is made up of F-106 Delta Dart maintenance, jet mechanics and other technicians from the 325th Fighter Wing at McChord AFB, Wash.

In March 1964, the initial aircraft and crews were replaced with F-106s from Air Defense Command's 1st Fighter Wing located at Selfridge AFB, Mich. The detachment from the 71st Fighter Interceptor Sq., Selfridge AFB, Made the longest deployment ever attempted — a distance of more than 3,900 miles — by Delta Dart interceptors.

This group, led by Major Clark J. Abbott, 41, of Little Rock, Ark., made the historic flight to Alaska with stops at Minot AFB, N. D. and McChord AFB, Wash. Major Abbott is a veteran of more than 20 years Air Force service.

Barry to Seek Boost in Vote In Illinois

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP)— Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, seeking a boost in his drive for the Republican presidential nomination, tests his vote getting appeal today in the Illinois presidential preference primary election.

More than a million Republicans, lured by a bitter battle for the gubernatorial nomination, were expected to go to the polls. Democrats predicted a turnout of 900,000 although Gov. Otto Kerner was unopposed in his bid for renomination.

In the Republican contest for governor, Charles H. Percy, 44, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co., who is making his first bid for public office, opposes State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37, a supporter of Goldwater. Percy has made no endorsement for president.

Polls will be open 12 hours, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. There are 5,152,335 registered voters in the state, with about half the total in Cook County (Chicago). The weather forecast was for sunny skies with possible showers in the afternoon.

Goldwater shared the ballot with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. No other major Republican presidential hopeful entered the Illinois primary, although some write-in support was expected for Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Richard M. Nixon.

Backers of Mrs. Smith said they would be pleased with 10 per cent of the Republican turnout. The 66-year-old senator, the first woman to seek the nation's highest office, campaigned against what she called the "apparent Goldwater monopoly" in the state.

Goldwater, who finished second to Lodge in last month's New Hampshire primary election, has made only two campaign appearances in Illinois, both in Chicago, since announcing for the presidency Jan. 3.

Despite local enthusiasm, observers insisted write-in votes would not be a major factor in today's election. Many county clerks said they would not immediately count the write-in ballots. Other clerks said they would count only the ballots cast for presidential candidates who filed for office, Sens. Goldwater and Smith.

Thomas Balle, 32, who headed the write-in campaign for Lodge, said there will be "a tremendous vote not only for Lodge but also for Nixon and Rockefeller."

"I don't know if they'll be counted (by the county clerks)," Balle said, "but I know they'll be cast."

Spokesmen for the Rockefeller and Nixon forces said they expected little write-in support for their candidates.

"Illinois is a big state and it takes a high-powered campaign to pull off a write-in vote," said one Nixon backer, attorney Robert C. Walbaum, Springfield, Ill.

D&B School Scouts Swim In AFA Pool

A swim in the Community Center swimming pool highlighted a visit to the Air Force Academy Saturday afternoon by 26 Explorer Scouts and prospective scouts from the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind.

Eighteen of the group, ranging in age from 14 to 20, are members of Explorer Post No. 7 in Colorado Springs.

They were accompanied by Jay A. Barker, Explorer advisor, and Richard Smrz (correct) of the Colorado School for the Deaf and Blind.

The scouts and would-be scouts, who are from all parts of Colorado, visited the Academy under an Air Force program of assistance to scout groups. The tour was arranged through Capt. James Banks, Boy Scouts of America project officer at the Academy.

Explorer Scouts "in the swim" were Rafel Gonzales, Bill Krohn, Robert Shaw, Rudy Sanchez, John Chapman, Paul Dater, Eldon Raglund, Thomas Baker, Tom Williams, Danny Ward, Ralph Miera, Leroy Cooper, Don Williams, Walter Von Feldt, John Anderson, Leslie Bruening, Billy Grimaldo and Eugene Belew.

Prospective Explorers were Bob Joe Martinez, Larry O'Dell, Joe Doherty, Larry Angel, Sammy Jackson, Donald Sutton, Christy Shotwell and Steven Johnson.

Winds Damage Wheat, Barley East of Here

High winds which halted traffic on East Highway 24 Sunday did more than stretch the patience of motorists to the breaking point. Both winter wheat and barley, which had benefited from improved moisture the previous week, suffered extensive damage in many areas of the Eastern Plains.

The Colorado Crop and Livestock Reporting Service stated this week that winter wheat and barley have suffered considerably more winter kill than was suspected earlier. Both crops are greening in all areas except in Northwest Colorado.

Onion planting in the Arkansas Valley was almost completed as last week ended. About half of the expected potato acreage in the same area has been planted, and melons and tomatoes are in the process of being seeded for the early market.

Ranges greened considerably during the past week as the topsoil moisture supply improved. More precipitation is needed, however, particularly in the southeast. This will be necessary if the range land is to have an adequate carrying capacity during the coming grazing season.

Drought conditions in 1963 severely damaged range grasses with the result that considerably more moisture is still required. Some wheat fields are still being pastured by livestock on the Eastern Plains. Winter pasture is short in all areas and extensive supplemental feeding is needed.

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Welcome to Ampex

Out at Wooten Road and Highway 24 east of town, the Ampex construction project is now getting underway. A new, one-story, air-conditioned plant, having a floor space of better than 85,000 square feet, is already a-building.

Into this plant sometime after June, will pour ultimately some 650 persons who will be trained and will begin producing some of the famous Ampex products: the 351 console recorder, the 602 professional recorder, the F-65, designed for educational use, the PR-10, designed for classroom and industrial usage.

As production problems are ironed out, additional products will be added to the line-up. Last year, as a result of research and development, Ampex added some 50 new products to its output. The bulk of all its research has been managed with private money. In the past five years, Ampex has spent $45 million of its own money in design and development. In the next five years it plans to spend another $65 million of its own funds. Additionally it will have some government money put into its research field.

We were particularly impressed when we learned the reasoning behind the selection of Colorado Springs as a site for the new Ampex plant.

William E. Roberts, chief executive officer of the firm, says that here in our town, basic costs can be kept down, technical talent is available, there's a good political climate (compared to many other places) and especially there is a favorable labor market.

Said Roberts: "This area has burgeoned as a potential technical manpower pocket."

He commented further that he had seen technicians trained at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston "fly over Chicago" in order to get to attractive educational centers on the west coast. He referred to Colorado Springs as a potential education center. With Ampex here in Colorado Springs, there is going to be increased interest in this region.

Roberts went on: "I'm tired of negative labor situations and welcome a governor who will seek out industries and free enterprise. This made a great impact on me."

Although Roberts didn't mention labor unions, as such, there is no doubt that his reference to a favorable labor market relates in part to the known fact that labor unions have not been particularly influential in Colorado. Businessmen and industrialists who are as farseeing and as productive as those who head up Ampex's vast operations have enough trouble on their hands in the daily job of producing without all of the unnecessary nonsense and grief which labor bosses so love to dish up.

As the new Ampex plant becomes operative, Colorado Springs will be joining hands with productive operations around the world. Ampex already has plants in Reading, England; Hong Kong; Alberta, Canada and Annecy, France.

It has American domestic plants in Redwood City and Los Angeles, California; Houston, Texas; Elk Grove Village, Illinois and Bloomfield, New Jersey.

Roberts sees the job of production as one in which the entire world is a market place. He says: "Our competitor is the lowest cost producer of comparable products in the world whether he lives in Japan or India. We are living in a one-world approach (economically) . . . tariffs are going to drop."

It is a great satisfaction to all of us in Colorado Springs who long to see this city take its rightful place as a producer of useful things, to have so fine and far-seeing a plant as Ampex located here.

Welcome. And may your years be long and profitable.

Most Rewarding

There is nothing more frustrating than trying to control the energy of other people. It can't be done. There is nothing more rewarding than learning how to control one's self. This is the open door to freedom and progress.

The General's Last Communique

General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur, after a long and distinguished career as one of the greatest military men the nation has ever produced, is now resting in his grave. But his voice, through the medium of a long-silent reporter, has issued from the tomb in somewhat strident cadences.

We confess to a bit of personal glee in some of the remarks the general saw fit to express ten years ago. His comments regarding certain persons in high places had the merit of knocking the stuffings out of some rather pompous jackanapes.

Also, his remarks about the fact that his conduct of the war in Korea had been sandbagged from on high provided only late verification for things many Americans have known for years. It was a good thing to get these remarks into the record.

But we confess that we were not one hundred per cent enchanted with what the general had had to say. And we are referring specifically to two things: his praise of former President Truman for "guttering" us into the Korean War; his accusation against the British as the source of his betrayal.

Let us take these items one at a time.

When North Koreans crossed the 38th parallel, they provoked the war. Let there be no misunderstanding of that fact. But we should recall that only a few months previous to that tragic date, Dean Acheson, our then Secretary of State, had made a speech in which he outlined the periphery of America's line of defense. That periphery, either by design or neglect, omitted Korea.

With the public utterance from our own Department of State that America would not defend Korea, the North Korean Communists acted. So much is history.

Mr. Truman, as the general correctly recalled, was back in Missouri at the time. But in contravention of the Constitution, Mr. Truman invoked the United Nations and virtually on his own cognizance plunged this country into the Korean conflict, not as a national war, but as a police action under U.N. auspices.

The Constitution specifies that war can be declared only by action on the part of the American Congress. Using the U.N., a treaty organization, Mr. Truman personally committed us to the conflict. In fact, in certain circles following this event, the Korean "police action" became known as "Mr. Truman's War."

That this unconstitutional action on the part of a "gutter fighter" would be praised by General MacArthur, is slightly inconsistent, to say the least.

And that opens up the second exception we took to the general's observations. It is possible that MacArthur never did quite understand the United Nations.

There is, as we all well know, an agency within the United Nations called the Security Council. This agency has five permanent members: representatives from Britain, France, Nationalist China, the U.S.A. and the Soviet Union. This is provided in the Charter of the U.N.

General MacArthur, heading up "U.N." forces in Korea, was working directly under the Security Council. That is to say, his battle plans, overall strategy, as well as specific tactics, were made available to the Security Council. On that council sat a Russian general, thoroughly in sympathy with the cause of the North Korean Communists.

General MacArthur well knew that his plans became available to his enemies. But he was apparently unable to recognize that the Security Council itself through the person of a Russian general, formed a ready-made channel for betrayal regardless of what Britain or any other of our "allies" did.

Now, Britain has had its share of spies and traitors as ensuing years have shown. And it is entirely possible that some such defector passed information on to the Chinese Communists.

But we should not forget that the U.N. Security Council itself provided a built-in avenue of communication between the Soviet Union and the Korean war effort. And it is a little too much to believe that simply because Russia itself was not in the Korean war, her general refrained totally from the opportunity, readily at hand, to expand communist influence through North Korea and the Red Chinese.

Since comment will be rife for years over the MacArthur postmortem communique, we thought it incumbent to set the record straight.

We should beware of any war effort conducted through the United Nations Security Council. Perhaps if General MacArthur had refused utterly to accept a command from such an amorphous and mischief-making organization, the course of history would be other than it has been.

Doctors as Serfs

By RUSSELL KIRK

Throughout much of the world, governments and powerful organizations tend to treat physicians and surgeons as if they were — at best — mere civil servants. If this tendency continues, the public will saddle itself with the most shoddy medical treatment known since modern medicine developed in the seventeenth century.

In Belgium, just now, nearly all doctors are on a protest-strike against a new act of parliament that would discriminate against them cruelly, and reduce their incomes. According to the act, governmental regulations would determine physicians' fees, setting them lower than present charges. Doctors' incomes would be recorded at a central office, so subjecting them to higher income-taxes than other groups pay. And in this central bureau, every treatment of a patient would be on record, destroying the privacy and confidence of the relationship between doctor and patient. It is difficult to imagine a scheme smacking more of totalist bureaucracy — or better calculated to injure Belgian medical practice.

In Britain, doctors are bitterly objecting to the low pay they receive under the socialized National Health Service and to the lowered status and responsibility of the physician since medicine was socialized by the post-war Labour government. British doctors declare that they are bullied by bureaucrats and by neurotic, hypochondriac, and lazy patients. The general practitioner is becoming a mere "signpost to the hospital," compelled to crowd into hospital beds thousands of people who formerly would have been adequately cared for in their homes.

In the United States, the "Medicare" plan, now dormant in Congress but susceptible of quick revival, would be the first big step toward socialized medicine. The vast majority of American doctors energetically oppose the shallow slogans of "Medicare," knowing that their professional independence and responsibility and the whole character of medical practice in this country would be endangered by this ill-conceived notion of paying medical bills through the Social Security system, whether people really are in need of subsidized medicine or not.

Why this discrimination against doctors, of all people? The modern medical practitioner gives better service than ever before. Though many doctors have lucrative practices, also they work longer hours, undergo more nervous strain, and spend more years in training, than do the members of any other profession. They form, in some ways, the most honorable and intelligent class in modern society. Have we any right to convert physicians into serfs of the mass state?

If doctor's fees are to be regulated by the central government, why not regulate lawyers' fees, machinists' wages, stenographers' salaries, businessmen's incomes? If a dossier is to be kept on every doctor by a bullying civil service, why not snoop into the private affairs of every other profession and craft? Can it be that because doctors are a successful, diligent, self-respecting minority, too many people envy them, and would penalize them for their achievement — so killing the goose that lays the golden eggs? It is not merely racial and religious minorities that have their rights; occupations and classes have just prerogatives and rewards, too.

This columnist would not wish to be attended by a serf-doctor, ill-paid, harassed into bad temper, overworked by bureaucratic degree, treated by the state as suspect and greedy. Indeed, probably your servant — and you, gentle reader, in this all-too-possible degraded medical system of the near future — might not find even a serf-doctor. For what man of talent and integrity would choose to enter a profession so singled out for paralyzing regulation? In Soviet Russia, there long has existed a dismaying shortage of general practitioners, competent or incompetent; and this is the necessary consequence of bullying and meddling with a profession once free and honorable. Calling such a scheme "democratic" and incorporating it in an act of Congress or Parliament, does not alter the grim fact that servile medicine is bad medicine.

The American Way

The Daily Nightmare

By HARRY BROWNE

Would you like to contemplate a nightmare?

Imagine that the law appointed a group of childish, selfish, irresponsible men to make all of your economic decisions for you.

Not a very pleasant dream, is it?

And yet — this very day 535 such men are debating how $2,000 or so of your family's income is to be spent.

These men bear the title "congressmen" but they are mere mortal men — just like you and me.

They write and vote upon anti-trust laws that command large companies to quit serving their customers after they reach a certain size. They create minimum wage laws, tax rules, and pass judgment on over 10,000 economic decisions yearly.

What kind of supermen are these — who have been empowered to make such momentous decisions for the entire nation?

CHILDISHLY ANGRY

An Associated Press dispatch of March 14, 1964, provides the answer. It reports that congressmen from large cities were so bitter over the defeat of the bill to raise their own salaries that they vowed to kill the farm bills in retaliation.

Think about that.

The farm subsidy bills involve over $6 billion of our money — something like $150 per American family. The decision as to how this money of ours is to be spent will be made in a fit of anger!

Does it make you feel more secure to know that these are the men who are tinkering with our national economy — the men who can throw a million souls out of work at any time, just by raising the minimum wage — the men who can drive 10,000 businessmen into the streets by a simple change in a tax law?

Can you imagine how many congressional investigations of industry are sparked because some congressman had the nerve to turn down a campaign contribution?

It's pointless to argue that these men are no more human than the rest of us. The fact that they are mere mortal men should be proof enough that they don't possess the wisdom to run the lives of 180 million people.

Yet they do run our lives.

POWER TO DECIDE

The economic decisions of these men have brought our economy to a standstill. They have stifled incentive and created a new class of welfare aristocrats. They have made it virtually impossible to go into business without breaking laws.

They have reconfirmed the principle that every civilization in history has proven — that no economy can be successfully controlled by any ruler or rulers. Only free men, running their own lives, can make an economy work.

We must take this awesome power out of the hands of government and return it to the people where it belongs. When a free man makes an economic mistake, only he suffers. When Congress makes a mistake, an entire nation can fall.

Unless we quickly rediscover the benefits and inherent wisdom of the private enterprise system, the childish, tempestuous acts of mortal men will ruin us all.

Allen-Scott Report

Campaign By Georgia's Governor

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Alabama's Governor George Wallace is setting his political sights a lot higher than most Democratic party leaders and politicians realize.

By the time the Democratic national convention convenes in Atlantic City in August, the mild-speaking segregationist seeks to roll up one million votes in presidential primaries throughout the nation.

While publicly working to crystalize the opposition against civil rights legislation, Wallace's private political objective is to pile up this impressive vote total in Indiana (May 5) and Maryland (May 19), where his name is on the ballot, and from "write-ins" in Illinois (April 14), Massachusetts (April 28), Nebraska (May 12) and Oregon (May 14).

Wallace and his supporters are shooting for a "Lodge-type" surprise "write-in" in Oregon since this is the only primary where President Johnson's name appears on the ballot.

They are stressing that a sizable Oregon vote, along with impressive showings in other states, could have a major impact on the coming Democratic convention — especially the choice of the vice presidential candidate and the platform.

In private backstage talks since the Wisconsin primary, Wallace is personally expressing confidence that his million-vote goal is well within its grasp.

He argues that his campaign strategists in Maryland and Indiana report political conditions very similar to Wisconsin where he reaped over 260,000 votes. His plans are to pick up the remainder of his million votes from "write-ins" in other states.

If these political soundings are anywhere near correct, Wallace is convinced that the President and other Democratic leaders will have to listen to his voice at the convention—especially since the Kennedy-Johnson ticket won by less than 150,000 votes in 1960.

Wallace even hints that if his views are disregarded at the convention, he may be forced to bolt and form a third party designed to attract voters favoring his states' rights views.

THE WALLACE ICEBERG

Although no announcement was ever made, Wallace set his vote goal last September, basing it on the receipt of more than 1,300,000 "favorable" letters the past two years in his fight against the administration's civil rights proposal.

Originally Wallace planned to enter primaries in California, Wisconsin, Maryland and Indiana, since most of his mail outside the South came from those states. California was mysteriously dropped from the list after Wallace conferred with Governor "Pat" Brown in Washington during the Kennedy funeral.

While neither Wallace nor Brown will reveal what they discussed, one of Wallace's political advisers said the Alabama governor ruled out California on the basis of these talks, despite the fact that more "favorable" mail came from that state than any other.

Wallace hopes to score big in Maryland since neither Governor Millard Tawes nor Senator Daniel Brewster, who jumped into the presidential race after a call from President Johnson, has taken Wallace's bid seriously.

Until jolted by the Wisconsin primary results, Governor Tawes had limited his campaigning to "ducking" Wallace whenever he came into the state to campaign.

On Tawes' orders, state highway patrolmen escorting Wallace are making private reports on Wallace's campaign activities. One recent report noted the similarity of Wallace's dark eyebrows to those of former Vice President Nixon.

Wallace is using the long-distance phone to personally reach voters in both Maryland and Indiana. In one instance, he spent a half hour talking to a former supporter of Senator Estes Kefauver. Unable to convince him to join his campaign, the governor asked his wife to come to the phone to try to win him over.

In order to help Senator Brewster, the White House is offering both money and campaign workers from the Democratic National Committee to line up voters for the pro-Johnson slate of delegates headed by the Maryland senator.

POLITICAL FLASHES

Robert M. Mullen, chairman of the "Draft Lodge for President Committee," is forecasting a victory similar to that in New Hampshire for the former GOP vice presidential candidate in Oregon's May 15 primary. Mullen is so confident that he is writing Republican state chairmen and national committeemen, urging them to await the outcome of the primary before making known their preference. Mullen, a Washington, D.C., public relations man with offices in New York and abroad, earned his political wings barnstorming the country for former President Eisenhower before the 1952 convention.

Senator Edwin Mechem, R-N.M., who at San Francisco will head his state's delegation pledged to Senator Barry Goldwater, is privately saying that Governor Scranton, Pa., is his second choice. However, he feels that a Goldwater victory in the California primary will make him hard to stop.

Democratic senatorial candidates are quietly being urged to play up their party connections rather than issues in the coming campaign. That's the frank advice given them by Representative Norris Udall, D-Ariz., during a recent campaign "school." "People don't vote on issues but the party," Udall reported. "Candidates should use issues only for something to talk about. Stress your party associations."

It's All Over

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, PhD

In late 1960, I discussed the silver certificate - silver dollar situation at some length in a published column. In 1961 I mailed out about 100 copies of another article on the same subject to a list of correspondents, friends, associates and others who had expressed interest in this specific subject. Last summer I discussed the situation which became a thing of the past just a few days ago.

The silver dollar reserve has vanished. Silver dollars in circulation, in banks and in the hands of the people constitute the entire supply except for about three million in Washington, D.C., which the government decided not to sell for reasons which make not a lick of sense.

Supposedly, collectors suddenly were overcome by an urge to buy silver dollars but I suspect the word collector is used loosely. The truth of the matter is that quite a number of intelligent people began to feel a lack of confidence in the new $1 currency. Disturbed at the possibility that all silver certificates in circulation would be taken out of circulation, the silver dollar gained in importance. The truth of the matter is that silver certificates were being removed from circulation for several months. At least two news dispatches have stated that silver certificates will now be redeemed in silver bullion but I'll believe that when I see it and I can tell you right now I'll take a small chunk of silver bullion instead of a federal reserve bank note any day of the week.

Conversationally, some officials have stated their desire to mint more silver dollars but there's been no mention of the silver content which might be used in the new cart wheels IF Congress authorizes the minting. Isn't it strange how many unsound monetary actions may be taken without the consent of Congress, while rational behavior can only occur with the consent and approval of Congress which only acts to increase the size and cost and power of government at the expense of the people?

A great deal has been said about Nevada gambling establishments "using up" so many silver dollars because tourists take them home as souvenirs. Ten years ago tourists retained a few silver dollars to prove they'd been to Las Vegas or other gambling spa areas but they cashed in most of their hard money for bills. For the past couple of years, and more particularly during the last year, "tourists" have been going into Nevada banks to buy as much as $500 in silver dollars because they were losing faith in the currency. I'm not just whistling Dixie; I know people who have been doing exactly that and I know what motivates their action.

Government "experts" continue to bleat loud and long about a silver shortage which does not exist in fact except that if government does not buy silver, it will eventually run out of stock. There is no shortage of silver, per se. There are many reasons silver is not being mined actively but government controls and interference certainly discourage independent-thinking miners. And here again I'm not writing off the top of my head; I've talked with miners for the past three years.

The cure rests with the people, and I do not refer to elections. If the people stand still for such stuff, they will find themselves carrying stainless steel quarters before long and that will be just the beginning. A few other socialist governments have tried the stainless steel stuff on for size and the reaction has been such as to make them wary of minting steel coins in other denominations. If you want to make your thinking felt, don't add to the cost of government by writing to your representative; just refuse to accept federal reserve dollar bills from your bank. If you can't get silver dollars or silver certificates, ask for quarters and halves and dimes. Oddly enough, it will only take a little action of this kind, even in the big cities, to get the word back to Washington, particularly in this election year.

A good many thinking bankers are jittery right now, for more than one reason.

Yes, we would have as many silver dollars as we could buy if we had anything with which to buy silver dollars, but that's the way it goes.

Good luck and good health to you in Freedom.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question No. 479: "What is the cause of wars?"

Answer: That is a very important question for if we want to stop wars we had better first find out what causes wars. After giving it a great deal of thought, we have come to the conclusion that THE cause of wars is the belief by most people in a double or multiple standard of right. It is hard to imagine how there can be a double or multiple standard of right.

We believe that a double standard of right is no standard and that there is only one standard of right that applies equally to all individuals. The group or the state has no right that it does not get from the individual. The Declaration of Independence recognized this when it said, "governments derive their just power from the consent of the governed." And that means from the consent of the individual.

Now how does this double standard or multiple standard of right lead to wars? It leads to wars because this arbitrary man-made legislative standard permits some individuals, or some group, or the state to do things that no individual has a moral right to do. This in effect denies the truism that each man is owner of himself and no one else. He has a right to control his own creative action but he has no right to interfere with any other individual's creative action. This applies to each and every individual.

When the state or government attempts to do things that no individual has a moral right to do it is in effect stating that the state or government is superior to the individual. It is in effect contending that the individual gets his right from the state or government rather than from nature or from nature's god.

The Hebrews expressed this in the statement, "God is One." To us that means that there is only one standard of right that belongs equally to every individual. It means that each man should get all he produces. It means that no man is owner of another man. It means that the employer does not own his employes, nor do the employes own the employer. It means, in short, that all men have an equal right to help create values. It means a free and unhampered market and no interference with a free and unhampered market by any group like the labor union or the manufacturers' association or the National Chamber of Commerce.

If there were no protective tariffs or immigration restrictions, or quotas, or interference with the free market value of money, what would different nations have to fight about?

The Civil War was largely a result of compelling the producers of farm products of the South to sell on a world market and buy on a protective tariff market.

The result of this belief in a multiple standard, which is not a standard at all, is that the governments are now taking over one-third of what everyone produces, on an average, to use to do things that no individual has a moral right to do. It is the primary cause of unemployment and ill will and civil and world wide wars.

A nice illustration of this multiple standard, which is no standard at all, is the belief that the majority, state, or school board has a right to force a man to pay for something that they call education which he believes is mis-education and harmful to mankind. This has been going on for almost a century and it has been repeated so often that most people believe that the state can educate. It cannot educate, it can only train. It cannot set a good example because it is based on initiated force, or the threats of same, and initiated force is a violation of the principle that all men have equal rights to take moral action to preserve their lives and to acquire and keep liberty and to create what other people want and will voluntarily buy.

In other words the cause of war is the double standard of right, or involuntaryism. If anyone has a better explanation of THE causes of war we would be glad to publish it. We would appreciate it if anyone would point out any inconsistency or irrationality in the above.

The idea that a double standard is actually no standard at all is one the writer got from his son.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Equality Under Law vs. Equality By Law

By ROBERT BLAKE

(The Freeman)

According to the Declaration of Independence, "All men are created equal."

But man is a creature of limitations. He is limited as to height, weight, strength, health, intelligence, beauty, virtue, inheritance, environment, everything. Since these limitations vary from man to man, no man is equal to another, not physically, mentally, morally, or spiritually. In fact, all men are created unequal, except in one sense: All men are created equal under the Law. All men are equally subject to the same physical laws, the law of gravity, nutrition, growth, and so on. And all men are equally subject to the same moral laws: Thou shalt not steal; Thou shalt not kill, and the like. Since civil law is, or ought to be, an extension of moral law, all men should be equally subject to civil law. Whether a man is rich or poor, strong or weak, black or white, influential or a nonentity, should make no more difference under civil law than under physical or moral law. This is what is meant by the Declaration of Independence: All men are created equal under law.

Some well - meaning people, however, observing the limitations and consequent inequalities among individuals, now seek to go beyond mere equality under law and to enforce equality by law. Whereas equality under law protects unequal persons equally, equality by law penalizes some and rewards others for being unequal. This is Marxism: From each according to his means, to each according to his needs. Christ, on the other hand, said: "Sell what thou hath and give to the poor." The only difference is free will. Marxism is an attempt to achieve Christianity by force.

The Fair Employment, Fair Housing, Re-Training, and Public Accommodation bills, while motivated by Christian concern for the victims of prejudice, involve the taking of jobs, housing, funds, and accommodations by force from the rightful (though prejudiced) owners and bestowing them upon others in the cause of equality.

Why Wrong?

Such equality by law is wrong for three reasons:

First, it requires taking by force what belongs to another. This is stealing, and the Law is, "Thou shalt not steal." Worse, it threatens the owner with fine or imprisonment and actual death, if he resists. This is killing or threat to kill, and the Law is, "Thou shalt not kill."

Second, if mere need or inequality confers upon the state the right to steal or kill, then each of us can, and many of us do, demand that the state steal or kill in our behalf, for we are all needy and unequal. If it is right for the state to steal or kill on behalf of a minority, how much more right to steal or kill on behalf of the majority! Since the state is controlled by the majority, it is inevitable that the minority find itself legislated out of the accommodations sought through legislation. And life itself may be the cost! The liquidation of countless Kulaks in Russia and Jews in Germany was the foreseeable consequence of conceding to the state the right to steal and kill in the cause of equality.

The only safety for minority and majority alike, since each of us is a minority, is to affirm and defend the individual's absolute and inviolable right to life, liberty, and property, including his right to hire, sell, accommodate, and subsidize whom he pleases. That a man is prejudiced in the exercise of these rights does not confer upon the state the right to initiate or threaten violence against him. Every man has a right to his prejudice, which is his opinion. He does not have a right to enact his prejudice into law.

Third, being created unequal, the only equality a human can aspire to is perfection: moral and spiritual. Such perfection is achieved not by using force against my neighbor, but by using force against myself. If I set out to perfect society by perfecting my neighbor, I must ultimately kill my neighbor for only my neighbor has any power to perfect himself. But if I set out to perfect society by perfecting myself, and my neighbor does the same, there is some hope of a more perfect society. If perfecting myself is my goal, the fact that my neighbor is imperfect does not oblige me to kill him, but to tolerate his imperfections as an aid to perfecting myself.

This, then, should be the goal of all individuals and groups. Instead of struggling outward for equality, struggle inward. Let us spend our energies enlightening ourselves and our own groups, beautifying our own neighborhoods, curbing our own propensity to violence and crime. Instead of trying to cultivate virtue in others, concentrate on cultivating virtue in ourselves. As this is done, true worth will command respect and the last barriers will fall. This goal can be achieved not by force and violence, applied by law from without, but only by free will and discipline exercised under law from within.

Bombers And The Constitution

(The Phoenix Gazette)

When the House of Representatives voted 336 to 0 to proceed with the development of a new bomber, it not only repudiated Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's policy of almost sole reliance on missiles as a strategic force, but also set Congress on a collision course with the secretary on a vital constitutional issue — the survival of the check and balance system between the legislative and executive branches.

On the defense issue, the House, certain of strong Senate support, essentially upheld Sen. Barry Goldwater's contention that U.S. missiles are too unreliable to replace manned bombers entirely. McNamara may be leading the country into disaster, for he is phasing out present bombers and no serious effort is under way to provide modern replacements.

By authorizing millions for bomber development, Congress would not resolve the issue, however, for McNamara simply could refuse to spend the money, as he has done before. This would raise the constitutional question.

Although the Consitution assigns the president as commander - in - chief, it reserves to Congress the right to raise and support armed forces. It seems clear enough that the Constitution compels the executive to command whatever military forces Congress decides to establish.

By denying any one person or branch of government total military control, the authors of the Constitution provided a safeguard against an aspiring dictator — in Congress, the executive or elsewhere — using the military in an ascension to tyranny.

Granted, at this point in history, the safeguard may seem wholly unnecessary, but who can say the provision will not save the nation in the future. Besides, no part of the Constitution can be willfully destroyed without all of its noble principles being undermined.

If McNamara challenges the Constitution on the issue of manned aircraft, the Congress, and the people would be justified in resorting to the most severe reprisals, no matter what motivates the secretary. With the security of the nation from enemy attack and the foundation of American government at stake, the nation can do no less if it expects freedom to survive.

The American Way

By RAYMOND C. BAKER

American Way Features Correspondent

Here is a not-generally-known shocker! A cool $4 billion to maintain some 80 government business activities in competition with American free enterprise must be added to the tremendous annual sums already bilking the American taxpayers.

This latest bit of financial legerdemain is in President Johnson's budget for fiscal 1965, but it is carefully disguised. These federally-owned enterprises are now spending at the rate of $22.2 billion a year, up from $15.3 billion in 1961. This is an annual growth rate of 15 per cent, more than three times the pace attained by the economy as a whole.

The fly in the ointment is that these businesses, unlike private enterprise, do not have to show a profit. So most do not. Since 1961, these 80 businesses alone have gone in the red to the tune of $17 billion.

This works out to a loss of over $4 billion a year for taxpayers to make up. In all, over 700 federal agencies operate business-type activities — and the costs are reputed to run over $40 billion annually.

Laundries & Subsidies

These government enterprises range in size from the comparatively small laundry service at the U.S. Naval Academy to the giant Commodity Credit Corp. They feed congressmen, run railroads, produce electricity, sell insurance, deliver mail, lend money, build apartment houses and private homes. Most are in direct competition with private business.

They are financed out of revolving funds, which are replenished primarily through the sale of goods and services to the general public, and are available for continuing use under broad congressional grants rather than annual appropriations. Virtually all go into the budget on a net basis, with only the deficit showing in the total. This means that in fiscal 1964 expenditures will be under-reported by about $15 billion.

Campaign Propaganda

Not only is there a measure of deceit in the financial-juggling of these federal businesses, but they account for many thousands of government employes who should be on private payrolls.

President Johnson may convince some of the people that by turning off unneccessary lights at the White House and by firing a federal photographer for taking too many pictures he stands for economy in government. But most Americans recognize these trifling "economies" for what they are — election propaganda.

A serious look at the government payroll should convince him that sound economy must begin in this area.

Public Payroll

Public employment — federal and state — accounted for 13.5 per cent of all employment in 1962, according to a survey by the Chase Manhattan Bank. The bank estimates that by 1970 there will be one government employe for every five jobs provided privately and by 1980 the ratio will be one for four.

If the President really wants to convince the electorate that he is giving more than lip service to government economy, the public payroll is one place to start. He could make important strides in this direction by asking Congress to sell federal business enterprises to private entrepreneurs. Such a move would relieve the government of an enormous annual deficit and many thousands of employes.

This is an economic shot in the arm for the national economy that really would make a hit with taxpayers.

SPONSOR FOR ANOTHER NON-DUES PAYING MEMBER

A Capital Offense

(The Wall Street Journal)

If there ever was a case of killing, or anyway maiming, a golden goose, it is the proposed tax on American purchases of foreign securities. Though Congress has been slow to act on the measure, the threat of its retroactivity to last summer has all but stopped such purchases.

The purported aim of the "interest equalization" tax is to improve the U.S. balance of payments, which has been heavily in deficit these many years, by discouraging capital out-flows from America. And sure enough, the deficit has lessened for the time being, partly because of the threat of the tax.

All the same, the thinking behind this plan is remarkably myopic. It seems to assume that American private investment abroad is a simple matter of dispatching dollars and saying good-bye to them forever.

In fact, from 1958 through 1962 income from all private foreign investments nearly offset the aggregate net outflow for new investment, and in 1962 exceeded it. In the future this income, unless the Government succeeds in reducing it, could well be a strong support of our balance-of-payments position.

Nor is that all. As Andrew N. Overby, the distinguished banker and former Treasury official, noted in a talk a while back, trade follows credit. "With the dollars which they obtain from United States purchases of their securities, countries such as Canada and Japan buy our goods and services. In many cases, the connection is direct and the proceeds of foreign issues are specifically used for purchases of U.S. goods and services and provide jobs for Americans."

The U.S. trade surplus has long been the great bulwark of the balance of payments; without it, that is, the deficit would be much more fearsome to behold. Action having the effect of undermining trade is not likely to be beneficial for the future balance of payments, let alone the American domestic economy.

In short, the tax attacks the wrong targets: in its short-sighted zeal to cut capital outflows, the Government would threaten the private foreign investment and trade which could strengthen the American position. At the same time the Government does little of any significance to clear up its untidy domestic fiscal and monetary affairs or to reduce the heavy balance-of-payments drain represented by its own enormous expenditures abroad.

Hardly less disturbing are some further implications of the proposed tax. As Mr. Overby says — and these columns have tried to say—it amounts to a new protective tariff on the importation of foreign securities. Hence it is "a new barrier to the free international movement of capital, and is a retreat from our long-standing policy of freedom for capital movements."

Whether it presages stronger controls to come, no one can say; it presumably could, if the Government persists in its failure to eliminate the deficit and in its determination to make a whipping-boy of foreign investment. In any event, it reflects a bias against the principles of free international enterprise this country has so long preached to the world. As such, it is for foreigners an unsettling development in terms of more than dollars.

Those principles, it may be added, are sound not because the U.S. preaches them but because they make for a flourishing international economy from which all participants benefit. One of the chief drawbacks to the various forms of restrictionism, protectionism or economic isolationism is simply that they are self-defeating.

That certainly seems to be the case here. The so-called tax would not be the most egregious economic error the Government ever committed, but it would still be a mistake from the point of view of the long-term balance of payments as well as foreign confidence in this country.

For these reasons, we think Congress should kill the proposal instead of encouraging those who constantly try to throttle private initiative's golden production and promise.

Out to Buy the Farm Vote

(Chicago Tribune)

President Johnson's farm message to Congress recently makes it quite clear that, if his administration has anything to say about it, the federal government's involvement in the economy of the farms and small towns of rural America is going to increase, not diminish.

Producers of wheat, cotton, and dairy products are to have higher incomes. Millions of acres of land are to be transferred from surplus producing crops to trees, grass, wildlife refuges, fish ponds, golf courses, camp grounds, hunting preserves and other recreational uses. Millions of rural families are to feel the benevolent hand of the federal government through better housing, improved employment opportunities, and new industries in a vast program of rural renewal, details of which the President plans to announce later.

The pilot food stamp program is to be expanded and made permanent. The food for peace program, which has exported food and fiber at a cost of nearly 20 billion dollars in the last decade, is to be extended another five years.

It's all going to be done at a savings to taxpayers, according to the President. His recent budget message called for reducing spending on agriculture by 1.1 billion dollars to 5.8 billion in fiscal 1965. This cut, however, is predicted largely on enactment by Congress of the President's proposals for wheat, cotton, and dairy products, prospects for which are dubious inasmuch as the Kennedy administration advanced similar plans without success.

The President's recommendations for these commodities are economically unsound and dangerous. For cotton and dairy products he favors legislation that would involve what are variously called a farm jargon compensatory, direct, or production payments. By whatever name, the basic idea is that farmers would sell their products on the market for whatever they would bring, and the government would then make up the difference between the market price and a predetermed legislative target price with a direct cash payment from the federal treasury.

This scheme created a furor in Congress and among farm groups when it was proposed in 1949 by former President Truman's secretary of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan. The American Farm Bureau federation, which led the fight against it then, already has another campaign under way to defeat it again. The federation's basic tenet is that such subsidiaries would drastically weaken the market economy wherein supply and demand, not government, should be the primary determinants of the market prices.

Quotes From Christian Economics

THE HATES OF GOD

REV. I. E. HOWARD

(Christian Economics)

Proverbs 6:16 These six things doth the Lord hate; yea, seven are an abomination unto him.

God is love, but Proverbs reminds us that the love of God cannot be equated with sentimentality. Divine love hates evil.

Amid all the hysteria about hatemongers, it is well to remember that there are some legitimate objects of hatred. Jesus showed a little "righteous indignation" when he cleansed the Temple.

Proverbs lists seven things the Lord hates: (a) a proud look, (2) a lying tongue, (3) hands that shed innocent blood, (4) wicked imaginations, (5) feet swift in running to mischief, (6) false witness and (7) the sowing of discord.

The National Council of Churches, meeting in Philadelphia in December 1963, was guilty of several of these offenses.

In the first place, as a tax exempt organization, the National Council of Churches is required to shun political action, but it passed a resolution calling for "the earliest possible passage of the Civil Rights Bill of 1963." It also organized a caravan of delegates to visit Washington, D.C. so that the delegates could make personal calls upon their Congressmen. The Council further urged its constituents to write letters, send telegrams and make phone calls to Congressmen urging the passage of the Bill.

We can understand the hatred of race prejudice apparently felt by the distinguished clergymen and laity assembled in Philadelphia. Every Christian wants the Negro to get justice, but race prejudice cannot be dispelled by political action.

To be sure, the National Council has not limited its activities to political action. Early in 1963 a 23-year-old white man from Chicago was arrested in North Carolina for leading a racial demonstration in direct violation of the law. He was supposed to be an "interne pastor" of a Negro church in Wilmington, North Carolina and was found to have on his person a check for $339.85 issued to him by the National Council of Churches with the following description of his services: "Grant for student participating in student inter-racial program."

In the opinion of many competent legal experts, the public accommodations section of the Civil Rights Bill urged by the National Council of Churches involves a flagrant violation of property rights. Many members of the National Council are not impressed by this violation. They parrot the cliche that human rights are more important than property rights, apparently unaware that the right to own and control one's property is the most basic of all human rights. Without ground to stand on, man is not free in any sense.

However, lack of enthusiasm for property rights in the National Council is not surprising. The challenge to property rights was first brought to this country by men like Richard T. Ely who studied in Germany at the time of Bismark. Richard T. Ely was a personal friend of Washington Gladden and Lyman Abbot and he taught them, as well as Walter Rauschenbusch and other founders of the Social Gospel, that the possessions of men are held on sufferance, depending upon whether or not the possessor uses them to benefit society.

This is contrary to Locke's dictum that the right to property is an inalienable right given to man by God. Locke's philosophy was an expression of the Anglo - Saxon faith, rooted in the Bible, that man is answerable to God for the way he uses his property, not to society. However, Richard T. Ely contended: "Property exists to subserve the welfare of society and finds its limitations in that welfare." Walter Raushenbusch carried this humanistic doctrine further in Christianity and the Social Crisis declaring: "Private property is . . an intermediate and necessary stage of social evolution between two forms of communism." The Federal Council of Churches was organized primarily as an instrument of the Social Gospel, born of these men, and the National Council of Churches has admitted its commitment to the same "Social Creed."

Fabian socialism, and later Marxism, joined in this assault upon the American institution of private property until it is now difficult to find an American who has any understanding of the importance of private property to liberty.

To represent the Civil Rights Bill, in the form the National Council is seeking, as a benefit to the American Negro is to "bear false witness" — unwittingly if not wittingly. Not only does this Bill threaten private property (which would be a sword cutting two ways), but it also foreshadows a police state. John C. Satterfield, past president of the American Bar Association, warns: "If it is enacted into law, a long, unending line of employers may be expected to file, one by one, past Federal judges enroute to prison without trial by jury, there to remain indefinitely."

For all his just grievances, the American Negro has greater opportunities in America than anywhere else on earth. If the system which has created these opportunities, and continues to create more, is destroyed, the American Negro will lose much that he has gained.

No cause can be promoted without creating some discord. Jesus created a little when He blistered the Scribes and Pharisees and St Paul was accused of turning the "world upside down". However, when discord is unnecessary, or discord is a means of satisfying a desire to appear heroic, it becomes one of the seven things the Lord hates.

The National Council of Churches is guilty of making a very delicate situation dangerously explosive by engaging in false heroics.

It's Up To You

By

HOWARD E. KERSHNER, L. H. D.

Congress appropriated $5.6 billion in 1960 for agriculture. In 1962, this rose to $7.4 billion and in 1963, to $7.5 billion. The 40 per cent increase in two years is to be noted in connection with Secretary Freeman's promise that the program is ". . . going to cost less."

Japanese economy is growing at the rate of about 5 per cent a year and the country is prosperous. Japan is spending about [illegible] per cent of her national budget for the same purposes. Nevertheless, after granting Japan a billion dollars worth of aid in the past 10 years, we continue to share in a [illegible] million program to equip the Japanese airforce with Lockheed F-104 jet interceptors. We are also helping finance an air weapon control system.

This is being done in spite of the fact that a Japanese cabinet minister has said recently, "There is no need to depend on the United States. Japan should defend herself autonomously. Japan is a valued ally but that is no reason why our taxpayers should continue to pay the bill of a prosperous country well able to provide for herself.

In his address to the World Council of Churches in New Delhi one of the leaders of that organization advised that we accept the Communist principle "from each according to his ability and to each according to his needs," and apply them in our own sphere of activity. Presumably, he meant our churches and our nation. Who are "we" that should do the taking and from whom should "we" take it and to whom should "we" give it and how much. Of course, that doctrine is pure Communism and it is so fatal to constructive human activity that the Communists themselves do not practice it. They are eager to get us to destroy our society by attempting this impossible doctrine while they themselves have a greater differential in income between the lower and the higher paid workers than exists in the United States.

For churchmen to advocate the violation of the Commandments against coveting and stealing shows the extreme to which this false, impractical and un-Christian ideology has taken possession of the minds of many Americans. Taking wealth from some by the coercive power of the state discourages and eventually destroys their productive activity. While giving wealth to others without effort on their part, discourages and eventually kills initiative and the spur of self-help. Thus, this Communist principle reduces production at both ends of the social spectrum and inevitably results in a slave society wherein the strong oppress and exploit the weak.

State Winter Wheat Prospects Near Double

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture Friday forecast a winter wheat crop for Colorado nearly double that of 1963.

The department said production of 41,415,000 bushels was indicated for this year, compared with 21,438,000 a year ago.

A severe drought in the wheat-growing region of the state cut the crop last year to the second lowest since 1930.

The prospective crop for this year is still below the 1958-62 average for Colorado of 55 million bushels.

Pruning of Shade Trees Necessary When Planted

(This is another article prepared as a public service by the Colorado Springs Nurserymen's Association, and its contents are specifically applicable to this region.)

When is the best time to prune?

In most cases, reports the Colorado Springs Nurserymen's Association, pruning can be done at any time of the year. There are some notable exceptions to the rule, but in the case of shade trees there is one time when pruning must be done.

A shade tree must be pruned severely at planting time, and there are several steps to be taken to assure a healthy, vigorous growth.

Side branches of the newly planted shade tree should be cut back or pruned at least one-half of their length. The leader or top branch should be cut back three or four buds which are indicated as small nodules or growths on the branch.

Crowded branches can be removed by cutting. The unwanted branch should be cut off flush with the trunk of the tree. Care should be taken to avoid ripping out the branch and leaving a long, ragged scar on the trunk.

The Colorado Springs Nurserymen's Association advises that the public learn which varieties are suitable to the Pikes Peak Region. New residents will discover that many trees which survive in other sections of the country are not hardy in the semi-arid climate of this region.

If the transplant is a larger tree, it is advisable to stake the tree to prevent the wind from loosening the roots. The Nurserymen suggest that several guy wires be attached to stakes so the tree will be held firmly erect from several directions. A piece of cloth or rubber should be inserted between the wires and the trunk, and an open loop used, rather than a firm knot, to avoid cutting off the circulation of water inside the tree.

A final bit of advice is the recommendation that the trunk be wrapped with burlap, paper or screen wire. This protective wrapper can be left in place for at least two years.

Some Counties In State Get Grassland Money

County treasurers of 25 counties from five states of the Rocky Mountain Region received checks totaling $166,855.80 from the U.S. Treasury during March. The funds represented 25 per cent of receipts from eight national grasslands and two land utilization areas managed by the U.S. Forest Service.

Mrs. Ruth Ellingson, El Paso County treasurer, said this county has no grasslands and did not receive a share of the income.

Five counties in Colorado benefited to the tune of $39,638.44. Other states receiving payments included Nebraska, South Dakota, Wyoming, and Kansas.

Payment is made on a calendar year basis and on the condition that funds be used for school or road purposes, or both.

Counties with National Forest lands located within their boundaries also received 25 per cent of receipts from the forests. Paid on a fiscal year basis, these funds come from timber sales, grazing fees, minerals and other special uses on the forest for which a charge is made. Portion of Pike National Forest are located in El Paso County.

The national grasslands are located in the so-called dust bowl areas of the 1930s. Primarily grazing lands, many of the areas are also heavy oil and gas producers.

Use New Plants to Change Entire Character of Lawn

By STANLEY H. STOLTE
El Paso County
Extension Service

As the weather gets warmer and spring gets closer, it's time to think about new plantings in the yard.

The addition of an interesting specimen plant, a dwarf fruit tree or some new rose bushes can change the entire appearance and character of your lawn.

Many times you can accomplish this by moving or transplanting some plants you already have.

In the older established lawns, now is the time to take a good look at your lawn and garden area. Mabye some mistakes were made several years ago when your trees and shrubs were first planted. Are they too close together now, and and need thinning? Are they too close to the house and need to be completely removed? Have you neglected to prune these plants until they now resemble a briar patch?

If your lawn area is new, here is a method of determining what some of your plantings will look like. Drive around some of the established neighborhoods in your area. Here you will see mature specimens of some the plants you plan to use. There will be lots of good landscaping ideas you can use in your own yard. You will also notice things NOT to do.

One thing I always notice is how very often people plant trees and shrubs too close to the house, or right in front of a window. Now they can't see the mountains out of the window because the tree is in the way. It seemed there was plenty of room when they planted those "cute little trees and shrubs." Four or five years later however, those little plants have turned into big plants and are crowded.

The point is, be sure to plan where you are going to put these new plants before you get them. Know how big they will get and how far to plant them apart from each other or cut from the house.

There are many beautiful standard plants you can use in your landscaping plans that grow well in Colorado. There are also new varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers that are highly rated in the many catalogs we all receive in the mail.

You must remember, however, that not all of these plants will grow well in our area.

Check with your local nurseryman or your county extension office. They can tell you which plants will do the best in our climate.

As a matter of fact, getting your plants from an established local nurseryman has several advantages.

Your local nursery can give you the best advice on how to plant and care for new plants in your area.

THINGS TO DO: Be on the lookout for small red bugs on the sunny side of the house. These are clover mites and they will invade your house if given a chance. They are quite harmless to man and animals but can sure be a nuisance. You will usually first notice them inside the house around windows and doors. Luckily, controlling them can be successful with a good miticide such as Kelthane. If the outside temperature is above 60 degrees you can use a multi-purpose insecticide that contains Malathion as well as Kelthane and get even better control. Spray all around the outside of the house and then out several feet from the house. This will make a barrier to keep the clover mites out of the house. If the weather is warm enough, it is also a good idea to thoroughly wash the house down with a strong spray of water from the hose before spraying the Kelthane. Be especially sure to wash out around the basement or ground level windows. Don't get miticides such as Kelthane actually on your window panes when you spray as it leaves a sticky residue on the glass.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS:

Question: I bought a bird-of-paradise plant last year and it hasn't bloomed yet. What do I need?

Answer: Patience. These plants may take several years to bloom, depending on how big they are.

Question: How much animal manure should I rototill into my soil before I plant my new lawn?

Answer: A minimum of two cubic yards per 1,000 square feet (20 x 50 feet) is a good rule of thumb. It is also a good idea to apply one bag (usually 80 pounds) of super phospate per 2,500 square feet before you rototill the manure in. Phosphorous moves very slowly in the soil and it will give a better lawn if you put some down in the soil now.

12 Per Cent Increase Seen In '64 Winter Wheat Crop

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A winter wheat crop of 1,010,679,000 bushels—12 per cent more than last year—was forecast by the Agriculture Department Friday.

Last year's crop was 904,828,000 bushels.

Assuming a spring wheat crop of 262 million bushels — the amount the department has said is possible under farmers' planting plans — the total wheat crop would be about 1,272,000,000 bushels, also about 12 per cent more than last year.

The payments offered under a new wheat program passed earlier this week by Congress may encourage some farmers to plow under some of their winter wheat, with a resulting reduction in crop prospects. To get the payments, a grower must not harvest more acres than were allotted him. The new program is designed to help reduce surpluses and to maintain grower income.

The department has said that roughly 20 per cent of winter wheat growers planted in excess of their allotments.

A combined winter and spring wheat crop of 1,272,000,000 bushels quite probably would not be in excess of requirements during the 1964 crop marketing year. Domestic and export demands during the 1963 marketing year, ending June 30, are expected to total 1,448,000,000 bushels. This figure reflects larger-than-normal exports, including shipments to Soviet bloc countries in Eastern Europe.

No forecasts have been made yet on market requirements from the 1964-crop supplies.

Added to this year's wheat production will be a reserve and surplus of about 890 million bushels accumulated from past crops.

The department said farm holdings of livestock and poultry feed grains on April 1 were 11 per cent larger than a year earlier. Wheat stocks were down 22 per cent, but farm holdings of soybeans were up 41 per cent.

The department said generally below normal temperatures, and frequent precipitation over much of the nation in March, retarded land preparation and planting of spring crops.

The department said the winter wheat crop, while developing slowly, survived the winter in good condition. The estimated yield per seeded acre of 23.5 bushels is two bushels more than last year, but a half-bushel below average.

Four Top Young Farmers Named at Wisconsin Fete

Four young farmers, none of them from Colorado, were named America's Four Outstanding Young Farmers in an awards ceremony in Madison, Wis., Tuesday night.

In competition co-sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National LP-Gas Market Development Council, the four top winners were selected from a field of 45 state winners originally representing over 10,000 nominees.

Named as America's Four Outstanding Young Farmers were:

Marvin Dillman, 35, Twelve Mile, Ind., who 14 years ago had only two assests — a bride and $200. Today he owns and operates a successful farm and dairy operation yet finds time to do the chores every evening for a neighbor who lost both hands in a farm accident.

Bill Lane, 35, Comanche, Texas, who beat the drought by converting his beef farm into a profitable dairy operation. Sound management practices now give him 600 per cent more carrying capacity on cultivated acreage and a one-third increase on range carrying capacity.

Sam E. McGregor, 34, Hopkins, S. C., who fought off herd disease to develop a 119 dairy herd, twice judged the highest producing in his country. In ten years he has proven that careful records are the key to successful farming.

Steve Reimers, 35, Bordulac, N. D., who started eight years ago as a $250 farm hand teaching Vocational Agricultural classes to get his start. Today he has a 6,080 acre cattle operation, owns an insurance agency and still finds time to pay his civic rent.

Judging the finalist was done by a panel of 12 agricultural specialists using production progress, soil and natural resources conservation and community leadership as their guide posts. The judges were: Dr. Henry Ahlgren, associate extension director, Wisconsin University; The Honorable George Dewey Clyde, Governor of Utah; Elmo Cook, president, National Association of County Agricultural Agents; J. Paul Crews, Suwannee county agent, Florida.

Glen Cunningham, immediate past president, Newspaper Farm Editors Association; Pearle Finigan, Nebraska Director of Agriculture; Richard Hanson, editor, Successful Farming; Dr. Harold Jones, extension director, Kansas State University; George Menard, president, National Association Radio-TV Farm Directors; Winthrop Rockefeller, Winrock Farms, Arkansas; Fred A. Seaton, Publisher, Hastings, Nebraska, Tribune and Western Farm Life; and Cordell Tindall, president Agricultural Editors Association.

The awards were presented in Madison by Richard H. Headlee, Bountiful, Utah, national Jaycee president, and W. A. Schuette, National LP-Gas Market Development Council president.

Richard W. Reuter, special assistant to the President of the United States and director, Food for Peace, was the featured awards banquet speaker.

Wheat Festival Due in Holyoke This Saturday

The Colorado Wheat Festival, sponsored by the Colorado Wheat Council in cooperation with the Holyoke Chamber of Commerce, will be held in Holyoke Saturday.

The one-day festival, beginning at 9:30 a.m., is being held at the Grade School auditorium and will include a program of speakers, a street parade of beauty queens, a luncheon and the selection of the Colorado Wheat Queen.

Principal speakers for the program are Dr. Virgil A. Johnson, U. S. Department of Agriculture Area Coordinator, Hard Red Wheat Region, Lincoln, Nebraska, who will discuss the status and potentials of hybrid wheat;

Dr. Robert A. Cotton, director of research, Continental Baking Co., Rye, N. Y., will speak of the baker's need for strong gluten wheat.

Dr. Byrd C. Curtis, wheat research leader, Colorado State University, will outline the progress in wheat research.

The public is invited to join in the festivities. There are no registration fees and the luncheon costs are $1 each. The festival will conclude following the selection of the Wheat Queen.

The Colorado Wheat Council is an organization created by all segments of the state's wheat industry for a combined effort toward improving the quality and reputation of Colorado Wheat.

Since its creation in 1962, the Colorado Wheat Council has been instrumental in securing legislative appropriations for a wheat research program at Colorado State University.

Through its own membership, including the grower, handler, processor and baker, the Council has raised sufficient funds to build new greenhouse facilities at Colorado State University for use in the wheat research program.

The Colorado Wheat Festival in Holyoke is the second sponsored by the Council. Last year, a wheat institute was conduct- at Colorado State University.

De Gaulle Slips In Neutrality Bid in SEATO

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

MANILA (AP) — Four more Southeast Asia Treaty Organization nations lined up today against President Charles de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Southeast Asia, prime target of Red Chinese expansion.

Foreign ministers of Australia, Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines outlined opposition to the French idea at a closed session.

Informants said the consensus among the four ministers was that neutralization would not effectively deter Communist inroads in Southeast Asia, particularly in embattled South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk expressed U.S. opposition to the French proposal at the first session Monday and won support from Britain and New Zealand, both SEATO members.

This left France standing alone on this point. Sources said Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville advanced no specific suggestions for effective neutralization of Southeast Asia.

Foreign minister Sir Garfield Barwick of Australia summed up his view on "the abstract idea of neutralization" by citing the case of Laos and its coalition of rightwing, leftwing and neutralist factions.

Barwick said the Laotian government triumvirate, which has not functioned for the past year because of a boycott by the pro-Communist Pathet Lao member, was not encouraging.

Foreign Ministers Thanat Khoman of Thailand and Salvador P. Lopez of the Philippines and Ambassador A.M. Malik of Pakistan voiced similar views.

William Worth, deputy secretary-general of SEATO, said none of the ministers took any new stand on major questions in presenting their position paper. He said they turned to the report of the SEATO military advisers who met here last week.

Worth said the ministers generally felt the military advisers had made progress in their planning since the last semiannual session and that plans to resist Communist aggression are in "pretty good shape."

Rusk and Couve de Murville engaged in what was described as a "beautiful debate" on the situation in South Viet Nam, where the United States is aiding the fight against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Rusk vowed that the United States would remain in Viet Nam until the war is won, sources said. Couve de Murville was said to have replied that France would be happy with a Western military victory in Viet Nam, but he added: "If you cannot win, you will have to consider a political solution."

300 Casualties Are Reported in Viet Nam War

By PETER ARNETT

TAN PHU, South Viet Nam (AP)—A three-day battle with two Communist Viet Cong battalions has left this southern Mekong Delta region bleeding and grief stricken and cost the government its heaviest casualties in the Viet Nam war.

American advisers reported nearly 300 government soldiers dead or wounded.

Civilian casualties may exceed 200, an American adviser said. They apparently were deliberately inflicted by the Communists on government sympathizers.

American observers called the action "a stunning Communist political victory."

One American enlisted man, a helicopter crewman, was killed by ground fire Sunday. A dozen other Americans were wounded.

American advisers counted 50 or 60 bodies of guerrillas in charred paddyfields. The enemy losses were believed to be much heavier, Vietnamese officers said. The Reds carried the fight into government lines, even in daylight.

The Communists on Sunday moved out of a base in the tangled forest of U Minh, along the Gulf of Thailand, and overran the district capital of Kien Long. The Americans believe their aim was to reassert their dominance over the northern Ca Mau Peninsula, long their hunting ground. Recent government moves in the area apparently were hurting them.

In a public massacre at Kien Long, the Viet Cong disemboweled the district chief and his young son, broke the arms and legs of the chief's wife and killed her with a shot to the head, and executed or wounded other government sympathizers including the mayor. Then the Reds headed back into the countryside.

A self-defense corps post inside Kien Long did not yield although many of its buildings were smashed. The small unit, however, could do nothing to stop the Viet Cong butchery, American advisers said.

When word of the attack reached corps headquarters at Can Tho, more than 400 paratroopers were dropped in the area. There were 50 jump casualties because of the wind and the battalion did not get moving until later in the day.

A Ranger battalion came in along a canal. Two infantry battalions were moved in by helicopter. A Special Forces unit moved out from Tan Phu camp and was ambushed, taking 50 casualties.

After heavy fighting, American advisers were reporting early Monday that Communist units apparently were trapped within a triangle of government forces. Heavy forest fires had also broken out in the Reds' forest base, making movement there difficult.

The Communists fought their way out, cutting through a Vietnamese infantry battalion and inflicting crippling losses on it.

Then, to the amazement of Vietnamese and American officers, Communist units stayed in the area all day Monday, attacking various government units.

By Monday night one Vietnamese battalion was out of ammunition for its mortars and 57mm recoilless rifles' ammunition.

"We knew we were surrounder," said an American adviser, "and were hugging ground abtou 10 p.m. when we heard this Communist commander calling our Vietnamese battalion commander over the radio. This Viet Cong was saying he would attack us in force at 3 p.m. Tuesday and wipe us out before reinforcements arrived. I tell you I was scared."

The attack came from the north and then the west.

The defenders were lying in trenches with only small arms to meet the guerrillas.

"At one stage they must have been 50 yards away," said the American. "But then the artillery zeroed in on them from Tan Phu with air bursts that must have cut them to pieces. Every time they launched an attack across those rockhard paddyfields we stopped them with artillery."

The Viet Cong finally withdrew, taking their dead and wounded with them. The defending battalion had suffered severe losses. The battalion commander was dead along with most of his senior officers, all killed rallying their men, their American advisers said.

Terrors Keep South Central Lead

T-Birds Down Indians In Excellent Contest

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

One truly human characteristic of a baseball team is, that given the opportunity, it will spend its base hits like a housewife on a bargain basement shopping spree.

Gib Funk's Wasson Thunderbirds are no exception. However, in the past few days the T-Birds have also proven themselves masters at the art of thrift. The first example came Saturday when Wasson used five of its allowance of six hits to sneak across a pair of runs and whip Palmer 2-0 to climb into a tie for the South Central League lead.

Tuesday afternoon the Thunderbirds were forced to be even more economical. Cheyenne Mountain southpaw, Ted Garcia, surrendered just four hits in a fine performance at the Indians' diamond but Funk's scavengers bunched three of them in one inning for all the offense that was necessary in a 3-0 victory.

This renewal of one of the city's newer intra-city rivalries produced one of the finer displays of polished baseball seen here this spring. Garcia and Wasson curve-baller, Clay Chambers, dueled brilliantly throughout and both were supported by sparkling play afield.

Chambers, who is generally not considered to be Wasson's front-line hurler, was superb Tuesday. In his first route-going performance of the campaign he allowed just a pair of hits, one a safe bunt, walked two and struck out five. Cheyenne advanced runners as far as second only in the first, fourth and fifth innings and never moved one to third.

Garcia was nearly as excellent. After working out of a first inning jam he turned the 'Birds back easily until the fatal fifth. Wasson threatened once more in the sixth but could not pad the margin. Overall the Cheyenne lefty gave up five passes and fanned eight. Five of the whiffs were recorded by the hard-hitting first three in the Thunderbird lineup.

In addition to his standout pitching, Chambers was the top Wasson hitter. His fifth inning single drove in the final run and he added another base knock in the seventh.

Wasson's big inning started innocently enough. Frustrated by Garcia's dipping curve, the T-Birds had arrived at the point where it was necessary to play for one run. Thus Al Maynard led off the frame with a bunt down the third base line which was so perfectly placed that the Indians had no chance for a play.

That was the first hit of the contest for either team — but it still did nothing to indicate that Garcia was losing any stuff. Thus pinch-hitter Terry Stillwaugh was directed to sacrifice, which he did, moving Maynard to second.

It was here that Garcia made a key slipup by issuing an unintentional pass to Frank Baird and bringing up the top of the Wasson order again. Still, Mike Teague popped to the left-fielder and the Cheyenne pitcher was on the verge of escaping until John Wickham suddenly shot a vicious liner to left that took a bad bounce over the head of outfielder Jack O'Brien and went for a two-run triple. Chambers followed with a smash to right-center that brought in the third tally.

That was it offensively, except for several threats. Wasson put its first two runners on base in the first via a walk and hit-batsman but a successful pickoff at second snuffed out any scoring chance. Another pickoff throw in the sixth killed the only other serious bid. The 'Birds had runners at first and second with one away when Bob Kochis was called out on a play which was hotly contested by Wasson.

Cheyenne got Bill Massarand to second after a walk in the first inning but he was stranded. In the fourth Gary Graham reached first on the T-Birds' only error and swiped second after two were out but Ted Garcia sailed a fly ball to right to end the frame.

Steve Markowitz came up with the first hit after two were down in the fifth and Doug Cramblit followed with a walk but Jeff Thatcher followed with a soft grounder to second. A single by Massarand to lead off the sixth was wiped away when Wasson shortstop Jim Smith picked off Graham's grounder and started the game's lone twin-killing.

The win was the eighth in nine games for the Thunderbirds, who host North Denver at 3 p.m. today at the Wasson diamond. Cheyenne, which once again proved beyond doubt that it can play baseball with its AAA brothers, returns to its torment of the AA class Friday when the Indians travel to Manitou Springs.

Major League Openers Bring More Crowds

By United Press International

Attendance for the first full day of the 1964 major league baseball season increased by an average of more than 5,000 persons per game over the 1963 figures.

Last season nine games were played in both leagues on the first full day compared to seven Tuesday.

Total attendance for the seven games was 222,854. Last season it was 234,647 but two more games were included in that figure. The National League drew 140,738 Tuesday and the American League 82,166 for only three games.

Average attendance Tuesday was 31,836 compared to 26,067 in 1963. It might have been much higher Tuesday, but the Boston - New York game was postponed until today due to rain.

Canon City Bombers Hit Widefield

The Canon City bombers found the range Tuesday when they collected 18 hits to topple Widefield, 21-5, in non-league competition at the Gladiators field.

For the visiting Canon City nine, Tom Vance supplied the stick power when he homered with the bases loaded in the third frame. Vance knocked in six RBIs during his trips to the plate.

The winning team's ace fireballer, Roger Stallman, contained the Widefield batters to three runs for five innings until the bagged two addition tallie in the sixth frame. Jay Scavarda relieved Stallman in the sixth stanza.

For the Gladiators, Tom Pearson and Gil Trujillo were the big men at the plate with each collecting two hits apiece.

The next outing schedule for the Widefield aggregation is a Pikes Peak League game against Florence this Saturday at the latter's home field.

GETTING OUT OF THE WAY—Palmer's Don Rossing jumps back from an inside pitch during Tuesday's South Central League game against Pueblo Central at the Memorial Park diamond. This was the second straight [illegible] by shortstop Don Smith and [illegible] him somewhat upset. However, the Terrors catcher later banged out a double to help along in the 13-1 slaughter of the Cats. Catching for Central is Dave Styduhar and behind him is plate umpire George Theodore. The victory kept Palmer atop the SCL standings with a 4-1 record. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

IT SEZ HERE — Pueblo Central Coach Ed Lesar paints out what he feels is a rule violation to umpires George Theodore (center) and Joe Morgan during Tuesday afternoon's South Central League game against Palmer High at Memorial Park. Lesar protested the game on the basis that he thought Palmer's Tom Medlicott was making an illegal pitch. The umpires didn't agree. Medlicott limited the visiting Wildcats to two hits and he registered 10 strikeouts in Palmer's 13-1 victory. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Baseball

Bob Kochis, senior righthander of the Wasson Thunderbirds, has been named the Baseball Star of the Week by members of the Gazette Telegraph Sports Department for his outstanding pitching performances against Centennial and Palmer last week.

Kochis, who had lost a tough 2-0 decision to Pueblo East in his first league start, hurled the Thunderbirds into a first place tie in the SCL standings by whipping the team's two top contenders within a space of six days. On a frigid Monday afternoon in Pueblo he set Centennial down, 6-1, on three hits and contributed a double and single to the Wasson attack. Saturday he blanked Palmer on two singes, 2-0. In the two games he walked only three men while striking out 17.

Also during the week he drew a start at second base against Thomas Jefferson of Denver and smashed a home run and double and drove in four runs in a 10-2 Wasson win.

Others considered for the honor this week were Mike Teague and John Wickham of Wasson, John Gannon and John McWherter of Academy High, Bill Massarand and Ted Garcia of Cheyenne Mountain, Dan Gieck of Harrison, Dave Grantz, of St. Mary's, and Phil Johnson and Ollie West of Palmer.

Track

Bob Carter, who has assisted the Fountain track team in establishing themselves as Pikes Peak League top challengers, was selected the Track Star of the Week by the Gazette Telegraph sports department.

Carter won two events in the Aurora Relays last weekend when the 5-11 speedster continued his supremacy in the 100-yard dash and broad jump. The Trojans' speed merchant was clocked at 10.3 in the century and Carter leaped 20-8¾ to win the broad jump event.

The Fountain sprinter has yet to lose a race this season and his coach, John Schultz, thinks the muscular youth should break the 10-second barrier. He indicated Carter should run the 100 around 9.9 if he developes a faster start out of the blocks.

Others considered for the award include teammate Gary Powell, Fountain; Bobby Joe Williams, Pamler; Jeff Berven, Wasson; and Rob Stockhouse and Brink Spear, Air Academy High.

Eight-Run First Inning Bombardment Carries Academy High Past St. Mary's

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Air Academy High squad exploded for eight runs in the opening stanza as the Big Blue managed to slip past visiting St. Mary's, 8-7, Tuesday afternoon at the Kadet diamond in non-league play.

Even though the Kadets racked up eight runs in that first frame on six hits, they were stifled by Dave Adamson for the remaining five innings.

The Big Blue aggregation jumped on the Buccaneers starting hurdler, Bob Gates, for four runs before Adamson made the trip to the mound. Adamson gave up four tallies on four hits before he retired the side in the first inning.

But the portside chucker settled down in the next five frames. Adamson put down any further scoring threat by the home team. He pitched hitless innings during the remainder of the game.

The Pikes Peak League action was to resume today when the Academy High nine were slated to host Manitou Springs in PPL play. That game was set for 4 p.m. today at the Academy High field.

Friday's agenda calls for two PPL contests with Cheyenne Mountain, six-time league champion, at Manitou Springs and Academy High at Harrison. Both games are scheduled for 4 p.m.

In Tuesday's St. Mary's-Academy High encounter, Roger Kasnick initiated the fireworks in that eight-run first inning with a free trip to first base via a walk.

Lance Jensen followed with a single and John Gannon powered a doubled to left-center field to score two runs. From that point on it was a merry-go-round until Adamson gained control.

The Pirates failed to score in the first stanza but Dan Wright's baseballers struck in the second inning to tally a single run. Carter Dean managed to contain the visiting parochial school team to one run during three frames but the Pirates knocked him out of the box in the fourth with two runs.

Jensen came from third base to relieve Dean in the fourth but he only went another inning on the mound as the Bucs collected four more runs to come within striking distance 8-7.

Academy High coach, Russ Lyon, called in his ace hurler from right field when Gannon relieved Jensen in the fifth with no one out and a man on second base.

The hard-throwing left-hander wasted little time putting down any further threat by the Pirates as Gannon retired the side in that frame and the next two innings to preserve his team's one run lead.

For the Pirates, catcher Pat McElderry enjoyed a hot hand at the plate with three hits and three RBIs. In all the St. Mary's batsmen collected seven hits.

Three were added at Centennial High School. They are Garold Goings, head track and assistant football coach; Sam Dazio, baseball and football assistant, and Reed Grant, wrestling assistant.

Others added to the athletic staffs are Jack Ludlow, head baseball coach at Central; Bill Corder, track and football assistant at East; Ladd Hanscom, track and football assistant at Central, and Frank DeLeon, head baseball and football assistant at South.

Terrors Easily Win Quadrangular

LONGMONT — Palmer's track team, defending South Central League champion, used rapidly improving depth to crush three Northern League schools in a quadrangular meet here Tuesday afternoon.

The Terrors, who captured first places in either of the 14 events, amassed 99 points to far outdistance host Longmont. The Trojans finished second with 34½, Sterling had 34, and Greeley 30½.

Palmer's swift-stepping hurdler, Bobby Joe Williams, was the meet's only double winner. The three sport star captured the higs in 15.8 and came back to take the lows in 21.6. In addition he anchored the victorious 880 yard relay team.

Williams' victories led a Palmer blitz in the hurdle events that set the pace for the meet. The Terrors captured the first four places in the highs and three of the five spots in the lows.

Another standout performance for the Tribe came from pole-vaulter, Bob McCoy. The lithe senior swung over 12-9, his best competitive mark to date.

The Terrors also had a victory from Jim Glaskin in the 100 yard dash. He sped the distance in 10.5. Alan Snyder bested the field in the 440 yard dash in 53.1 and Jim Seitz won the 880 in 2:06.9. Palmer also had improved performances in the weights. Ron Moon won the shot put with a heave of 48-10, his best of the spring.

The meet served as a tuneup for the Terrors' entry into Saturday's Centennial Invitational in Pueblo. Palmer will be one of the top favorites in that competition, along with Wasson, Lakewood, and Aurora Central.

Central Protests Game Despite Margin of 13-1

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

It's possible although improbable that the Terrors' Coach Jerry Hughes may have to make the final decision as to whether his team will be champion of the league or not this season.

The situation is this:

Pueblo Central's Ed Lesar, who said before Tuesday's 13-1 loss at the hands of Palmer that this probably will be the last of his 15 years as baseball coach, has protested the game. His argument with the umpires was that Palmer's Tom Medlicott was making an illegal delivery from the mound.

The catch is that if Lesar goes through with the protest, he most likely will have to submit this in writing to the league secretary who would have to bring it up before a SCL meeting. And who is the secretary?

You guessed—Jerry Hughes.

Actually, the unique situation probably will never come to a head. Lesar's protest is based on what he thinks is the misjudgment by the umpire and this amounts to a decision which can't be disputed. His only hope is a possible mis-interruptation of the rules and this is doubtful.

Anyway, the way it could turn out is that Palmer, now leading the SCL standings with a 4-1 record is favored to battle down to the wire for the title. It may be settled in the second go-round game with cross-town rival Wasson which is in second with a 3-1 mark. But should the league rule against the Terrors on the protest, it could alter the outcome considerably.

It was only natural that Lesar would try to find some way to get Melicott out of the game Tuesday. The Palmer lefty finally found his top form after four previous trips to the mound and registered his first win of the season with a two-hit, near shutout.

Medlicott was master of the game throughout, striking out 10 along the way and spacing the hits in the fifth and seventh. The only run off him came in the final inning on a double by Central's fine all-around athlete Dan Kochevar, an advance on an infield out, and double steal worked by the Wildcats just before the final out.

Until Tuesday, Medlicott was having trouble finding the corners and too many of his pitches were meeting the fat part of the bat. But against Central he had them swing at empty air all afternoon and four times he set them down in order.

There was plenty of help along the way, however, as his Terror teammates cracked out 13 hits including four doubles and two triples against the slants of two Central pitchers. Don Smith started and wasn't pulled by the veteran Pueblo coach until he was bombed with 10 runs and an equal number of hits. Kochevar transferred to the hill from shortstop in the fifth, but could do little better in stopping the Palmer express.

The Terrors had a three-run lead through the third, but broke open the contest in the fourth with seven runs as a dozen batters marched to the plate. Six hits bounded through the infield at Memorial Park with the big blows doubles by catcher Don Breeding and center fielder Don Shoffner. To boot, the Wildcats helped along in the big inning as the tiring Smith had three wild pitches, two of them scoring runs.

The biggest menace to the visiting Cats, though, was Tommy Thompson who took his place among the starters for the first time this spring. The hard-swinging left fielder cracked a double and two singles in three trips and drove in four runs in the process.

Others getting more than one hit were second baseman Chuck Reinking, shortstop Ollie West, Shoftner and Breeding. Rubbing a little salt into the already open wounds was a pitch-hit hit double by Ned Owens in the fifth which brought across two runs.

Medlicott got all the support he really needed in the first and third innings when the Terrors were three-up. A walk and follow-up double by Thompson scored the initial run, and then in the third Reinking tripled between the fielders in left and center. West blasted a back-to-back triple that bounced off the right field cement wall, and then Thompson drove in his second run of the day with a clean single to left.

The complaint against Medlicott, registered by the Central coach, was that he was supposedly lifting his pivot foot all the way off the rubber before making his pitch. If so, it would definitely be illegal, but the umpire ruled that he was sliding his foot rather than lifting it.

At any rate, the Terrors seem to have found themselves another first-class starter to go along with Ted Jones and sophomore ace Phil Johnson. This could make them tougher than nails the rest of the way — although Lesar warned during his tirade that "that pitcher will never pitch in Pueblo."

The Tribe won't have to travel to the Steel City until next week, however and in the meantime they will be out to protect the league lead by hosting dangerous Pueblo East this Saturday morning in another SCL feature. East has been the only league team to defeat defending champ Wasson this season.

In other action on Tuesday, little Bob Armijo had a no-hitter going for him until the final inning as he pitched Pueblo Centennial to a 6-2 win over Trinidad in Pueblo. It was his second two-hitter of the season and it kept the Bulldogs in a contending position behind Palmer and Wasson.

Finley Trade Pays Off --For Tigers That Is

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The baseball season is just one day old and Charles O. Finley already has had two setbacks.

The American League torpedoed his "Pennant Porch" in Kansas City last week and the Tigers went to work on his ball club in Detroit Tuesday.

The results were the same. Municipal Stadium has half a porch and the Tigers left just about that much of the Athletic pitching staff intact after a 7-3 Opening-Day victory.

Detroit's "new-look" Tigers were something to see but it wasn't a pleasant sight for Finley. The key executioners were Jerry Lumpe and Dave Wickersham, who wore the Kelly green and gold Athletic uniforms a year ago.

Finley swapped Lumpe, an infielder, and pitchers Wickersham and Ed Rakow for slugger Rocky Colavito and hurler Bob Anderson during the winter and off the first day's results, the Tigers came out way ahead.

Lumpe stroked a single, double and triple as the Tigers punished three Kansas City pitchers with a 12-hit assault. Wickersham came on in the ninth inning as the A's staged a later rally. After an error and a walk, he got Gino Cimoli to end it.

Colavito, meanwhile, went 0-for-4.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Baltimore Orioles got long-ball power with three home runs to trip the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and the Minnesota Twins and Cleveland Indians staged a slugfest with the Twins winning 7-6. The Yankees and Boston Red Sox were rained out in New York and Washington and Los Angeles were not scheduled.

In the National League, the Chicago Cubs exploded for a four-run 10th inning and an 8-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates while the San Francisco Giants clubbed Warren Spahn for five home runs en route to an 8-4 victory. In night games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Mets 5-3 and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers shut out St. Louis 4-0 behind the six-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax.

Cincinnati and Houston had the day off.

Norm Cash and Bill Bruton homered for the Tigers and Jim Gentile and pinch hitter Manny Jimenez connected for Kansas City.

Boog Powell crashed a two-run homer in the eighth inning for the Orioles' victory over the White Sox. Starter Gary Peters was breezing until John Orsino homered in the sixth and pinch hitter Joe Gaines wiped out a 3-2 White Sox lead with a homer in the seventh.

Luis Aparicio's triple greeted relief pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth and then Powell's homer won it for the Birds. Stu Miller was the winner in relief.

Nicklaus Rated 3-1 Favorite To Win Houston Classic

HOUSTON (AP) — For two straight years, big Jack Nicklaus has made a charge at the Houston Classic's gold and glory averaging 68.8 strokes per round for eight rounds and averaging $3,400 per trip to the paymaster's window.

So on the eve of the big tee-off Thursday, the strong man from Ohio State has been established a 3-1 favorite to take it all this time as the $50,000 Classic moves to Sharpstown Country Club for the first time.

With both Arnold Palmer and Gary Player absent, Nicklaus was established the favorite over the defending champion, Bob Charles, the southpaw New Zealander who took the big bundle here last April with a record score of 268.

Charles is back for another run at the top money, but is bracketed at 5-1 with Houston's Dave Marr, Paul Harney, Dow Finsterwald and Bruce Devlin.

Nicklaus did not arrive Tuesday in time to join the rest of the field in a practice round, but was expected to make his appearance sometime today.

On the schedule today was the annual pro-amateur, which pairs a leading professional with three local amateurs.

McNeeley-Quinn Fight Set April 25

BOSTON (UPI) — Promoter Sam Silverman announced Tuesday that heavyweights Tom McNeeley of Arlington, Mass., and Don Quinn of St. Paul, Minn., will meet in a 10-round bout at the Boston Arena April 25.

America's Cup Has New Entry

NEW YORK (UPI) —The Pacific Coast will be represented in the America's Cup competition for the first time in its 113-year history in June.

This became a certainty Tuesday when Columbia, successful defender of the cup in 1958, was sold to a syndicate headed by Thomas Patrick Dougan of Santa Ana, Calif.

Dougan revealed that Walter Podolak, a former Long Island yachtsman who moved to California shortly after his return from Army service in World War II, will serve as Columbia's new skipper in the trials to determine the 1964 America's Cup defender.

The first trials will be held on Long Island Sound beginning June 8. Subsequent trials will be held off Newport, R.I., July 8 and Aug. 18, with the successful yacht facing a British challenger for the cup starting Sept. 15, also off Newport.

OUT AT THIRD — With the ball in his mitt, third baseman Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs waits to tag out sliding Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates, in the sixth inning of Tuesday's game. Stargell was on second and broke for third when Don Clendenon hit a grounder to the mound. But Cub pitcher Larry Jackson threw the ball to third in time to nail Stargell. The game was the season opener for both teams. Chicago won, 8-4. (AP Wirephoto)

Phillies Encouraged By Allen's Showing

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One game as they say doesn't a season make, but if the 1964 success of the Philadelphia Phillies depends on their prize rookie, Richie Allen, the Phils are going to be mighty tough.

Many experts have written that if Allen, the 22-year-old Negro third baseman from Wampum, Pa., can perform half as well as his advance billing, Manager Gene Mauch's Phillies could win the pennant.

Some 21,000 fans came out to see the Phillies' opener at Connie Mack Stadium Tuesday night and most of them came away talking about Allen. He walked, singled and doubled, scored a run and drove in a tally. But more important, he didn't panic under some trying conditions.

The Phillies led 4-1 over the New York Mets in the fifth inning when Allen was put to the test. The first two hitters for New York got on base as Allen twice slipped in mud created by a day long rain. It was upsetting to a veteran, let alone a rookie.

But Allen didn't let it bother him even a little bit.

"Heck, if I could play at Little Rock there isn't anything here that's going to bother me," said the youngster.

Allen, of course, referred to his season last year in the International League at Little Rock where he received everything from the boos and racial insults to threats against his life.

He responded by leading the Triple A League in home runs, triples, RBIs and total bases.

Skipper Mauch described this cool rookie best after the 5-3 victory over the Mets.

"There isn't anything that is going to bother Richie Allen," said Mauch. "He's good and he knows it."

Allen slammed the ball down after his second mud slide. He said he was sorry about that.

"I forgot for a minute there were people watching," he commented. "It won't happen again."

Silver Belt Ski Races Postponed

NORDEN, Calif. (AP) — The 22nd annual Silver Belt Ski Races, featuring members of the U.S. Olympic team, have been postponed a week for the funeral of Wallace (Bud) Werner.

Werner, 28, a member of the Olympic team, was killed in an avalanche in Switzerland Sunday. His funeral will be in Steamboat Springs, Colo.

The races were scheduled for this weekend, but have been set back to April 24-25 at the Sugar Bowl ski area near Donner Summit.

Also postponed, from Thursday until April 23, was an official homecoming at Tahoe City for Jimmy Huega, one of Werner's teammates who won a bronze medal in the slalom at the 1964 Winter Olympics.

Koufax Still in Stride As Dodgers Win Opener

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Sandy Koufax was interrupted last fall . . .

That's right, the Dodgers dandy took up Tuesday night where he left off last season, turning in one of his shutout specialties as Los Angeles opened defense of its National League championship by whipping St. Louis 4-0.

There were 50,451 in Dodger Stadium — the largest of the opening day crowds—when Koufax began to whip an assortment of fast balls and curves out of his effortless motion. And when it was over, he had fittingly pitched the first shutout in the National League.

Koufax, a 25-game winner last year with 11 shutouts marked alongside his name, allowed the Cardinals only six hits, struck out five and walked none while winning his eighth consecutive game and recording his 18th victory in the last 20 regular season decisions.

But the 1963 World Series hero had to share some of the spotlight with towering Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant player. The Dodgers' main power-provider. Howard proved it by tagging a 420-foot, two-run homer that capped the victory.

In other NL openers, Willie Mays collected two of San Francisco's five homers in an 8-4 walloping of Milwaukee. Roy Sievers' three-run homer powered Philadelphia to a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets and Billy Williams' two-run homer in the 10th inning led the Chicago Cubs to an 8-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Houston and Cincinnati, who opened play Monday, were not scheduled.

In American League action, Minnesota edged Cleveland 7-6, Baltimore defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and Detroit belted Kansas City 7-3. The Boston at New York game was postponed due to rain. Los Angeles and Washington were not scheduled.

The Dodgers scored in the sixth against Ernie Broglio when Willie Davis singled, stole second and scored on Ron Fairly's single. That was enough for Koufax, but Jim Gilliam singled home another run in the seventh and then Howard wrapped it up in the eighth.

Mays hit a two-run homer in the third and finished off Warren Spahn with a solo shot in the eighth that chased the Braves' 42-year left-hander.

Jim Hart, Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller also homered for the Giants, who broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth on Cepeda's single, a wild pitch and a single by Haller. Juan Marichal, 25-8 last year, was the winner on a seven-hitter.

The Phillies pulled out front in the first as Roy Sievers hammered a homer off Al Jackson following a pair of walks. Bobby Wine's run-producing single in the second and a run-scoring double by rookie Richie Allen in the eighth closed out the scoring.

Seals Score Decision Over L.A. in Series

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— The Los Angeles Blades faced oblivion as they prepared for tonight's fifth Western Hockey League playoff encounter against San Francisco at the Sports Arena.

Len (The Comet) Haley broke up a thriller-diller at the Cow Palace Tuesday night when he fired in the winning goal after 15:34 of overtime to give the Seals a 5-4 decision over the Blades and a hard-to-beat 3-1 lead in their series.

Even if the Blades can win on their home ice, they would then face a sixth game Friday back in the Cow Palace where the Seals have proven tough to beat in recent weeks.

The Seals' win Tuesday night nullified a gallant Los Angeles comeback.

San Francisco led it 3-2 after one period and 4-2 after two. In that second period, Bobby Perreault was only called on to make two stops in the Seals goal.

But the Blades got their offense in gear in the third stanza as Norm Johnson hit one at 6:17 and Stan Maxwell knotted the count at 14:24 on a 15-foot rebound as the Seals were short one man because of penalties.

DENVER (UPI)—Dick Jaquez and Bob Hutchinson each knocked the ball out of the park twice Tuesday to lead Denver to a 12-8 baseball win over Colorado State University.

The Pioneers had six home runs in the game. It was the fourth straight win for Denver's John Streifel. Leroy Ujimori, now 1-4, was the losing pitcher.

Blue Norther Readies for Derby

By KELSO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — If trainer Wally Dunn can come up with a good excuse, his filly Blue Norther will become only the second of her sex in the past 19 years to run in the Kentucky Derby.

Folks around the race track just muffled their chuckles in the past when Dunn talked of sending the powerful filly in the rugged run for the roses. But it's Dunn who's doing all the laughing now.

Blue Norther has won all four starts this year. Her last victory was the $25,150 Ashland Stakes at Keeneland. She will most likely get her first chance at the same colts in the 1⅛ mile Blue Grass Stakes April 23.

Dunn has said the daughter of Windy City II-Perfect Gem, by Royal Gem II, will go in the Blue Grass, the last distance prep for the Derby, if the run for the roses co-favorite Hill Rise does not go.

It's not that Dunn is avoiding Hill Rise. It's just that he wants jockey Willie Shoemaker in the irons. If Hill Rise goes, the Shoe will ride him. Shoemaker says that Blue Norther is the best filly he has ever ridden.

The way things stack up presently, Hill Rise will go postward in the seven-furlong Forerunner at Keeneland Friday and will bypass the Blue Grass in favor of the Derby Trial.

But the Blue Grass would still give Dunn and owner Mrs. W.R. Hawn a chance to see how good Blue Norther is. Northern Dancer, co-favorite with Hill Rise for Derby honors, is considered a definite starter in the Blue Grass.

Twenty-nine fillies have started in the Derby but only one, Regret in 1915, crossed the finish line first.

Russian Gal Cagers Conclude U.S. Tour

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP)—The Russian women's basketball team wound up its American tour Tuesday night with a 50-49 victory over the Wayland College Flying Queens.

The Queens furnished much stronger opposition than they did when the teams met a week ago at Joplin, Mo., with the Soviet team crushing Wayland 78-36.

The Russians won all five games in the tour and depart today for Lima, Peru, where they are defending world champions.

Busy Weekend Faces AF In All Spring Sports

Another full slate of spring sports activity is in store for the Falcons at the Air Force Academy this week, featured by two appearances at home by the varsity baseball team this afternoon against Denver and on Saturday at 2 p.m. against visiting Colorado State University.

The schedule will also see the AFA track team make the long journey to Coral Gables, Fla., for a meet with the University of Miami in what could bring forth some of the season's top performances in the sea-level atmosphere.

Otherwise, here is a brief rundown on the rest of the action for the Cadets this week:

FROSH BASEBALL-The Falcon frosh split a two-game weekend appearance, losing Friday to Denver 10-3, and bouncing back with a win over the Wyoming Frosh, Sunday, 15-4. The Denver game was the Falcon's season debut after snowy weather cancelled an earlier game against the Pioneers.

Already stamped as a threat in the batter's box is freshman Gary May who rapped out four hits in nine times at bat during the two games, including a home run in the Denver clash.

Now 1-1 for the season, the team's next game comes Saturday when they meet the Colorado frosh in a game scheduled for 1:30 p.m. in Boulder.

GOLF-High winds and a couple of rugged opponents ended the Air Force Academy's win streak over the weekend as the Falcon golf team dropped matches to Colorado and Colorado College, while the Cadets were earning a win over Colorado State College.

The AFA record stands at 6-2 for the season with Saturday and Sunday matches in store for this week. Saturday the Cadets host Denver, Regis and Eastern New Mexico on the AFA links, and Sunday they square off against Eastern New Mexico in a dual match. Starting time for the Saturday match is 12:30 p.m., while Sunday's action gets underway at 10 a.m.

Junior Jim Wilson was the only Falcon to break 80 against CU on a wind swept Cherry Hills Country Club course in Denver, as the Buffs posted a 17½-9½ win. Against CC and CSC, the AFA's Gary Olin posted a 75 for medalist honors as the Cadets were nudged by Colorado College, 9½-8½. The Falcons averted a shutout by swamping Colorado State, 16-5.

TENNIS-Next stop for the Academy's high-flying tennis team is Denver and a Friday match with Regis College. After the Friday match, the busy Cadets will fly to Manhattan, Kans., in a Saturday match with Kansas State.

Now boasting a 5-1 win-loss record, the Falcon netters picked up three big victories over the weekend, defeating Ft. Hays (Kans.) State 7-0 on Friday, downing Colorado State College 8-1 Saturday, and turning the tables on Colorado State University Sunday by a 6-1 score.

FRESHMAN TRACK-With perfect weather setting the stage, the Academy's freshmen track team opened their season Saturday by trouncing New Mexico Military Institute, 106-33.

With both teams taking turns doing the honors, four track records fell during the meet with the most impressive being Cadet Royce Wooddell's clocking of :22.4 in the 220-dash around a curve. Oddly enough, Wooddell beat his own time—set on the same track last year while he was a member of the NMMI team, and competing here against the Academy.

Other highlights were a 13-foot pole vault by Cadet Dick Cathcart (which ties the old record, set by Cadet Jim Erickson in 1961); a 143-5 discus throw by NMMI's Mike Francis (a new record); and a :41.5 dash by NMMI's Bob Manning in the 330 Intermediate Hurdles, which lowered the old record.

Next meet for the Falcons will be Saturday when they host Mesa Junior College at the Academy track at 1 p.m. The meet will be open to the public free of charge.

Red Wings Even NHL Final Series

By GARFIELD SPETZ

TORONTO (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings are back on even terms with the Toronto Maple Leafs in their Stanley Cup final series today — and much of the credit belongs to Gordie Howe.

The indefatigable right wing set up a pair of goals, including a wrist shot by Larry Jeffrey at 7:52 of the first overtime period, to earn Detroit a 4-3 victory over the Leafs Tuesday night.

Howe, playing in his 126th playoff game, also drew an assist on a second period goal by Floyd Smith as the Red Wings knotted the best-of-seven series at one game apiece.

The Leafs came from behind with two goals in the third period to send the game into overtime, but "old man" Howe then teamed with Jeffrey for the Wings' "sudden death" goal.

Jeffrey was mobbed by happy teammates after he had fired Howe's passout from behind the net into the lower corner past Johnny Bower. The Toronto netminder had stopped 45 other shots during a hectic evening.

The Leafs were almost prohibitive favorites to win the first two games at home, but the series has suddenly taken an interesting turn after two close games. The Leafs won the opener, 3-2, when Bob Pulford scored with just two seconds left in regulation time.

Toronto, gunning for its third straight Stanley Cup, almost pulled this one out of the fire, too, as it scored twice in the third period. A goal by Gerry Ehman with just 43 seconds remaining in regulation time tied the score at 3-3.

Ehman's goal came just two seconds after the Wings had successfully killed a penalty to Al Langlois. The Leafs, trailing 3-2, buzzed the Detroit net and were finally rewarded when a shot by Andy Bathgate from the side of the net went off Ehman's skate and through Terry Sawchuk's pads.

Red Kelly had put the Leafs close at the 11:57 mark of the third period when he deflected Bobby Baun's shot from the blueline over Sawchuk.

Before Kelly's goal, the Red Wings had dominated play with persistent forechecking and dogged backchecking. They had scored twice in the second period for a seemingly comfortable 3-1 lead.

It was 1-1 after the first 20 minutes on goals by Toronto defenseman Allan Stanley and Detroit's Norm Ullman.

Eddie Joyal converted a pass from Doug Barkley early in the second to put the Wings in front, 2-1. Then late in the period, the Red Wings went ahead, 3-1, when Smith's attempted passout from behind the net caromed off Tim Horton's back and past a surprised Bower.

The teams return to Detroit's Olympia for the third game of the best-of-seven series Thursday night. The fourth game will be played in Detroit Saturday.

SHORT BREAK FROM GOLF — Mrs. Joan Crampton holds a rabbit as husband Bruce Crampton tries his hand at carrot holding. Joan, a pretty blonde who was born in Australia and grew up in New Zealand, married Australian golfer Bruce Crampton last December. Joan gave up being an airline hostess for the trails of the professional golfer and says that "right now it's all fun, even the motels." The Cramptons were relaxing at the home of friends in Houston awaiting the start of the Houston Classic Golf Tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

Joan Crampton Tells the Routine Of Being Married to Golf Pro

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—There was one thing about being an airline hostess, says Mrs. Joan Crampton. "You didn't have to travel so much."

That was before she married a golf pro.

"I used to get home every few days at least, to do up my laundry and things," she says, "but now it's just one motel after another."

Joan, a pretty blonde who was born in Australia and grew up in New Zealand, married handsome, wavy-haired Australian golfer Bruce Crampton last December, in Sydney.

"We met about five years ago," Joan says. "I was out on a date with a passenger, and he introduced me to Bruce."

In those days Joan played golf, too, but Bruce says she doesn't any more, at least not when he's around. "I've never seen her hit a golf shot," he says.

Joan has seen Bruce hit thousands. Crampton is one of the most persistent golfers on the American pro - circuit — he played in 38 consecutive weekly tournaments in 1962 and again in 1963—and Joan walks around the course and watches him on every round he plays in a tournament.

Crampton plans the same busy schedule this year that he followed in the past.

"Bruce says as long as he can win money consistently on the tour, we'll play it," Joan says.

That seems to settle the Cramptons plans for some time. Bruce won more than $30,000 in each of the last two years, plus exhibition fees and endorsements, and is off at about the same pace this year. He tied for 21st in the Masters, and won $1,100.

Last year he finished two strokes back in the U. S. Open and led the PGA through three rounds.

"We plan to play the tour up to October," Joan says, "and then go home to Australia for a couple of months, and then back to the tour. We'll start at Los Angeles."

"Right now it's all fun, even the motels. Usually we find a kitchen where I can cook. Bruce would live on steaks if he could, but I try to vary meals a little. And we go out at night, sometimes, either with some of the other golfers and their wives or with friends Bruce has made around the country."

Sunday is moving day for the Cramptons—every Sunday.

"We pack up the car Sunday morning, and check out," she says. "Then we drive to the course. After Bruce finishes, we start off for the next tournament. We share the driving. Sometimes it's a thousand miles or more.

"If we get there, say, on a Monday, Bruce will play a practice round if there's still time, and I get the laundry and shopping done. The same on Tuesday, and on Wednesday there's usually a pro-am and on Thursday the tournament."

CU's Jim Miller Strong Entry in Kansas Relays

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Five defending individual champions will go to the post in the 39th annual Kansas Relays Friday and Saturday and only one —Colorado's Jim Miller — is a strong favorite.

Miller won the 400 meter hurdles in 52.6 seconds here last year, en route to an award as the meet's most outstanding performer. He has run 51.9 already this season, one of the nation's best marks.

Among Miller's foes will be Cliff Cushman, former Kansas star who won the event in 1957, 1960 and 1961. The meet record, a sizzling 50.4 by New Mexico's Dick Howard in 1959, appears beyond reach.

Kent Floerke, a former Kansas standout who won the National AAU triple jump at 51-7¾ at St. Louis last year, and who was expected to defend his relays championship, left Tuesday for Africa with five other athletes. They are giving exhibitions and holding sports clinics under sponsorship of the State Department and Amateur Athletic Union, and will be gone until June.

Purdue's Nate Adams won the 100-yard dash in 9.6 and the 100 meters in 10.3 in a 90-minute span here last year. But he's a doubtful starter because of a pulled thigh muscle.

Even if Adams starts, the competition will be terrific in a field that includes Roger Sayers and Terry Williams of Omaha, Bob Hanson of Kansas and Charles Greene, Nebraska freshmen who chased Bob Hayes of Florida A&M to a world record of 5.9 in the 60-yard dash. Green was two feet back and tied the old world mark of 6.0.

Ed Red of Rice, the meet record holder in the javelin with 256-1½ last year, has been slowed by an injured side and hasn't come close to that mark this season. Kansas State's Bill Floerke, a brother of Kent, has thrown 25-7 but has had recent elbow troubles.

Missouri scratched from the sprint medley because of Rick Beldner's pulled muscle, but an outstanding field headed by Nebraska, with Gil Gebo, a 1:48.6 half-miler, will approach the meet record.

The Tigers likely will enter the four-mile relay, and the record there is certain to go. Kansas ran 16:57 at the Texas games, compared to the meet record here of 16:53.1. Lingle's presence makes Missouri the favorite.

Pacific Coast to Make First America's Cup Bid

NEW YORK (AP) — The Pacific Coast will make its first bid for a role in the America's Cup defense with the purchase of Columbia, winner of the 1958 Cup races against the British Sceptre.

Thomas P. Dougan, an industrialist from Newport Beach, Calif., who is an ardent small-boat sailor, bought the costly 12-meter yacht for "under $200,000" Tuesday from the estate of the late Paul Shields.

Cornelius Shields, a nephew of Paul Shields, said that under the provisions of the estate the yacht had to be sold.

The Columbia was built by a syndicate headed by Henry Sears and later was sold to Paul Shields. She beat the British Sceptre in four straight races six years ago.

In the trials last year, Columbia was beaten by Weatherly which later repelled the challenge of the Australian Gretel off Newport, R.I.

Dougan said the sloop will be skippered by Walter Podolak, an old friend and shipmate in many California races, and will have an all-California crew. Dougan and his 19-year-old son, Robby, will be members of the crew.

Columbia will be entered against three other yachts in the trials this June for the right to defend against the British challenge at Newport this September. The others are the Nefertiti, the new Constellation and another yacht being built by the Aurora syndicate headed by Pierre S. duPont of Wilmington, Del.

Old Dodger Fans Can't Believe Snider's a Giant

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's a good thing they went and tore down Ebbets Field or it'd collapse zingo on somebody's cranial today.

Okay, so yez reads it, but it's still hard to believe that "The Duke" is playin' for them there Jints.

Edwin Donald Snider, that's who. "The Jook," if yez wanna give it the old sym-phoney pernunciatin'.

The same as what used to give those Jints what for whenever they had to come across the bridge. Zowie, over that high screen in right field, and none of that Chinee stuff in their joint, either. Pow, up over the roof.

"It's a good thing they all moved outta town, 'at's what. Imagine, makin' a fuss over whether Kaycee goes to Atlanta, which is down in Jawja, or some place. Or whether some guys is throwin' spitters, as which of some don't.

But "The Jook" in a Jint uniform. It's absolutely unbelieving, and I'll give youse all a lot of two to one on that, buddy.

It's like Kroolchef singin' the Star-Spangled Banner. I'd sooner believe a rumor that Zsa Zsa was givin' away diamints. Or that "Hot Ice Harry" Hootchmeyer was canaryin' for the Salavation Armies. Somebody's perpatratin' on a hoaxful public. Like the income tax reduction rumors or that wrongo dope that the subway fare was comin' down.

Five times he's in the World Serious over at Ebbets. And while we don't win 'em all, we don't lose 'em all, either, with "The Jook" out there in center. He bags that apple with real class, this kid, and when they stick that slab of hickory in his mitts those other guys is spittin' cotton.

Course, there's a chanct somewhere that this info may be right from the stall at Aqueduct. Out of the horses' mouth, as yez might say. As "Harold the Hackie" allows, "The Jook" ain't quite a kid no more and when yez are sackin' those major league potaters every week it's a hard habit to kick.

Some of us guys have to hold, though, that it's like movin' to the Bronx after hittin' 'em in Coney Ireland. It's okay to dig a tunnel into Fort Knox if'n yez can get away with it, but don't try walkin' out the front door with a sackfull or somebuddy's gonna think yez are nuts.

This ain't to intimate that "The Jook" has flipped his lid. Yez has to play 'em as yez sees 'em if youse is runnin' up a dead end alley. Could be like it say in the poems and time marches on quicker than "The Jook" used to get down to first.

Somebody sez that "The Jook" sez that them Dodgers is gonna be tough to handle, and that shows he ain't blew his stack complete. Maybe they play elsewhere these days but them's still the Bums. All of youse can bet the rent money that they'll be right up there come October. But even us dee hards has gotta give them Jints a little more of an edge if it's on the square that "The Jook" is givin' 'em a hand.

We might even have to root for 'em if he gets 'em into the World Serious. And, brother, that'll really be the day.

Mets Trade Duke Snider To Giants

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The suffering never ends for Brooklyn's orphaned baseball fans.

Old wounds, six years in healing after Walter O'Malley separated the faithful from their Dodgers, have reopened. Duke Snider, the pride of Flatbush, has gone over to the still-hated Giants.

Snider, 37, was acquired by the Giants—San Francisco vintage—from the New York Mets in a straight cash deal Tuesday. The silver-haired slugger may start alongside Willie Mays, another New York folk hero who went West, in the San Francisco outfield tonight when the Giants meet the Milwaukee Braves on the West Coast.

Old-line Dodger fans and "New Breed" Met rooters were dismayed by the second passing of the Duke. But Snider welcomed the move and the Giants, who have been after the veteran for some time, were equally happy.

"You're just what we need to win the (National League) pennant," Horace Stoneham, Giants president, told Snider via telephone after the deal was announced.

"Just the opportunity to play with a contender again should add a couple of years to my career," Snider said before leaving for San Francisco. "I think I can help the Giants. I think I can play quite a few games for them.

"I never rooted for the Giants before—except in a World Series, but I'm sure rooting for them now."

Snider came to the Mets a year ago after 16 seasons with the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los Angeles. He appeared in 129 games in 1963, frequently as a pinch hitter, and batted .243 with 14 home runs and 45 runs batted in.

Snider has hit 403 career homers, 10th highest total in history, and takes a .298 lifetime batting average to San Francisco.

The Giants, loaded with right-handed power, plan to use the left-handed hitting Snider primarily in pinch hitting roles.

"With Snider available, opposing teams might not be so quick to switch to a right-handed pitcher," San Francisco Manager Al Dark said Tuesday.

CSC Captures Fifth Straight RMC Victory

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—Colorado State College won its fifth straight Rocky Mountain Conference baseball game 26-4 over Western State Tuesday.

The spree raised to 59 the CSC run total for its last three games. The Bears are bidding for their 22nd consecutive RMC baseball crown.

Joe Bonacquista hit six consecutive times, scored four and batted in four runs to lead the CSC attack. The Bears batted around in the second, third, seventh and eighth innings.

CSC senior outfielder Jeri McNeill of Aurora was lost for the season when he broke his ankle in the fifth inning. McNeill suffered the injury attempting to slide back into first base on a pickoff play. McNeill, who was batting .320 for the season, had walked to reach base.

Atlanta Starts New Stadium

ATLANTA (AP)—Ground will be broken today for an $18-million sports stadium with a capacity of 50,000 baseball fans or 57,000 football rooters.

The stadium is to be completed in 12 months—in time for the 1965 baseball season.

The Atlanta - Fulton County Recreation Authority awarded a contract Monday to Thompson and Street Co., Charlotte, N.C., and Atlanta.

The authority announced earlier that a professional baseball team has agreed to a long-term lease of the stadium starting next season. The team has not been identified.

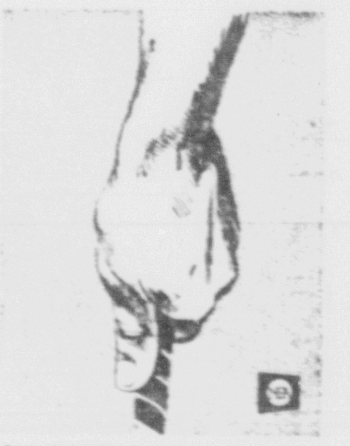
PAR OR BETTER

By JULIUS BOROS
U.S. OPEN CHAMPION

15-Clubhead Drag

The ultimate result of any shot in golf is determined when the club-head is in an area extending from about two feet behind the ball on the downswing until the point at which the ball rebounds off the club-face.

On all normal shots the hands should be positioned so that they form a seemingly continous line with the left arm and clubshaft. The back of the left hand should form this line. There should be no bend in your left wrist.



NO BEND in the left wrist.

When the left arm, hands and clubshaft form a straight line, your hands will be positioned slightly ahead of the clubface. If the clubface is square to target at address, you will be in approximately the same hand position at address that you wish to duplicate at impact.

I developed the bad habit of dragging the club back with my hands leading the clubhead. Leading the takeaway with the hands put my clubface in a closed position at the top of my swing. I was forced to compensate on the downswing to avoid striking the ball with a closed face.

To eliminate this I developed the habit of keeping my wrists straight and firm during the first few feet the clubhead moved away from the ball. This maintains the same straight alignment of the left arm and clubshaft that I employ at address.

Loveland Wins Triangular Meet

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI)—Loveland, Colo., defeated Laramie and Fort Morgan, Colo., in a high school triangular track meet here Tuesday.

Loveland was first with 73½ points, Laramie second with 50 and Fort Morgan a distant third with 18½ points.

Laramie's speedy John Williams bettered his mile run of a week ago by more than five seconds for a time of 4.45.7.

Interceptors To Return to United States

Forty-two Convair F-102 Delta Dagger interceptor aircraft assigned to Air Force units in Europe will return to the United States in April and June to join Air Force and Air National Guard air defense units of the Air Defense Commmand, Air Force component of the U.S.-Canadian North American Air Defense Command (NORAD).

The trans-Atlantic movement of the supersonic F-102 jets is part of the Air Force's Project "Clearwater" — a modernization and realignment program in which F-102s at several overseas locations are being replaced by the newer twin-jet McDonnell F-4C.

The returning F-102s will go to ADC operational units in Texas and Labrador, and to an Idaho ANG fighter interceptor squadron.

The Tactical Air Command, long experienced in the global development of fighter aircraft, will control the trans-Atlantic F-102 movements through its 4440th Aircraft Delivery Group, Langley AFB, VA. TAC movement control teams will be positioned at scheduled stops along the flight route: Prestwick AB, Scotland; Keflavik AB, Iceland; Sondrestrom AB, Greenland; Goose AB, Labrador; and Loring AFB, Me.

The first increment of 23 F-102s will leave Europe this month (April). Fourteen will go to ADC's 4780th Air Defense Wing, Perrin AFB, Tex.; two to the 59th Fighter Interceptor Sq (ADC), Goose AB, Labrador; and seven to the 190th Fighter Interceptor Sq (ANG), Boise ANG Base, Idaho. The Delta Daggers will replace F-861 Sabre jets at the Idaho ANG Base.

A second increment of nineteen F-102s will move early in June, with seven going to the Perrin AFB air defense wing and twelve to the oBise, Idaho ANG squadron.

PORTABLE 'SUN GUN'

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) —A unit which resembles a flashlight on a stand with a small sun lamp attachment and produces instant direct-ray heat at the touch of a match without electricity now is on the market. It utilizes a small core which glows instantly with its heat projected by the reflector as a flashlight throws a beam of light. Claimed to be windproof, the unit can be used to heat, cook, defrost, and dry hair, clothes or paint. It also can be used to kill worms and larvae.

Convicted Drunken Drivers Get Work

FULTON, Mo. (AP)—If you're a drinking driver, and convicted in Callaway County, Missouri, you can go to jail or clean up the litter on the highways — concentrating on beer cans and liquor bottles.

Judge Hugh P. Williamson offered Malcolm Dalrymple, 21, a student at Westminster College from Brentwood, Mo., his choice Monday when he pleaded guilty to careless and reckless driving while drinking.

Dalrymple chose to become the first of a 5-mile road cleanup gang and was ordered to return to court Monday with his litter collection. He also was fined $50 and costs.

PROOF OF COMPLAINT

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — A group of Redwood City residents backed their complaint with evidence in an appearance before the San Mateo County board of supervisors Tuesday to protest the operation of a golf driving range in neighboring San Carlos.

The harried householders lugged in a 20-gallon garbage can full of golf balls (about 3,000) which they said had pelted the neighborhood in the past year.
